RUMPUS IN PARLIAMENT WORSE THAN ANYTHING LEADER FORKE EVER SAW IN A COUNTY COUNCIL

Ottawa, June 2 — When Donald Sutherland, Conservative member for South Oxford, intimated his belief in the Commons this afternoon that the Immigration Act amendments were the result of a "bargain" between Premier King and the Laborites by which the Government was to receive the support of Messrs. Woodworth and Heaps, he precipitated as vigorous a row as the House has witnessed all session.

Mr. Sutherland denounced the Premier's alleged "bargaining," Premier King characterized the allegation as untrue, Deputy Speaker William Duff was alleged to have ruled erroneously in upholding the Premier's use of the word "untrue," Right Hon. Arthur Meighen appealed from the ruling of the chairman and lost on division, and Robert Forke, Progressive leader, condemned the whole extended rumpus as worse than anything he had witnessed in municipal councils in a quarter of a century.

It was in fact a wrangle in relays, the second heat being contested when Mr. Sutherland ventured the remark that he "wasn't surprised" at Deputy Speaker Duff's ruling upholding the Premier. Hon. Ernest Lapointe made scorching reference to Mr. Sutherland's failure to uphold the "dignities," and Mr. Duff ruled Mr. Sutherland's remark out of order and demanded retraction. Mr. Sutherland's effort to appease by reversing the statement to "I am surprised at the chairman's ruling" simply added gasoline to the fire.

The background to today's outbreak is this; during the Winnipeg strike the Meighen Government passed drastic amendments to the Criminal Code and Immigration Act by which unnaturalized Canadians could be deported.

WHAT

for sedition without trial and on the order of the Immigration Department, J. S. Woodworth and A. A. Heaps, sitting Winnipeg Labor members, were principals in the Winnipeg strike and both were indicted, Mr. Woodworth undergoing imprisonment. In previous sessions both have vainly fought for the removal of this feature of Canadian law, and this session finds legislation before the House which at large meets their demands.

Denied Any Bargaining.

Since there was no reference to the legislation in the Speech from the Throne, and J. S. Woodworth is alleged to have announced three weeks after the session that he had arrived at an understanding with the Premier on the issue, and exhibited a letter to that effect, the Tories hold that the Laborites were weaned over by an arrangement. Today the Premier vigorously denied any bargaining, and declared that his letter on the subject was written at a time when he was leaving to participate in the Prince Albert by-election and didn't know whether he would be returned to leave a written record of the intended sessional legislation programme for his colleagues.

At the outset Mr. Sutherland said that today the House was witnessing the effort "to deliver the goods" to the Laborites in connection with the promises contained in a letter from the Prime Minister.

Premier King: If he makes the statement that any letter of the kind was demanded he unconsciously makes a statement which is not correct. It isn't true. This legislation is no part of a bargain between the Government and certain members of this House.

Was Declared in Order.

Hon. Dr. R. H. Manton arose to a point of order on the ethics of the use of the word "untrue," but the Premier insisted he wasn't reflecting upon the veracity of Mr. Sutherland but merely announcing the facts. Mr.

Corns Soften Away In Foot Bath

Hot water extraction of corns and callouses offers the only perfect way to rid yourself of these painful troubles. Spread a few drops of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor over the sensitive surface of the corn or callous, and the pain is stopped at once. Later you use a hot foot bath for five or ten minutes. Corn crumples up and drops off. It is a glorious feeling that you get from Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor over the sensitive surface of the corn or callous, and the pain is stopped at once. Later you use a hot foot bath for five or ten minutes. Corn crumples up and drops off. It is a glorious feeling that you get from Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. It costs but little and is sold by all druggists.

Meighen thereupon demanded a ruling from Deputy Speaker Duff, who is chairman of Committee, and Mr. Duff ruled the Premier "quite in order in his declaration."

Some members: Oh, oh.
Mr. Meighen: I have no objection to the ruling, in fact I know it has been given before, but I know the very opposite has been held against us repeatedly this session. I propose to quote your present ruling if that is ever done again.

Mr. Duff: I am of course, not responsible for the rulings of other chairman.

Mr. Meighen: I think we had better have uniformity of rulings on account of the rulings which have been given by Mr. Speaker, and in order to get that uniformity I appeal Mr. Chairman from your ruling.

Upheld By The Speaker.

The Chairman reported to Mr. Speaker who took over the chair and Mr. Meighen disputed the report. Mr. Lemieux held he was bound to accept the statement of the Chair and Mr. Meighen said: "Then appeals are useless." Then Mr. Meighen submitted that Mr. Speaker ought to give a ruling himself and Bourinot and other authorities were produced to show that he ought not. On the call for ayes and nays, the chairman's ruling was held to have been sustained and Mr. Meighen did not press for a poll.

A few moments later, as Mr. Sutherland proceeded, he sought and was refused leave to read Mr. Woodworth's statement from a previous debate.

"I am not at all surprised at your ruling," Mr. Sutherland said, "in view of ruling that have been given this afternoon and other rulings."

Mr. Lapointe: I rise to a point of order and demand a withdrawal.

