May Extend Education and Public Health Work in China

Committee of British Parliamentary Advisory Board Submits a Plan—Would Make Use of Boxer Indemnity Payments Which Amount to $1,750,000—Suggests That Large Sum be Invested in Constructive Work in China.

(Special to the Daily Mail by the British United Press)

LONDON, Dec. 1—Extension of education and public health work in China through the use of Britain's boxer indemnity payments was suggested in a plan submitted today by a parliamentary advisory committee.

The plan recommends that the $1,750,000 made available to Great Britain be allocated on the basis of 30 per cent for agricultural education, 30 per cent for scientific research, 23 per cent for education in medicine, and for extension of public health and hospital work, and 17 per cent for other educational work.

It also suggested that between $12,500,000 and $25,000,000 be raised between 1927 and 1931 for investment in some constructive work in China that will benefit the people.

HALL-MILLS CASE MAY END ON THURSDAY

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 30—The jury will probably get the Hall-Mills murder case on Thursday if Special Prosecutor Simpson does not move for a mistrial.

Seventeen witnesses testified for the prosecution rebuttal today and the time when twelve men will decide the guilt or innocence of Mrs. Frances Noel Hall and her two brothers in the murder of Eleanor R. Mills drew near. Responsibility for the murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, whose body was found with that of Mrs. Mills, will not be considered by the jury in this case.

Prosecutor Simpson tonight said that he had not contemplated plans for a motion for mistrial. The grounds for such motion would be the letter of a Somerville resident attesting that prejudicial conversation against the State had gone on among jurors in their hotel discussions, and the affidavits of newspaper men as to the somnolent behavior of jurors in the court room.

Witnesses today were mostly technical experts, who verbally pawed over again the calling card with the fingerprint which the State contends is that of Willie Stevens, and the entry in the diary of Henry Stevens about a big blue fish caught on the night of the murder.

Eight witnesses were called to testify as to the pig woman's character. Six of these said that the character of Mrs. Jane Gibson, star witness for the prosecution, was "good."

GOULD'S SUCCESS WAS A REBUFF TO THE KLAN

Democratic Wards in Cities Turned Over in His Favor.

Bangor, Me., Nov. 30—Latest returns show a majority of about 49,000 votes for Arthur R. Gould, of Presque Isle, Republican, over Fulton J. Redman, of Ellsworth, Democrat, in the special election for U. S. Senator yesterday.

Analysis of this overwhelmingly large majority exceeding the forecasts of the most optimistic Republican leaders shows one of the most remarkable elections in Maine's political history.

It is apparent that an anti-K. K. K. sentiment was shown all over Maine by a heavy swing of Democratic votes to Gould, especially in the cities where wards always topheavily Democratic went Republican, some almost for the first time in their history. This is said to mean a rebuff for the Klan which instituted eleventh-hour proceedings against Mr. Gould for exceeding campaign expenses, which charges were dismissed by the secretary of state after a brief hearing. Klan officials, however, declare that the Klan had but little interest in the election, that neither of the candidates was officially endorsed, that the individual members of the order were left to vote as they pleased and that comparatively few voted at all.

The announcement by Governor Brewster that he could not support Mr. Gould under the existing conditions is believed to have reacted in favor of Mr. Gould rather than otherwise.

Aroostook county, home of Mr. Gould, appeared to be the one hectic spot in Maine giving its favorite son nearly 8,000 majority.

The Economic Crisis In Mexico Easily Dealt With, Says President

Declares That it is Only Temporary—No Good Will Come Out of Proposed Meeting of Senators and Business Men to Take Up the Boycott—Merchants Always Profit From a Crisis.

(Special to the Daily Mail by the British United Press)

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 1—The economic crisis in Mexico is temporary and can be dominated by the government, President Calles stated in a declaration.

He said no good would come out of a meeting of senators with business men of Mexico to take up the boycott as it is impossible to expect "defenders of monopolies" to co-operate in any way that would benefit the masses.

"Merchants always make money during a crisis" the President continued. They have shown complete ignorance of the problems, he said.

The attacks on Secretary of Finance, Pani, in the chamber were unjustified inasmuch as he had honorably managed the government, Calles concluded.

"Naturally I am justly proud of having received so great a majority in my home town and county, where I have lived for 40 years and where my business dealings and various enterprises have been open to the inspection of those nearest to them in their interests and welfare.

"I would also add that I cannot too strongly express my appreciation to my loyal friends and supporters for the earnest efforts they have made in my behalf to bring about so successful a termination of this strenuous campaign."

IMPORTANT APPOINTMENTS TO BE MADE

Ottawa, Dec. 1—Several important appointments will have to be made upon the return to Ottawa of Premier King, including a Lieutenant-Governor for Ontario and two Senators from the same Province.

For the Lieutenant-Governorship, the name of Albert Matthews of Toronto is the latest mentioned, though it is said that another effort will be made to induce the Chief Justice, Sir William Mulock, to accept the appointment. In the event of Sir William declining, it is stated that Mr. Matthews will be requested by the Prime Minister to succeed Mr. Cockshutt, who has consented to carry on for a few months until his successor is selected.

Mr. Matthews is a prominent Baptist layman, and was head of the world-wide organization of the Baptist Church. He has had a successful career in the meat-packing industry, and was Liberal candidate in Northeast Toronto in 1925.

Judge Grimmer stated that all sittings of the commission were and would continue to be strictly private that not even the different lumbermen or their representatives were allowed to hear each other's evidence and that there would be nothing given out for publication.
