

DRAMATIC DUEL IN WARSAW ROOM; ONE DUELIST REFUSED TO SHOOT

Warsaw, June 18.—Count Skrzynski and Gen. Szeptycki, who quarreled over the recent Polish coup d'état, fought a duel with pistols today in a friend's house in Warsaw. The General's bullet missed and Skrzynski refused to shoot.

The duel was held in the presence of seconds and a court of honor. The principals agreed to fire a single shot each at a distance of fifteen paces.

Upon the signal "Fire!" Gen. Szeptycki turned and fired. His bullet grazed Count Skrzynski's hair and buried itself in the wall of the room.

Count Skrzynski dramatically lowered his revolver and said: "I wish to state that I deliberately do not want to shoot. If there is any one here who thinks it is necessary to defend his honor or takes issue with my ideals, let him shoot, but I shall not shoot."

The duel ended without the principals shaking hands. Count Skrzynski has the reputation of being a dead shot. When friends called upon him after the duel he said:

"I don't know how to miss, and I did not want to kill a man in whose veins flows the blood of my forefathers."

Count Skrzynski's seconds were two officers close to Marshal Pilsudski, named Dreszer and Kutrzeba. Gen. Szeptycki's seconds were M. Woodziti, a prominent member of the Cracow aristocracy, and a colonel, M. Jurjwicz, one of the best known sportsmen of Warsaw, acted as umpire.

The quarrel between Count Skrzynski and Gen. Szeptycki grew out of a meeting between the two men early in June, when the latter refused to shake hands with the former Premier. The General called Count Skrzynski a coward for failing to reply to newspaper attacks made by Marshal Pilsudski, author of the recent coup d'état, against the order of Polish officers who correspond to West Point graduates.

Count Skrzynski then challenged the General, but the duel did not take place at that time because of the difficulty of obtaining seconds. At length Count Skrzynski suggested that the matter be dropped until a court of arbitration could rule on the delicate points of the code of dueling involved in the matter. This court yesterday ruled that the Count's challenge was issued "in strict accordance with the code of honor" within twenty-four hours after the dispute which took place at Cracow.

A Pimply Face Is Unsightly

Miss C. C. M. Smart, South Battleford, Sask., writes:—"A while ago I was troubled with facial blemishes, especially pimples, and was really ashamed to go out with such a bad looking face."

I tried 2 or 3 different remedies, but they didn't help me any, so one day a friend, who had been troubled the same as I was, advised me to use

WHEN DIGESTION IS ON STRIKE

Food Fails to Nourish—Relief Can be Had Through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Is your digestion on strike? Do you turn away from your food at meal times, although you know you need the nourishment your food should give you? Is what you eat followed by pains, flatulence or nausea? These symptoms show that your stomach is in no state to digest food even if you eat it. Do not rely on remedies that merely give temporary relief. A sound stomach depends upon rich, red blood, and if it does not do the work nature intended, the trouble must be corrected through the blood and there is no better way to build up the blood than by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Every dyspeptic who has tried them is delighted with the improved appetite and renewed strength that so quickly follow their use. Mrs. A. Quinlan, Stratford, Ont., is one who has tested the value of these pills in trouble of this kind. She says:—"I feel it a duty to let you know what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. Some time ago I suffered severely from indigestion, which left me run down and nervous. I could neither eat nor sleep well, and decided to consult a doctor. He told me that I was almost bloodless and gave me some medicine, but as it did not appear to help me, I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got three boxes and by the time I had taken them I felt better. I then got three more boxes and when I had taken them I felt like a new woman, and I was again able to do my housework, and have not since had any return of the trouble."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers, or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. A little booklet "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free to any address for the asking.

The Poet Goes Fishing.

Now is the time to make a wish

Now is the time to go and fish

So I wish

I could fish

Without leaving my comfortable chair to hunt for rhyming dictionaries or wriggly worms or a pair of oars and a straw hat—eeyah well, I never get any fish, anyhow. Um!

SOME HINTS AND POINTERS FOR THE AMATEUR GARDENER; METHOD OF DESTROYING WEEDS

Throughout Central Ontario, points out Professor A. H. Tomlinson, Ontario Agricultural College, this is the best time for planting out of tender plants such as cannas, tuberous rooted begonias and heliotrope. Plants of late flowering tulips, growing where space is required for bedding, may be dug up with bulbs and as much root and foliage remaining on the plant and set in soil in an out-of-the-way corner until foliage has died down. They may then be taken up and cured partially in the open as well as later on dry shelves or in cellars prior to planting again in the fall. Old flowering spikes should be cut away.

Pot plants of azaleas, rhododendrons and other forms of the Ericaceae family, he says, can be planted out of doors in decomposed leaf soil in a partially shaded place. These plants may be taken up again in the fall prior to the appearance of frost and repotted into soil composed of leaf mould or peat or soil which does not contain lime. Should the plants be already in pots containing leaf mould, much or peat soil, and do not need repotting, these pots may simply be pruned out-of-door, but where there is partial shade, a shrubby border is a first class spot.

Calia lilies and old cyclamen may be rested at this season by gradually withholding water previous to placing in a shed or cellar or under trees for complete rest. During late July or early August the tubers may be taken out of the soil, cleaned off and put into rich, loamy soil, or if desired Professor Tomlinson adds callas at this season may be planted out-of-doors and lifted prior to frost and put into pots boxes, or tubs or rich soil for winter forcing.

