CO-WORKERS FOR SCIENCE.

Behind nearly every great achievement in science lies a romance of devoted toil against heavy odds. This was especially true of the discovery of scarlet fever antitoxin by Dr. George Dick of Chicago, assisted by his wife.

Dr. Dick was connected with the staff of the McCormick Institute founded in Chicago by John D. Rockefeller for the study of scarlet fever. Seven years ago, Dr. Dick hit upon what he believed to be a promising clue, but as the institute's funds were pledged to other projects, there was nothing for Dick to do but wait—or else conduct the investigation at his own expense. He chose the latter course. His wife, Dr. Gladys H. Dick, encouraged and assisted him, taking employment as technician in a hospital laboratory in order that her salary might support him. Two years ago, Dr. Dick gave his antitoxin to the medical world. Last year in New York alone this treatment saved more lives than the average physician saves in a lifetime. A health official of New York predicts that there would be not more than 75 deaths from scarlet fever in that community of 6,000,000 people this year.

Let no one despair of the human race so long as men and women are found willing to make heroic and effective sacrifices for the common good, as did Dr. George Dick and his loyal wife.

TEMPERAMENT.

Florence MacBeth of the Chicago Grand Opera company is a very honest young woman. She says so-called "artistic temperament" is mostly bluff—and a bid for publicity. Temperament is something people with talent or who think they have talent like to hide behind. Temperament is the thing that enables them to get out of doing the things they don't want to do. Ordinary folks have to do things whether they want to or not. They can't afford the luxury of temperament.

It is something like the "inspiration" some people think they have to have before they can do any work. Most of the world's results are brought about by those who plug right along, without inspiration and without inspiration and without temperament. There is only one rule for getting anything done: start doing it.

It has been suggested that insurance salesmen be called "doctors of risk." Not much point to that. Surely there is no business more honorable than the business of selling something that is good for people to have. Salesmanship may not be an art but it is a business which is capable of being raised to a high degree of technical skill. It requires talent, training and devotion. And when you are selling the thing that provides old age with comfort and little children with the guarantee of education you are a salesman of the highest type. The insurance salesman doesn't need any new-fangled title such as "doctor of risk."

The Provincial Legislature is likely to have a very busy week. The bills for the development of Grand Falls now in the hands of the Corporations Committee, will be disposed of. Other important bills to be dealt with will include one to provide for the augmentation of the revenue by direct taxation and another to provide for a tax on gasoline. It is expected that the supplementary estimates will be brought down either tomorrow or Wednesday.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, 85, is not interested in quitting the work bench. His work bench is the United States supreme court. He is the oldest justice. For years he has been eligible for retirement but he believes in work. He is a wise old man. He realizes what keeps him alive and happy. When Justice Holmes' father was an old man he wrote good poetry—poetry which still lives.

"Home lessons are as unnecessary as they are hard on parents," says an educator. Their educational value may be a moot question, but they certainly are hard on the parents.

There is the story of the guinea pig that ate spinach until it died. This proves that it is possible to get too much of a good thing.

Worst of it is, says the daughter of the house, dishwashing comes when nobody feels like doing anything.

In Virginia a wedding had to be postponed because the bridegroom was too conservative. Instead of saying, "I do," as the ritual required, he persisted in saying "I will do the best I can."

Discussed Organization.

St. John Globe: A report from Fredericton, published this morning concerning a meeting at the Capital of the Provincial Liberal committee only in so far as it deals with discussion of organization. There is no federal election in sight, so far as is known. While Hon. Dr. Veniot, leader of the provincial opposition, has intimated that he desires to retire from the leadership, before another provincial election takes place, there will be no change in advance of action at a provincial convention of Liberals.

His Honor the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Todd left for their home at St. Stephen over Saturday. His Honor returned today but Mrs. Todd will not return during the present session of the Legislature.

DRASTIC BILL INTRODUCED IN REICHSTAG

(Special to the Daily Mail by British United Press)

Berlin, April 26—Forced into such action by the recent petitions of the German people the government has presented a bill to the Reichstag which would expropriate the former Kaiser and all other ex-royalties, without compensations.

In submitting the bill the government has announced that it will oppose in case of Reichstag passage because it is "contradictory to axioms ruling legislation in any constitutional state".

LOUD SHOES ARE PASSE AT MONTE CARLO

Monte Carlo, April 22—The days of bright colored footgear are past. Royal blue still is permissible, but green and red are only admitted as trimmings. Light and discreet shades now are the vogue.

The colors most favored in kid footwear are beige, opal and a lighter silvery gray, parchment, sauterne, Rugby tan and mauvette. Black is rarely seen except in patent leather, when the shoe generally is a plain pump. Combined with white (black patent vamp and deep trim of white kid) it is more frequent.

Wedding at St. Dunstan's.

A charming wedding was solemnized at St. Dunstan's Church this morning when Very Rev. Dean Carney united in the bonds of matrimony Miss Rita Alice McGinnis daughter of James McGinnis of this city and Michael McAlinden also of Fredericton. Miss Mary Cook was bridesmaid and Gregory McGinnis brother of the bride was groomsmen. The bride wore blue crepe-back satin, with hat to match, gravel coat and stockings and satin shoes. The bridesmaid wore a navy blue coat, navy blue crepe de chine dress with black velvet hat. The young couple left this morning for Saint John on their honeymoon and on their return will reside at 496 George street. The bride received many beautiful gifts including cash, silver, china, linen, glassware and other useful articles.

* SPECIAL ATTRACTION AT * * THE CAPITOL THEATRE *

"Sally, Irene and Mary" is the photo play at the Capitol for Monday and Tuesday with a star cast.

The story concerns the love affair of three girls in the chorus of a big revue. Most of its scenes are laid where Broadway's lights are brightest and include numerous intimate glimpses of backstage life, with particular reference to the polished philanders and sugar daddies who like chorus girls for playmates.

There is a complication of flirtations, tangling the careers of the three chorines in the story and it takes a tragic auto smash to clear up the situation sufficiently to permit a happy ending.
