Reviving the Art of the Pioneers

A picturesque character who preserves two of the old arts which are in danger of extinction is "Mellie" Durham, Maine's champion fiddler and snowshoe maker. With factories turning out imitations of the sturdy old-fashioned snowshoes, and radios penetrating every corner of the continent, his two arts are quaint survivals of domestic and social life which is passing, when folks had more leisure to live well and enjoyed simpler pleasures. The picture shows "Mellie" Durham and his wife, "Ma" Durham, as they stepped off the train at Windsor, on their way to Detroit, for their visit to Henry Ford, the motor magnate, who is interesting himself in the revival of old music and dancing. The aged fiddler has contracted to appear in vaudeville, an episode in his peaceful life which could never have been foreshadowed even in his wildest dreams of adventure.

LIVELY SCENE IN PARLIAMENT WHEN VOTE WAS TAKEN ON THE MEIGHEN AMENDMENT

(Toronto, Globe Dispatch.)
Ottawa, Jan. 15.—By a vote of 123 to 120 the King Government was sustained on the first vote in the Fifteenth Canadian Parliament.

The division came at 12.30 this morning, after one of the most thrilling debates in Canadian history, and was followed by a tumultuous and gleeful demonstration on the part of the Liberals.

Progressives Aid Meighen.
Whereas eight Progressive votes were required to overthrow the Administration, only five were cast in support of the want-of-confidence amendment of the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Leader of the Conservative party. Mr. Meighen's Progressive supporters were M. N. Campbell, W. T. Lucas, A. M. Carmichael, A. M. Boutilier, and R. Fansher.

All the rest of them, including the Independents and Laborites, voted against the amendment. Lucas and Boutilier are from Alberta, and the others from Saskatchewan.

Premier to Secure Seat.
An immediate consequence of this morning's vote in the House will be that the Prime Minister will seek a seat in the House. Machinery will be set in motion today to get him a constituency, the name of which will be announced almost immediately.

May Run in Arthabaska.
No official statement as to the constituency in which the Prime Minister will seek election is available, but it is rumored that he may contest Arthabaska, the seat made historic in that it was Sir Wilfrid Laurier's riding during crucial times. Another story says it is a Saskatchewan seat but there is a general disposition to give credence to the first story about Arthabaska.

Another Minister to Run.
A short time later it is probable that announcement will be made that another Minister will seek a seat in the House. As to the question of appointments, it is learned on good authority that no political appointments will be made until the Throne Speech debate has been disposed of. Two or three minor departmental positions will be filled in the meantime, but they are regarded as non-political and essential to do Governmental business.

Progressives Applauded.
Conservative members applauded loudly as each of the 5 Progressive members supporting the Meighen amendment registered his vote. Liberals, on the other hand, applauded even more loudly the 19 Progressives who voted with the Government. The Government supporters also accorded special demonstrations to Henri Bourassa, Independent; J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, Winnipeg Centre; Miss Agnes Macphail, and Robert Forke, Progressive Leader, as they cast votes against the amendment.

Liberals Are Jubilant.
Announcement of the result of the vote was followed by a jubilant demonstration by the Liberals, who banged and thumped their desks, hurled books and paper into the air, sang and cheered. The face of every member in the Chamber registered extreme relief that the tension and strain of the last ten days were at last over.

While the members were being called in the French-Canadians in Liberal benches struck up old familiar Quebec songs, "Allouette," as usual, being the favorite. They sang with vigor, and finally the English members caught up the strain and joined in with as much of the French as they knew.

Galleries remained crowded right up to the finish, the evening wraps and dress suits of scores of women and men returning from the Capital's social functions lending a distinctly colorful air to the whole eventful proceedings.

To Votes Not Cast.
In the whole House of 245 members there were only two votes not cast. These were the votes of Speaker Lemieux and A. D. Chaplin (Conservative, Kent, Ontario), who is sick in hospital.

The House adjourned until Monday, when the Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne will be moved.

The following Progressives, Laborites and Independents cast their votes against the Meighen want-of-confidence amendment: Progressives—Forke, Macphail, Coote, Brown, Garland, (Bow River), Kennedy (Peace River), Millar, King, Jelliff, Evans, Bird, Spencer, Gardiner, Ward, Lovie and Johnston (Long Lake). Labor—Woodsworth and Heaps. Independents—Neill and Bourassa.

The vote marked the first division on a direct want-of-confidence motion since Confederation. While a narrow majority for the King Government was anticipated, it was not the narrowest on record, for once during the last session of the previous Parliament Mr. Speaker's vote had to be recorded to break a tie. But it will likely be the narrowest majority in years by which a Government has been temporarily saved on so important an issue.

Great Crowds Present.
The corridor and Chamber scenes throughout yesterday's proceedings were at all times indicative of suppressed excitement which the political crisis occasioned in Ottawa, and correspondingly, throughout the whole of Canada. Afternoon and evening, every available seat in the galleries was occupied, and at night, when it was generally known that a division was certain before adjournment, throngs pressed the gallery entrances, lining up an hour beforehand to make sure of entry.

So great was the crush that, despite the efforts of police officers to stem the pressure, the leaded glass on the door to the ladies' gallery was

FRANK SOPER'S REVUE TOOK WELL AT THE CAPITOL

Frank Soper's Pretty Nifty Revue opened Monday at the Capitol Theatre and proved just about the brightest show of its kind that has been seen here in a long time. The troupe will settle down as the week's engagement progresses and the bills will be put on even more smoothly. A change of bill is to take place Wednesday and also later in the week. In spite of unfavorable weather the Revue played to good houses.

The troupe has pretty chorus girls well trained, with soloists, much above the average. Happy McNally in blackface made a big hit alone and in sketches. Bob McCharles in Hawaiian guitar selections also was given a great hand. Peicott and Demuth in a Spanish put on a very pleasing turn.

Fredericton audiences always have a strong liking for vocalists and Lillian Leslie the prima donna of the company was particularly well received. In her duets from Rosemary with Tom Delay she also made a hit and Mr. Daley in that and as a soloist earned deserved applause.

The comedy was well taken care of right through and the funniest bit was that next to the finale when acrobatic comedy piano playing was done.

"But dear, $80 isn't so bad. We get the trimming with it."
"I'll say we get the trimming!"

smashed, as was the glass in the door leading to the general gallery on Wednesday evening. An hour throughout the night, right up until the time of voting, there remained queues pressing at each of the doors, waiting hopefully in the expectation that some one inside would vacate a seat and thus permit a few of the unfortunate outsiders to enter.

A Pimply Face Is Unsightly

Miss C. C. M. Smart, South Battleford, Sask., writes:—"A while ago I was troubled with facial blemishes, especially pimples, and was really ashamed to go out with such a bad looking face.

I tried 2 or 3 different remedies, but they didn't help me any, so one day a friend, who had been troubled the same as I was, advised me to use

After I had taken two bottles there wasn't a pimple of any kind left on my face, and I now have a clear, smooth, and velvety complexion."