Cutting the New Lawn.

When should a newly seeded lawn be cut? Authorities on grass, especially English experts famous for their wonderful lawns, insist that the first cutting should be made with a scythe. Unfortunately there isn't one man in hundred competent of handling a scythe now-a-days. The new grass should be mown as it needs it, which is when it is between two and three inches tall. The mower should be thoroughly sharp for this first cutting to make a clean cut and not pull the young grass out by the roots, as it has not fastened itself firmly in the soil. With a sharp mower, the scythe theory may be followed in effect. Cut it as soon as it is high enough. The cutting encourages the grass to stool out and cover the soil thickly and develop an extensive root system. After the first cutting the new grass will thicken up fast and it can then be cut at regular intervals like an established lawn. After the first cutting, sprinkle it thoroughly should dry weather set in. Find a skilled operator of the scythe if you can for the first mowing, but if it can't be done be sure the mower is as sharp as it can be made. The main reason for the scythe is that it has to be sharp or it won't cut, at all, and there is no danger of pulling up the new grass.

Water the Strawberries.

Strawberries require a large amount of moisture during the fruiting season if maximum results are to be obtained. Commercial growers, aware of this need, often equip their plantations with an overhead irrigation system but the smaller man can increase the yield from his few rows by the use of the hose. Where possibly it is well to soak the patch thoroughly every evening during a very dry spell. Yields can be increased by as much as 50 per cent. where this sort of irrigation is followed.

Spray the Cherries.

The small fruit grower as well as the commercial man should take precautions against the cherry fruit fly. This pest which attacks the later varieties of cherries is responsible for the little white maggots so often found in the fruit at picking time. To control spray with two and a half pounds of arsenate of lead paste to 40 gallons of water. The first application should be made when the fruit begins to show the least signs of becoming red. Forty gallons is sufficient to spray 40 good sized trees.

Wilted Raspberries.

Raspberries are sometimes attacked by an insect that bores into the tip of the cane. This pest, which is known as the cane-borer, may also damage blackberries though the first named fruit is usually the more serious sufferer. The injury is noticed some time in June by the tips of the canes wilting. As soon as this takes place, the shoots should be cut off an inch or so below the damage so that there is no danger of leaving the grubs in the stalks. Trimmings must be burned and as the borer usually feeds on wild raspberries any patches of these in the neighborhood should be destroyed.

A Weed Destroyer.

A spray recommended by Professor T. G. Bunting, MacDonald College, is made up as follows: 2 pounds of sal soda and 1 pound of white arsenic are put in a gallon of water and boiled for 15 to 20 minutes, or until the liquid becomes clear. This solution is then diluted to make 15 to 20 minutes, or until the liquid becomes clear. This solution is then diluted to make 15 to 20 gallons of spray material and is sprayed on the weeds that it is desired to destroy.

It is well to remember, points out Professor Bunting that the spray will kill grass or other plants, so that when using, it is advisable to cover anything not wanted destroyed with a piece of tin. The spray can be made for considerably less than a cent a gallon. It is particularly advocated for killing weeds long drive-ways.

BRITISH TRAMP STEAMER IS IN TROUBLE

St. John's, Nfld., June 17.—Fifteen miles east from the Funk Islands, the British freighter Leicester, with her lee forward deck level with the sea and her progress "getting more sluggish," tonight wireless for immediate assistance. The steamer Kyle, which left Hampden at 6 o'clock this evening, has been ordered to proceed immediately to the Leicester's assistance, and the steamer Home is being made ready here to be rushed to the scene if necessary.

The following message from the Leicester was received here tonight shortly before midnight, via Fogo, Nfld.

Movement More Sluggish.

RUM RUNNERS HEAVILY FINED

Woodstock, June 17.—The hearing of the four men arrested for alleged rum running by E. C. Morgan, Hartland, liquor inspector, and local customs officials at Bristol and Florenceville, on Tuesday night, took place before Police Magistrate C. M. Augher-ton this forenoon. F. C. Squires, M. L. A., and W. J. West, appeared in defence. All pleaded guilty and were fined $200 and costs or six months in jail. Two of the men, in whose car liquor was found, are being held under warrant by the customs officials for having smuggled liquor in their possession. The latter charge will be heard tomorrow.

HOW do you spell 'financially?' asked a college student of his room-mate.

"F-i-n-a-n-c-i-a-l-l-y," said the room-mate, spelling out the word slowly. As an afterthought, he added: "And 'embarrassed' has two r's and two s's."

How often have you said to a salesman, "That's more than I care to pay"? If you had known the price in advance you would have been spared this little embarrassment. That's one of the great services rendered by newspaper advertising.

By reading the newspaper advertisements before going to the stores, you know what you will have to pay for an article. You need not reveal your financial status to a salesman. You perhaps do not like to ask the price of goods anyhow. If the merchant has told you the price in his newspaper advertisement, you do not have to ask.

Any way you figure it out, IT PAYS YOU TO READ THE NEWSPAPER ADVERTISEMENTS. REGULARLY! The one advertisement you skip may contain just the news you would have welcomed. READ ALL THE NEWSPAPER ADVERTISEMENTS. KEEP INFORMED.

The intelligent way to shop is to read the newspaper advertisements and then go to the stores that offer the best values. Make notes beforehand of the articles that interest you. That's the way to get the most for your money. That's the way to save time.
