EXPOSING HYPOCRISY.

Mr. Henri Bourassa, Independent member for Label, in the course of his speech in the want-of-confidence motion in the Federal Parliament, took a slam at Lord Atholstan and his newspaper, the Montreal Star. Hansard reports him as follows:

"I am not in the secrets of either party, but I know that long before the Patenaude movement was organized a close friend of mine connected with a paper of which I am the humble founder and director turned around—what is it?—as the roaring lion of insinuating serpent, to get the influence of our paper in favor of a certain railway policy.

"There was a big national program to be pursued on that policy. I do not know how many sheets of paper were covered with declarations of principles as to the salvation of Canada, adoption of a national policy down with Imperialism, down with Mr. Meighen's policy, but there was a little black spot, and it was that the gentleman who would accept the candidature under that national programme of salvation—and he had plenty of money to support it—there was an agreement with regard to certain railway matters.

"That is the main reason why I came out from my long retreat to help the Canadian people get rid of that class and their attempts to blackmail public men, Governments and Parliaments in order to secure certain sordid ends."

This is certainly rather rough on His Lordship and his great newspaper, but the language used appears to have justified, and must have been enjoyed by Conservatives as well as Liberals.

DISAGREES WITH FORD.

Dr. C. H. Eckles, of "Farm and Fireside," disagrees with Henry Ford. Ford says the cow is inefficient. Eckles says the cow is more efficient than a Ford car. He says the cow is four times as efficient as any motor car. Engineers say a steam engine delivers for use only 10 per cent of the energy of coal. Under the most favorable conditions the gasoline engine in a motor car delivers 20 or 25 per cent of the power in gasoline.

But what about the cow? She uses storage and grain instead of food. Of the total energy in her food she uses from 55 to 60 per cent. Part of it goes to keep up her body. The rest goes into milk.

Mr. Ford better look to his own engines before he accuses the cow of being inefficient.

Col. L. A. Morrow, late Boston millionaire, left a thousand dollars to the girl his son is going to marry. She is directed to use it in educating herself to become a good housewife. There lies one of the world's most practical men.

The mind often is governed by that which is stored away in its cells, according to a college professor. It is a little late for a fellow to find that out after he is in one.

Some day somebody may discover a use for the last year's auto license plates, which will be all right if it doesn't happen to be an immediate use.

The head of a cash register company says its success has been due to advertising. It has a "No Sale" key for institutions that do not advertise.

Mary Garden says that to keep young, one should eat spinach. That probably accounts for so many old people.

Besides being an optimist, the fellow who worked out a cross-word with a fountain pen was a rubber conservationist.

It seems the most distressing feature of being a woman Governor is keeping the old man's feet off the executive desk.

A woman dancing the Charleston broke her leg, but it is probable that nobody looking on noticed any difference in her dancing.

A European heavyweight fighter who sings grand opera in the ring has disposed of his last four opponents inside of two rounds.

The prisoner in California sentenced to serve 314 years in a penitentiary should come out a better man.

The height of irony: Trying to end a lurid career with a bottle of disinfectant.

Propaganda: What the opposition has to say in reply to your side's publicity.

Whatever became of the old-fashioned derby hat with a couple of eyelets in the sides for ventilation?

Among those enterprises which depend for success on implicit faith are love, democracy and hash.

Persia's new Shah formerly was a stable boy. Pretty well equipped for taking up the reins.

"The speeder must go," says a police order. That seems to be what the speeder thinks about it, too.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

Anyway, an inferiority complex never kids itself.

Florida hasn't any beautiful white real estate like Fredericton has.

Late war prices spoiled half the people and broke the other half.

Mama Beane says the happiness of the world rests entirely with the proposing and the opposing sexes.

Alas, so many people are like static—always preventing us from hearing life's sweetest notes.

Lightening rods have been vindicated, but the old-fashioned lightning rod salesman hasn't. He was the original go-getter.

"Some of us wouldn't mind reforming," remarked the Man on the Car, "but we wouldn't like to have a reformer reform us."

There is no apparent demand for the return of the old bar of prohibition days. Everybody has found something else to lean against.

MR. JUSTICE BYRNE IS HONORED

Honor has presided at nearly every circuit Court in the Province and from our knowledge of your Honor in your practice at the Bar, in private practice and as Attorney-General of the Province, and from the able and dignified manner in which you have presided over the various Circuit Courts since your elevation to the Bench, we believe that the maintenance of the traditions of the Court is safely confided in your Honor's hands and that it will be your endeavour not only to preserve these traditions but to add greater lustre to the high reputation of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick.

We ask for ourselves your Honor's tolerant consideration for the faults of the Bar—in our weakness or over zeal in the advocacy of our client's interests before the Court and in return we pledge to your Honor our loyalty, respect and support.

We, as members of the Bar, greatly prize the cordial relations that we believe exist between the Bench and Bar of this Province, and we feel assured of the continuity of the cordiality of these relations.

We hope, Sir, that your life may be long spared for the discharge of the onerous duties of the high position you occupy and for the enjoyment by you of the honors that are incident to that position.

PREMIER KING LIKELY TO BE OPPOSED

Prince Albert, Sask., Jan. 18—

With the intentions of the Conservatives and Progressives yet undecided as to whether to oppose Premier King at the coming by-election in Prince Albert constituency the political situation today remains problematical.

It is understood that the Conservative party is awaiting the decision of the leaders at Ottawa before making any definite pronouncement, but the belief is gaining ground that the Premier will have to fight for the seat either against an imported candidate or against John G. Dieffenbaker, defeated Conservative candidate in the general election.

Although Progressive leaders have made no announcement, some members of the party here have expressed the view that the group will remain out of the contest.

OUR HIRED MAN.

When I told the boss that I smashed his truck in town the other day, and that it would cost $65.00 to fix it up, he said, "That auto giveth and the auto taketh away."

I hadn't milked many cows before I learned it didn't pay to weight a switching tail with a brick.

The other night, the boss and the missus had a spat over which was kept the cleanest, the kitchen or the milk house.

"I scrub the kitchen three times a week," says the missus. "And I white-wash the milk house three times a year," says the boss walkin' out of the room.

Now's the time you can tell where the drafts in the barn come from.

Discussing small top milk pails, the boss says, "The milk goes in just as easy—and it's sure harder for the dirt to get in."

Last week we heard a talk by the County Agent on Bacteria in Milk—"It's the little things that count," he said.

Paul Currie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Currie and a pupil of the Fredericton High School, left this morning for Halifax, where he will join a steamer of which his uncle, Capt. Edgar Skinner, is commander and proceed on a voyage to Germany. He expects to be absent about a year at the end of which time he will decide whether or not he will follow the sea as a vocation.

Chatham Team Arrives.

The Chatham hockey team arrived here by the Newcastle express this afternoon and registered at the Barker House.

Sour Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"

Better than Soda

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips."
