LORD OXFORD GIVES UP THE LIBERAL LEADERSHIP; LLOYD GEORGE MAY BE CHOSEN

London, Oct. 14.—Lord Oxford and Asquith whose criticisms of the policy adopted by former Premier David Lloyd George during the general strike last May revealed serious discord within the Liberal party, today resigned his leadership of the Liberals.

His resignation probably will be followed by the election of Mr. Lloyd George, now Liberal parliamentary leader, to the leadership of the party, although there are other aspirants, notably Sir John Simon, one of the critics of the former premier in recent months.

In his letter to the Liberal party announcing his resignation as leader, Lord Oxford indirectly attributed his action, which he described as irrevocable, to the dissension which had arisen between himself and Lord George. He declared that he was firmly convinced of the correctness of his own attitude toward the general strike, but that he could not and would not take part in internal political controversy.

Refers to Refusal.

He referred to Lloyd George's refusal to meet in council with the Liberal leaders in order to formulate a policy during the general strike, and declared that party unity could not be effectively maintained under a system of rival authorities with separate organizations and separate funds. His reference was to Lloyd George's leadership of the parliamentary Liberal party which has stood by the war premier in his controversy with other leaders of the party.

Lord Oxford referred to the fact that he had been in ill health for some time past. "Though my health is now restored," he wrote, "I feel the anxieties and responsibilities of leadership ought not to be undertaken or continued by anyone who cannot be reasonably certain that he can stand the strain."

Won't Quit Public Life.

Lord Oxford, who was raised to the peerage only last year for his distinguished services to Great Britain, does not contemplate retirement from public life, and said that he hoped he might still be of service to the state and to Liberalism.

He will deliver an address at Greenock tomorrow, while Lloyd George will speak at Barnstaple on Saturday when both are expected to deal with the crisis within their party.

The withdrawal of Lord Oxford as leader of the Liberal party constitutes the latest chapter in the dramatic political controversy which has been going on between him and Lloyd George for fully ten years, dating from December, 1916, when Lord Oxford, then plain Mr. Asquith, was forced out of the premiership to be succeeded by Lloyd George.

After the war the two patched up their difficulties, more or less, and worked together within the Liberal party. They differed on many questions of policy, but a definite break did not come until last June when Lord Oxford wrote a letter in which he virtually read Lloyd George out of the Liberal party. In this letter the Liberal leader charged Lloyd George with following policies during the general strike which were contrary to those of the party. A heated controversy immediately broke out between wings of the Liberals.

Stands By His Guns.

Lloyd George, however, stood by his guns and declined to be read out of the Liberal party. He defended his attitude in seeking a peaceful solution of the general strike. The controversy waxed warm for several weeks, while the rank and file of the party sought desperately to patch up the difficulties between the leaders. The Parliamentary Liberal party supported the leadership of Lloyd George by a vote of 20 to 12 and the party itself took measures to placate both leaders without offending either.

Although the dissension had made little public appearance of late weeks, there have been sufficient rumblings to indicate that all was not completely peaceful within the party.

STATEMENT RE PURCHASE OF ST. JOHN GLOBE

In a statement issued yesterday regarding the recent sale of the Saint John Globe, Hon. W. E. Foster stated that the paper had been purchased from Frank B. Ellis by a group of Liberals in Saint John and the province.

The negotiations, says the statement, were completed in September and the Globe will be continued as an independent Liberal newspaper. Mr. Ellis, who is now retiring from active work on account of unsatisfactory health, proposes to spend a long period in rest and travel.

After referring to proposed changes in equipment and services the statement says: "The Saint John Globe has been in existence for 65 years. The late Hon. John V. Ellis was its editor for 52 years. Since his death in 1913 his son, F. B. Ellis, has successfully continued its publication and has enjoyed the confidence and esteem of the public because of his sincere devotion to the public welfare, his fairness, his courage and his good citizenship."

