ST. JOHN MEMBER URGES THE USE OF MARITIME PORTS; SPEAKER'S RULING UPHeld

Ottawa, Feb. 8.—Maritime harbor demands as recited by Dr. Murray MacLaren, Conservative, Saint John-Albert, was a feature of the proceedings in the House of Commons today.

Conservatives moved another amendment to the address. While not specifically mentioning the trade treaty with Australia, the amendment obviously had the treaty chiefly in mind. It expressed regret that in recent trade agreements made by the present government, Canadian dairy products were being subject to the most unfair and unwarranted competition and in the amendment expressed regret also that the Speech from the Throne gave no indication of remedial legislation.

The day opened with a curious situation. Donald Sutherland, of South Oxford (who moved the Conservative amendment) was reading some newspaper article when objection was raised to use of the term "purchasing support."

Speaker Lemieux held that "purchasing by legislation" was unparliamentary. Appeal was taken from his ruling and, within a short time of opening, the House prepared to divide. Then Mr. Sutherland rose and emphatically declared that he had not used the words.

A smile went around. But calling of members proceeded and the Speaker's ruling was sustained by a majority of 16, a vote of 86 to 71.

Dr. MacLaren Speaks.

Dr. Murray MacLaren (Conservative Saint John-Albert), asked if the way to encourage farmers to stay on the land was to bring into operation a treaty which made it more difficult for them to make a living. He predicted that it would not be very long, if Mr. Robb continued in his present position before he (Mr. Robb) was coming to the House and asking for changes in the treaty. He felt that he should make some remarks because his province as well as two other provinces of Canada, had no representation in the Government. Dr. MacLaren said. He then went on to discuss the transportation problem in Canada.

Canadian goods, declared Dr. MacLaren, should be routed over Canadian railroads and through Canadian ports. The development of trade through Canadian ports was absolutely essential.

Grain Exports Via U. S.

Maritime ports were not receiving their fair share of the grain trade. From sixty to seventy per cent of Canadian wheat was exported through United States channels and the balance through Canadian ports.

We should have regard to the interests of this country," said Dr. MacLaren, "and conduct as much business as possible over our own railways and through Canadian ports." Such a policy could not be resented by the United States, but on the other hand should secure the respect of that republic.

Canada should have a "proper national transportation policy."

The Maritime Provinces in particular had felt that the matter of transportation most acutely. The question, however, was now engaging the attention of the whole Dominion. The press, boards of trade, and big business men were taking a prime interest in the problem. Insofar as the Maritime Provinces were concerned, the election of 23 Conservative members in 29 constituencies was illustrative of the dissatisfaction with the government on the transportation problem and its tariff policy.

Papers Quoted.

Dr. MacLaren quoted a number of newspaper articles from central Canada to the effect that the grievances of the Maritimes were real ones and the aspirations of the Maritime people should receive sympathetic consideration.

Million of dollars had been spent on the construction of railways in this country. But, stated Dr. MacLaren, that money, according to legislative enactments passed at the time, was contributed for the purpose of insuring trade over Canadian rails and through Canadian seaports.

Hon. J. A. Robb, acting minister of trade and commerce, declared that Mr. Sutherland had opposed every treaty which the present government had introduced in the house. In doing so, Mr. Sutherland had followed the example of his leader Right Hon. Arthur Meighen. Yet, stated Mr. Robb, the treaties brought in for ratification by the King government had given greater preferences to the dairy and agricultural industries than to any other industries in Canada.

Mr. Robb reviewed the history of trade negotiations with Australia.

Sir MacKenzie Bowell in 1889, Right Hon. W. S. Fielding in 1897 and 1906, and Sir George Foster in 1913 all had sought to establish a preferential trade agreement with Australia but for one reason or another, the negotiation had not come to fruit. The treaty passed by the Canadian parliament last year had given Canada access to the newsprint consumers in Australia, the commonwealth having been persuaded to remove the tariff of $15 a ton against Canadian paper.

COURT CONSIDERS IN MATTER OF CHARGES AGAINST R. B. HANSON IN NEVERS CASE

he would not have brought action against The Gleaner Limited if guilty that he easily could have had the bond altered so as to be approved by Dr. Allen if so inclined, that he was overwhelmed with work at the time the Nevers case was under consideration, that he always had admitted negligence in not realizing from the materials he had before him that the alteration of the decree must have been an error by whomsoever committed and that he was not conscious of wrongful intention and not guilty of the charges made against him.

Completing the reading of the affidavit Mr. Hanson said that he had little to say except to ask that the rule be quashed.

Mr. Jones said that the attitude of the Council of the Barristers' Society was that the Court should decide the matter.

Chief Justice Hazen asked if the evidence was available.