Mr. Duff: I am quite willing to admit I may not know the rules as well as older members, but I don't think it fair to censure me in the way the Hon. Member has done.

Mr. Sutherland: Surely a private member has some rights. What I said was—

Withdrawal Demanded.

Mr. Lapointe: I demand a withdrawal and moreover I ask the leader of the Opposition to take issue with his followers on this.

Mr. Meighen: Will be quite prepared to do anything to restore better feelings.

Mr. Sutherland: If it will please your Lordship and other members I will say I am surprised, very much surprised at the ruling.

Mr. Duff: I respectfully ask him to withdraw his statements.

Members: Withdraw what?

Mr. Bury: Can you suggest anything between being surprised and not surprised.

Mr. Meighen: If the member is to be asked to make no reflection on a point decided by the chair there should be the unfettered right of appeal which by the precedent of this afternoon we know now is worthless. I respectfully submit your conduct has made it impossible for use to take the constitutional procedure.

Mr. Lapointe: I protest against those words of the Leader of the Opposition. This is the first time a Leader of the Opposition has used words to impair the dignity of the chair.

Returned to the Attack.

Premier King resumed the debate briefly, but the Minister of Justice returned to the attack determinedly.

Mr. Sutherland insisted he had rectified his statement and chairman Duff declared that Mr. Lapointe having insisted on the withdrawal Mr. Sutherland had to withdraw under rule "236."

Sir Henry Drayton: There are only 129 rules.

Dr. Manion: He (Mr. Sutherland) reversed his statement. There cannot now be any reflection. If the chairman is satisfied why should some one object.

Mr. Lapointe: He is not satisfied. Mr. Duff: I must ask him to withdraw.

Peter Heenan, Liberal-Labor, Kenora, provided a show outside the big tent when he attempted to bring in Senator Gideon Robertson's alleged despatch of troops to the Winnipeg strike scene, but was ordered to "sit down." Which he did after some added contentions.

Mr. Sutherland: I am somewhat disappointed in the treatment meted out to me in this house by the Prime Minister and also by the chair.

Members: Order, order.

Mr. Sutherland: But in view of your ruling I may say I am neither surprised nor am I not surprised. Members: Order, order.

Mr. Sutherland: I absolutely drop the word surprised.

Must Withdraw Unreservedly.

Mr. Duff: The Hon. Member will not be allowed to escape with any partial denial. He must unreservedly withdraw the reflection on the chair.

Mr. Meighen: Surely there is such a thing as being too sensitive. Isn't one able to say he is disappointed in a decision?

Mr. Cannon: I think the incident has gone far enough. If we do not respect the chair our proceedings become impossible.

Mr. Meighen: Hear, hear.

Mr. Cannon: I think the leader of the Opposition will regret his remarks when he reads them and I don't think the member for South Oxford, (Mr. Sutherland), should be allowed to take any further part in this House until he follows the ruling of the chair.

Mr. Meighen objected to "the lecture on my deportment" and contended that Mr. Sutherland had gone "more than half way to meet all the objections."

Mr. Forke's Protest.

Robert Forke, Progressives leader: I am greatly disappointed with the proceedings that have taken place this afternoon.

Members: Oh, Oh.

Mr. Forke—However it may affect members to my right I don't feel this is a subject for amusement.

Mr. Sutherland—A point of order. Members—Sit down, sit down.

Mr. Forke—I have only a few words to say and I am going to say them. I am quite convinced of what the Hon. Member (Mr. Sutherland) meant to convey, no matter what are his words.

Dr. Edwards—Perhaps your mentality is at fault.

Member—No, yours is.

Mr. Forke—I think it is derogatory to our Parliamentary life, that such proceedings should have taken place as took place today.

Dr. Edwards—You have got in the press now on that.

An Unseemly Spectacle.

Mr. Forke—It is all very well for him to say that. But I can assure him that if the people understood something about the proceedings that took place in this House none of us would get very much respect, and I think there would be an entirely new House of Commons.

Dr. Edwards—Speak for yourself.

Mr. Forke—I never saw anything like it in 25 years in municipal council.

Members—Oh, Oh.

Mr. Forke—I am convinced of his meaning, and I think it would tend to add to his own dignity and the dignity of the House that the incident should come to an end and he should respect your ruling.

Mr. Macdonald—Why doesn't he say he didn't intend to reflect on the chair.

Dr. Edwards—I have the floor and I contend the member has met the demand by withdrawing the word surprised.

Mr. Sutherland was again asked to withdraw and insisted that he had done so, whereupon Mr. Duff apologized for not having noticed the withdrawal.

NEW BISHOP FOR ONTARIO

Kingston, June 2—Rev. Dr. C. A. Seager, Provost of Trinity College, Toronto, was elected late this afternoon to succeed Right Rev. E. J. Bidwell as Bishop of the Anglican Diocese of Ontario. It is understood that he is willing to accept the preferment, but that before doing so, desires to consult the Governing body of Trinity College. His reply is expected to reach the Synod, which is in session here tomorrow morning.
