STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN.

The world is not half bad. Run the mind down the list of your friends and acquaintances, people you know are decent; consider the thousands that come and go daily within the orbit of your observation. What per cent of them are a discredit to the community?

Stop, look and listen.

Take note of the heroes and heroines, of the philanthropies, of the hospitals, of the universities and schools, and of the billions of dollars given for the betterment of the human race.

Joaquin Miller once wrote these lines:

I say, God's Kingdom is at hand,
Right here, if we but lift our eyes.
I say there lies no line nor land
Between this land and Paradise.

We cannot all be poets, can't put into verse the rhythm of our souls. But we can see the beauties that surround us, and feel them, too, if we but lift our eyes. There is a tumult of crime—murder, robbery, bootlegging, intolerance, and selfish disregard for the happiness of others. These things are conspicuous, but they do not dominate life.

The world has come far and improved along the way. The forces for good are still working. We would have things better than they are, but let us not pray as one who despairs. If we let pessimism blind us to the beauty of life we can see only the sordid, abhorrent things.

Many of our worries and troubles come from our inability to make up our minds what we are going to do about important things—or things that seem important to us. We sit on the fence, not knowing which way to jump, until we are thoroughly miserable. We hope that something or somebody will do our deciding for us. Nobody can be counted on to do that. Better make up our minds to a course of action and follow it, even if it is a mistaken course, than try to sit for years on one fence. Make up your mind what you are going to do with yourself and do it, even if it is the wrong thing.

A so-called expert in women's garb says that one ought to dress "according to your psychology" and not according to physical type. If you have a temperament that loves color and lots of it, wear bright colors and lots of them, and so on as far as the law allows. A man who knows little about such things would say this is not good advice. The tendency of folks—men and women alike—to suit their own queer tastes in dress and color instead of being guided by common sense is one thing that makes the world so ugly in spots.

After functioning for a few months the Briand Government of France has resigned, following an adverse vote in the Chamber of Deputies on its financial project. The vote stood 374 to 221 leaving the government in a minority of 52. The resignation of the Ministry followed by a sharp slump in the price of the franc.

If we haven't one thing to worry us there's something else equally disturbing, and now along comes a scientist who says the earth can't possibly last more than 1,000,000,000,001,926 years longer. Now we suppose we'll have to lose a few more nights' sleep over that.

A Broadway theatrical manager owes a million dollars, and claims in his bankruptcy schedule to own only one suit and one pair of shoes, in the uppers of which he is now walking around.

A Portsmouth, Ohio, school teacher has been awarded $70,000 in court for a broken heart, and the man in the case knows a little more than he did about values in physiology.

It is not reported whether the famous naturalist who says he has the power to cure by the laying on of hands has ever treated an ailing porcupine.

It is estimated that under the new bridge rules, just adopted, there will be about as many otherwise attractive girls leading off against a no-trump bid with an ace.

John Philip Sousa says music is responsible for the dress of today. The idea for balloon trousers then, just possibly, came from watching the tuba player under full inflation.

"The first thing to spring out of the ground is not a mushroom," declared the motorist looking for a place to park, "but a fire hydrant."

Putting out a fire with a musical note is nothing. Let somebody show us how to light the stove in the morning by singin' to it.

History tells us that one of the pathetic incidents in the career of the average Dictator is dying away from home.

On the other hand, an advantage of the older form of transportation was that a curry comb didn't mar the finish.

Now that the price of rubber has dropped, the cross word puzzle enthusiast can get back to a pencil with an eraser on it.

Yessir, this is an age of biography. Almost any one's life can be studied in either book form or divorce court reports.

Having abdicated the throne, his royal highness, the Maharajah of Indore, will get a chance to see a little bit more of the great outside.

All things come to him who waits. Even bad luck, sometimes.

The Army of the Unemployed numbers quite a few volunteers.

What has become of the old-fashioned oyster supper? Couldn't they find an oyster?

It doesn't matter what kind of weather we have between now and spring. We'll have to put up with it anyhow.

Whatever it is, music or literature as soon as it has the enthusiastic approval of the public, the critics begin to tear it into tatters.