Mr. Jones said the evidence of the civil suit was also the evidence of C. R. Hawkins before the council and that of Dr. Allen and Mr. Hanson.

Mr. Hanson said that his own evidence was sworn but that Dr. Allen had made a statement.

Mr. Jones pointed out that the finding of the Council had been unanimous and he was no clear what course he should pursue in view of the fact that Mr. Hanson had appeared. He felt it his duty to justify the finding.

Not Bound by Finding.

Chief Justice Hazen said his view was that the Court was not bound by the finding of the Council but was bound to exercise meticulous care in going through the evidence before coming to a decision.

Mr. Jones said that he wished to direct attention to parts of the evidence which were not touch upon in Mr. Hanson's evidence.

Chief Justice Hazen said that he could direct attention to the pages by their numbers.

Mr. Jones said there was no disposition for the Council to do anything but its duty.

Mr. Justice White said that the Court was not bound to accept the finding of the Council of the Barristers' Society. The report was sufficient to set the Court in motion. They wanted to know if all evidence was available.

Mr. Jones—Yes it is.

Mr. Justice White—Then I would like to go over it and hear first one side and then the other.

There was further comment.

Council Cannot Disbar.

Mr. Justice White—There is no statutory authority for the Council to disbar a number.

Mr. Jones—I recognize that.

Mr. Hanson suggested that the number of the pages be given on which his learned friend depended. He realized that he was there merely on sufferance and he could not be there in the afternoon.

Chief Justice—I think that it might be well if Mr. Jones would take the same attitude as Mr. Hanson.

Mr. Justice White—I would like to read the evidence first and hear the argument afterward.

Memoranda Presented.

Mr. Jones—That might be the most satisfactory. I have a memorandum of evidence.

Mr. Hanson—I also have one.

Mr. Jones—Both might be presented for consideration.

Chief Justice—Court will consider. All evidence will be filed at the office of the Registrar.

COLLEGE GIRLS NOW ADOPT SUSPENDERS

Spartanburg, S. C., Feb. 9.—Suspenders, or "galluses," to hold up the skirts is the latest thing in woman's fashions, say the girls of Converse College, here, who are today idling over the campus thus attired.

The suspenders have succeeded the belt and are very conspicuous, as no drab-colored cross-pieces are used, all colors of the rainbow being blended in those worn here. White shirt waists are worn with the skirts.

The girls do not trust the nail often used in place of the missing button, and connect the "galluses" and skirt with safety pins.

SAYS RADIO MOVIES NEXT

Nice, France., Feb. 8.—Edouard Belin, noted French inventor, who is now in Nice for the installation of a teleautographic device, predicts that within several months radio fans may attach film screens to their receiving sets, on which will appear likenesses of the artists to whom they are listening. "Then," he said tonight, "television will complete radiophony."

Saint John Case.

Before the Appeal Court this morning Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, K. C., for the City of Saint John moved for certiorari and rule nisi to quash a decision of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners. A rule was made returnable at the next term. The point is whether the City of Saint John in supplying water to a street railway company is a public utility.

Crew of the "Lone Trail" Sealer Learn to "Rub Away" Their Colds.

Acting Doctor of the "Viking" Tells How Simple Vaporizing Salve Rubbed on Outside, Kept Newfoundland Seal Hunters Fit on Hard Cruise.

Hardy men are they who go "down to the sea in ships" for the annual seal hunt. And yet, exposed as they are to the elements, they are bound to develop some cold troubles.

While the other vessels of the Newfoundland sealing fleet head northward, the "Viking" sails alone to the West. She must depend upon her own resources for the health and safety of her crew. J. Kavanagh, of St. John's, who acted as Medical Officer on last spring's cruise, tells an interesting story of how they checked their colds.

"In all my experience," he declares, "I never found anything for cold troubles to equal Vicks Vaporub. I had a good many occasions to use it on the Viking this spring, as the men would often catch cold from getting overheated and allowing their clothes to dry on them. Among those who had bad colds and bronchial troubles were George Richards of Barrehead, Robert Morgan of Clark's Beach, Augustus Ralph of Port-de-Grave and William Delaney of Spaniard's Bay. In every case, we just rubbed on Vicks and it brought quick relief, enabling the men to continue their work."

Applied on the throat and chest, Vicks not only acts through the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, but like a modern vapour-lamp as well, because its ingredients are vaporized by the body-heat and breathed right into the air-passages, loosening the phlegm and easing the breathing.

On the same cruise, Bosun Hall of St. John's, also found Vicks most effective for a badly gathered foot, which he cured after a few applications of this modern ointment. In surface inflammations such as this, it is the healing, antiseptic properties of Vicks that makes it so helpful.
