Queen Marie Made History At Railway Birthday Party

Canadian National Railways and Press Associations Presented Roumania's Queen with Gifts on Fifty-first Anniversary of Birth—Smoking Accessories From Prince and Princess—Democratic Luncheon in Diner.

(Special to the Daily Mail by the British United Press)

GOGAMA, Ont., Oct. 29—This is the Queen of Roumania's birthday and it was observed in true festival fashion, yet with a democratic touch to prove that there is an approach beyond the formality which hedges royalty. Her Majesty today reached her fifty-first birthday and it was while travelling through this western section of Ontario over the lines of the Canadian National Railways that the festive recognition of the event took place.

Gifts From C. N. R.

First there were gifts for Her Majesty. C. K. Howard, General Tourist Agent, representing Sir Henry Thornton, chairman and president, presented to Her Majesty a handsome buffalo robe from the herd at Wainwright National Park, Alberta. Queen Marie received the gift with expressions of delight, examined the smooth fur and immediately threw it over a chesterfield then sat upon it exclaiming "perfectly delightful", and to Mr. Howard and W. R. Devenish who accompanied him, Her Majesty was most profuse in thanks adding that she would send her personal appreciation to Sir Henry Thornton.

From Press Association

Previously Her Majesty received the gift of a writing set from the correspondents of the press associations presented on the special train and sent for the donors, saying to them, "It is really delightful of you to send me something useful in my own profession because you know I too am a writer."

Birthday Luncheon

Her Majesty related many instances of birthdays in the royal palace and said that on this birthday in Canada she must have a party. Accordingly instructions were issued to prepare for a birthday luncheon in the dining car, a standard unit used in regular service. Queen Marie said that at Bucharest the birthday party was as big as possible and that this unusual one must be so too and promptly issued invitations to as many as could be seated in the diner, thirty in all. She requested that no special preparations be made and accordingly Her Majesty, The Princess Ileana and Prince Nicholas and their guests were served from a menu such as ordinary travellers are offered. It is the first occasion on which such an event has taken place on this side of the Atlantic and the crew of the diner, because of this distinction are the proudest chaps in Canada.

Members of her immediate party, railroad officials who are her hosts on the continental tour and the five newspaper correspondents aboard the train were Her Majesty's guests.

Smoking Accessories as Gifts

Queen Marie's Special Train en route to Winnipeg, Oct. 29—The birth day gifts of Prince Nicholas and Princess Ileana to their mother today gave no indication that Queen Marie is going to give up smoking an occasional cigarette.

The Prince gave his mother an enamelled cigarette lighter while the Princess gave a silver lighter. How the royal children happened to select almost identical presents has not been divulged. Many other gifts came from members of the entourage, along with cablegram congratulations from government officials in Bucharest.

Prince Carroll, former heir to the throne, and now in Paris also remembered the day with a message.

Historical precedent was sent by Queen Marie today when she celebrated her 51st birthday anniversary with a state luncheon in the dining car of her private train as it sped toward Winnipeg through the north woods country of Canada.

PREMIER ACTS OFFERS REWARD

Saint John, Oct. 30—Premier Baxter stated last night that the Provincial government is to offer a reward of $500 for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible in the death of "Gippy" LeBlanc, of Buctouche, assistant inspector of fisheries, whose body was found in Buctouche Bay on Sunday, Oct. 24. A coroner's jury on Wednesday found that LeBlanc came to his death, not by accident or drowning, but as the result of injuries received at the hand of a person or persons unknown.

Evidence was given at the inquest to the effect that unsigned letters threatening death if he did not stay away from the shores of Buctouche Bay had been received by LeBlanc. These statements were made on the stand by a brother of the deceased who believed the fishery officer had a fairly definite idea who the writer of the letters was.

It was also said that the victim of the killing had been warned by word of mouth. Threats had been passed along to him that certain persons would kill him if he pursued his duty as he had sworn to do. These threats failed to frighten him and he went out in his motor boat last Wednesday night determined to catch those who had set illegal trap nets for the catching of smelt in the bay.

SAYS WOMEN GOT HIM DRUNK AND MARRIED HIM

Charles Klimas, Lithuanian, Faces Charges of Fraud in Brooklyn—Six Wives are Discovered.