When the man bites the dog it is news. Six hundred Mohammedans have been reported killed by Armenians.

Guess the telephone must have been invented so that two universal young persons of opposite sex might talk to each other for an hour about nothing without saying anything.

One of our great inspirational writers says that it is a good thing in the night watches to recall all the foolish things you have said in the course of the day and resolve to be wiser on the morrow but a paragrapher wouldn't get any sleep at all that way.—Ohio State Journal—Might as well have insomnia.

ENTERTAINMENT OFFERED BY THE ORIGINALS

Canada's world famous. Originals will make their annual appearance here next Tuesday & Wednesday evenings, at the Capitol theatre in the latest and finest offering of their seven years in Canada during their tours from coast to coast. "Thumbs Up" sparkles with all the life and action and pep and originality for which the Originals are now so famous.

Headed by a cast of unequalled stars, Gene Pearson, The "Male Galli Curci"; Bob Anderson, that prince of funmakers; Jimmie Goode, Canada's foremost exponent of darkey humour; and all the old favourites of past seasons (including most of the Original Overseas Dumbbells), such as Leonard Young who directs the Originals own Orchestra and who, together with Alan Murray, produces all the Originals' revues; Thomas Dunn, the celebrated baritone; Bertram Langley; Jerry Brayford; Percy Campbell; Lionel Broadway; Stuart Callaghan, the company's talented new dancer; Harry Carter, a new member of the quartette; Clarence Causton, and David Fonger. The Originals have this season broken all their former records as entertainers and the new show has been acclaimed the greatest production seen in Canada in years.

Among the hilarious episodes in "Thumbs Up" may be mentioned a take off on afternoon tea parties and parlour folks in general. "Oh, be yourself" is one continuous scream of laughter with the inimitable Bob Anderson as the ridiculous looking Mrs. Bunk; The coy Miss Brown (Stuart Callaghan); The proud Mother, Mrs. Brown (Alan Murray); and the retiring papa, Lionel Broadway; "The war might have been worse" is a delightful bit of humor depicting a moon light night at the front with the Heinie machines buzzing overhead. The finale is an elaborately costumed scene of the days of the powdered wigs and knee breeches and gives us an idea of life at the European courts in the seventeenth century.

Captivating music, presented by the Originals in their own unequalled way, many of the numbers specially written for the company include "Could Lloyd George do it", "I'm tickled to death I'm single", and "Why am I always the Bridesmaid," all sung by Bob Anderson; "The Scapegrace" sung by Thomas Dunn; "Gypsy laughing song" and "Rakin' in the hay" by the Originals quartette; "Starlight Maiden" by Gene Pearson and the chorus. Special attention has been paid to the chorus work in "I want someone to love me", "Collegiate" and "Starlight Maiden", while Gene Pearson's rendition of "Love's old sweet song", "Come sing to me" and the Waltz song from "Romeo and Juliet," establish beyond a doubt that this marvellous male soprano has not an equal among present day female impersonators in any country in the world.

UTTERLY DISCOURAGED

This Was the Condition of a P. E. I. Woman Before Taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"My illness began," says Mrs. M. J. Ahern, R. R. No. 2, Alberton, P. E. I., when my husband went overseas and I was left with the care of a farm and stock, with no help but that of a young boy. My health broke down and for the first time in my life I became utterly discouraged. I lost my appetite, had no strength, and was ready to have a crying spell any moment of the day as the work loomed up ahead of me. A friend happened to speak one day of the good Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done her and urged me to try them. I had not energy enough, or perhaps confidence enough, to try them, but she would not be denied and sent me three boxes, and by the time I had taken them I knew they were helping me and was anxious for more. I continued taking the pills for nearly six months and by that time I had safely passed a critical period in my life, and regained my usual good health. To all overworked, nerve-racked women—and there are a great many of them—I still say, and at all times, take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I know you will regain your energy."

There are many troubles due to weak, watery blood easily overcome by a fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The whole mission of this medicine is to purify and enrich the blood, and when that is done all the varied symptoms of anaemia disappear and good health returns. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any druggist or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