"E. W. McCready, formerly general manager of the Telegraph and Times and who from 1902 until 1923 was editor-in-chief of the Telegraph is now the vice-president and managing-director of the Globe Company, having taken up the duties of his position on Oct. 1. Mr. McCready upon leaving the employ of the Telegraph-Journal and Times-Star, where he had been in charge of the editorial department, was presented with a very handsome cigarette case by his old associates on the writing staffs of these newspapers, the presentation being made felicitously by A. M. Belding."

Great Auroral Display.

There was a very noticeable display of the aurora borealis Thursday night. The aurora started early and warnings went out over the telegraph systems that trouble was being caused on the lines by the electrical phenomenon. The radio also was put out of business by it and local radio fans put in a poor night. The streamers of light at times covered the entire sky.

J. S. LORD, M.L.A. SPOKE AT A KLAN MEETING

(St. Marys, Ont., Journal.)

The Ku Klux Klan were in St. Marys in force on Sunday and held two meetings in fair grounds which attracted a very large crowd. Starting at two o'clock in the afternoon the Klansmen in their white robes were busy admitting people to the grandstand where during the subsequent hours they were addressed by Rev. B. Eckert of London. At night the initiation ceremony punctuated by the burning of four fiery crosses was held when some ten new members were taken into the hooded order. Preceding the initiation ceremony the large audience was addressed by J. S. Lord, a member of the New Brunswick Legislature who hails from the town of Harrington in that province.

GOOD ADVICE BY SUPERVISOR OF DIETICS

Atlantic City, Oct. 15.—American girls and women in the United States are causing physical injury to themselves in their desire to reduce weight by abstaining from proper foods, according to a statement made before the ninth annual convention of the American Dietetics Association in the Hotel Ambassador here by Miss Emma S. Holloway supervisor of dietetics at the Pratt Institute in Brooklyn, N. Y.

"The modern girl is not willing to be of even normal weight," said Miss Holloway. "She uses drastic methods, harmful drugs and alleged diets, cutting down on all foods indiscriminately without regard for sustenance for the body. She does not diet. She starves herself."

"The coffee and pie" luncheons of the modern man and woman in business is also contributing to the physical degeneration of the nation, according to Miss Holloway.

"These luncheons," said the speaker "rob the body of energy and resistance to disease. They bring about lack of pep."

BOOZE WENT DOWN SEWERS

Parrsboro, N. S., Oct. 14.—While the thirsty stood by with watery eyes local customs officers yesterday poured 1,190 gallons of smuggled rum, valued at 12,000 down a sewer. Others more thirsty and enthused, ran to where the sewer opens into the harbor, and during low tide, worked madly with all sorts of utensils scooping up the departing spirits until the police interfered.

Criticized the Referee.

Saint John Globe—The Bermuda football team left this afternoon for Halifax, where they will play the Wanderers on Saturday, Dalhousie, on the next Wednesday and Acadia University on the Saturday following. They will pass through Saint John on the 25th, on their way to New York whence they sail on the 27th. The visiting players were well satisfied with their trip here but protested against the brand of refereeing displayed during their game with U. N. B. The ball was not put in properly in the scrim, a member contended, and while his team waited for the referee's whistle, the ball, which had been rolled out through the Fredericton forwards, was going to the half backs.

modern hostelry for the sole use of Canadian students attending the "Cite Universitaire". When completed, this institution of learning will follow closely the lines of Oxford and Cambridge Universities. Aside from the central buildings wherein instruction will be given, there are to be various student residential halls or hotels. Each will be erected by various nations to house those of her students who are studying at the university. The "Maison Canadienne" is most modern and up to date, and has been built by public subscription, of which the sum of $250,000 was contributed by E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The Prince of Wales formally opened the "Maison Canadienne" on October 1st, a part of the well known "Cite Universitaire" located on the outskirts of Paris. Canada is the first country, outside of the European continent, to erect a

The "Maison Canadienne" of which the facade is photographed above, is a stucco-finished building of pleasing exterior appearance and of very commodious interior. In addition to 45 well-furnished residential rooms, each with bathroom attached, there is a large public room or "Salle de Reunion", tastefully furnished after the latest accepted French design. The main corridor, which is done in similar design, at once impresses the visitor with the general spaciousness and solid comfort which is to be found throughout.