New York, Oct. 30—The alleged sheik-like activities of Charles Klimas, claimed to have married five wives since he came to this country from his native Lithuania and to have mulcted them out of sums aggregating $11,600 landed him in Raymond-st Jail in Brooklyn. He was held without bail by United States Commissioner Wilson pending pleading to an indictment charging him with using the mails to defraud.

Charge of Bigamy.

When the Federal authorities are through with him he will be turned over to the State authorities for prosecution on the charge of bigamy. He is said to have left one wife in Lithuania and to have captured five here by using as a lure the following periodically in Lithuanian newspapers:

"I am looking for a friend for life either a girl or a widow who would like to reside in Florida where the roses bloom the year around. I am an educated 32 year old fellow connected with a wealthy company. I have a beautiful home. My parents have died I am alone and there is no one to look after the home. I am resorting to the newspapers because there are no Lithuanian girls here. I desire answers from unburdened girls and daughters of good families."

Before the commissioner, Klimas adopted a blase manner and explained his multiple marriages in this way:

"I would blow into a town and right away the women would give me drinks and get me drunk and when I got sober I'd be married. I wouldn't know anything about marrying 'em. I was drunk when that happened."

Flaming Arrows Drove Murderous Negro to His Death in the Open

Wildest Days of the West Brought Back in Montana—Sheriff and Special Officer Killed by Negro Wanted for Robbery—Three Hundred Indians Aided in Killing the Desperado.

(Special to the Daily Mail by the British United Press)

CROW AGENCY, Montana, Oct. 30—Three hundred Indians on the war path against a murderous negro, flaming arrows shot to force their quarry from a ramshackle hut, the whine of bullets bringing death. It all happened here and it wasn't a movie. Three dead bodies offer mute proof of the wild west realism.

The negro Jim Belden was suspected of having robbed several Indians, living on the government reservation. Robert Gilmore, sheriff, and John McLeod, special officer, tracked Belden to a small shack. The cornered negro opened fire and killed the white officers. The 300 Indians joined in the attack. They shot flaming arrows at the shack and soon ignited it. Belden rushing from the burning hut was riddled with bullets.

NEW HAMPSHIRE GUARDS AGAINST BANK ROBBERS

Manchester, N. H., Oct. 30—Manchester banks and large industrial concerns which handle big payrolls took steps to protect themselves from attack of gunmen. If such a thing were possible, upon warning hastily dispatched by State Bank Commissioner Arthur E. Dole.

Extra guards for payrolls and bank messengers were ordered because of the report of the presence of a gang of Metropolitan bandits in New Hampshire. A thorough checking up in the banks of their system in the event of holdups as well as a checkup on insurance for bank messengers was made.

Police, postoffice and railway express officials together with the concerns carrying payrolls running up into the thousands of dollars were notified. In Manchester today banking officials looked about for a possible chance to add to their precautions but the system in effect here is lauded by the police of the entire country. The system of spreading alarms and intercepting getaways of holdup men is said to be perfected to a point that would be hard to improve upon. Bank officials also point out the fact that the Federal Reserve banking system permits the banks to do business with a smaller amount of currency on hand.

CANNOT BROADCAST COURTROOM

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 29—Recovery of a razor believed to have been used to slash the throat of Mrs. Eleanor Mills when she was murdered four years ago with the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and the issuance of a permit to exhume the body of Hall, were the features of the Somerville mystery today.

Investigators were thrown into a fit of activity in their effort to gather up the loose ends before the opening of the trial of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her brothers and cousin next Wednesday.

The razor was brought to the office of the Special Investigator Simpson by Frank Caprio, a detective who worked on the original investigation. It bore dark stains. Dr. Shultz, who performed the autopsy on the body of Mrs. Mills recently exhumed, declared that the choir singer's throat had been slashed with a razor.

The Hall-Mills trial will take place at Somerville, N. J., with Justice Charles W. Parker presiding. Judge Parker today indicated that he could not stop broadcasting of the trial which was mooted by Charles D. Isaacson, director of WRNY, provided such broadcasting was not done from the court room. He said that he would not permit the court room to be disturbed for "running in and out causes disturbance."

The watchman's vigilance barely found the attempt and the intruder who apparently was about to light the fuse escaped in the darkness.
