

FIGHTING IN STREETS OF LISBON

SEIZURE OF AMMUNITION IN ARIZONA

Was Intended for Revolutionary Forces in Mexico.

CONCEALED IN A TAXI

Was to be Delivered to Queen of the Smugglers.

(Special cable to the Daily Mail by the British United Press.)

Nogales, Arizona, Feb. 3.—Seventeen thousand rounds of ammunition, believed intended for revolutionary forces, has been seized here as it was being smuggled into Mexico.

The ammunition was concealed in a Nogales Sonora taxicab driven by a Mexican. It is thought that he was delivering it to a woman known here as Laura, Queen of the Smugglers.

AUTHORIZED TO JOIN LEAGUE

(Special cable to The Daily Mail by the British United Press.)

Berlin, Feb. 3.—The Reichstag's foreign committee today authorized the government immediately to apply for membership in the League of Nations.

LAWYERS' FEES ARE LOW UNDER SOVIET RULE

Moscow, Feb. 3.—Soviet Russia is an ideal place for lawyers in the opinion of the public, if not of the lawyers. Each lawyer must devote four or five days each week to defending persons who either can not pay or have their litigation handled through government bureaus that charge nominal fixed prices. In the remaining time a lawyer may attend to his private practice—if he has any.

A liberal fee is $5 or $10. Litigation is neither costly nor encouraged. However, the low cost makes it popular. This fiscal year the Moscow government legal bureaus handled 330,000 cases and give legal advice to 140,000 persons, charging each from $1 to $5.

Lawyers must also make periodical visits to factories and peasant villages. State prosecutors also are not overpaid, the supreme court prosecutor receiving a salary of only $67.73 a month.

(Special cable to the Daily Mail by the British United Press.)

Rome, Feb. 3.—A large number of dead were left behind by Senussi Rebels in flight after recent fighting operations by Italian troops on the Cyrenaican plateau. The troops lost one dead and two wounded.

COMMANDER EVA BOOTH IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Is Head of the Salvation Army in the United States.

HAS NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Will Go to a Seaside Resort for a Rest.

New York, Feb. 3.—Evangeline Booth, National Commander of the Salvation Army, is seriously ill. "For seven weeks she has been struggling against an attack of appendicitis," said an announcement today from Salvation Army Headquarters, "and yesterday her condition took a turn which seemed to threaten the approach of a general nervous breakdown. This turn was so acute that her physicians ordered that plans be immediately made for a period of absolute rest and seclusion at the seashore."

During this entire period of illness Commander Booth has been absent from her office in the Headquarters Building at 122 West Fourteenth Street, and has been obliged to cancel a large number of engagements, including a new year's gathering of officers on duty in and about New York City that is always held early in January. Nevertheless she has been endeavoring to carry on a part of her work with the aid of secretaries in her home. It was this effort to continue her work in spite of her condition, say the physicians, that brought about yesterday's relapse.

Plans are now being made to comply with the orders of the physicians. Attended by a nurse and a doctor, the Commander will within a day or so be removed to a seaside resort, where no work will be allowed to reach her. This rest, together with sea air, it is thought will restore her powers of resistance, which have been greatly diminished. On the advice of the physicians, her whereabouts will be kept a secret. Daily reports of her progress will be received at the Fourteenth Street Headquarters.

GERMANS ARE GOING BACK TO THE LAND

Berlin, Feb. 3.—Business depression is causing a reflux of German people to the land. The country roads around the big cities are crowded with city people out of employment and seeking work. When told in the country there is none they beg and threaten. The country folk who first thought to get rid of the job hunters by calling the dog have learned that many of them carry loaded clubs and even fire-arms. The country police hardly know what to do with the problem. German excess population is returning to the land, but the land does not appear to want them.

Portuguese Uprising Is Reported to Have Been Short Lived

Is Said to Have Occurred Two Hours Before the Government's Ultimatum—Rebels Massed Forces Across the River and Fired Upon the City—Government Troops Got the Best of the Encounter and Rebels Capitulated.

(Special to the Daily Mail by the British United Press.)

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Authentic advices received here today declared there had been violent fighting in the streets of Lisbon in connection with the short lived "revolution."

The uprising occurred two hours before the expiration of the government's ultimatum. (The cablegram was partly unintelligible apparently from censorship. No previous news of a Portuguese ultimatum has come out of Lisbon).

Artillery in Revolt

Lisbon, Feb. 3.—Troops loyal to the Portuguese Government early today caused a revolt of two batteries of artillery after a night of siege.

The rebels massed their forces and guns in Almada across the Tagus river from Lisbon and fired on the city. Government forces quickly rallied to the defense and laid siege to the revolting forces. Finally the pressure against the rebels became so strong that they capitulated at 8 a. m. today.

ALL NIGHT SESSION OF THE DOMINION HOUSE WAS LIVELY, GOVERNMENT HAD CLOSE CALL

(Special to The Daily Mail.)
Ottawa, Feb. 3.—The King Government had the narrowest escape from defeat at four o'clock this morning, at the close of one of the most hectic sittings of Parliament in a decade. A motion for the adjournment of the debate made by J. L. Stansell, Conservative member for Elgin, was only defeated by a single vote. The majority of one was obtained by one of the whips who was frantically searching for stragglers, finding Miss Agnes MacPhail who voted with the Government. The five Progressive members who voted against the Government on the first Meighen motion again voted against the Government. These five Progressives were Campbell, Lucas, Carmichael, Boutillier and Fanshew. Had Ten Majority.

An earlier division gave the government a majority of ten. The second division came after H. R. Stevens, Conservative member for Vancouver Centre, had made sensational and grave charges against the government, charging that gross irregularities and flagrant violation of the laws had occurred in connection with the Customs Department, especially at Montreal, alleging that smugglers had defrauded the government out of not less than thirty million dollars. He charged that the frauds had been going on for a year and that the Prime Minister and Minister of Justice and the Minister of Marine knew that this condition existed. The Minister of Justice denied knowledge from his place in the House. Stevens named Bisaillo as the arch conspirator "the worst crooks and the confidence of Cabinet Ministers and the petted favorites of the government." The House will continue discussion of the alleged customs irregularities when it resumes its sitting this afternoon.

ANTIMONY IS NOW IN DEMAND

The following item appeared in a recent issue of the Financial Post: "Civil war in China has cut off the world's antimony supply and operators are looking to British Columbia to make up the shortage. There are extensive deposits in that province but only two properties have so far been worked to any extent. The cheap coolie labor in China has hitherto tended to keep prices down, British Columbia with her high production costs being unable to compete with the Oriental supply even in the United States, the largest consumer of antimony in the world. Under the changed conditions it is now hoped that many dormant properties will be revived.

(New Brunswick has very extensive deposits of antimony at Lake George, York County and it is pleasing to note that quite extensive development work is now being carried on by an American concern.)

M. S. Smith of Montreal is in the city today.

SAYS FACISM MUST SERVE IN THE MILITIA

Says It is Either in the Ranks or Get Out.

FORM OF QUASI-SERVITUDE

Movement Has Vastness of Tasks to Accomplish.

(Special to the Daily Mail by British United Press.)

Milan, Feb. 3.—Arnoldo Mussolini, brother of the Premier, today supported in an editorial in the Popolo D'Italia the recent command of the premier that Fascism must enlist in the militia.

"Fascism," he wrote, "Overcome disgruntled mentalities from within. Now it is faced with another form of quasi-servitude, namely that of tin soldiers and mock fighters. Reports from provincial meetings are very instructive, but this young movement has a vastness of tasks to accomplish and gentlemen, it is either into the ranks for you or get out."

Personal Animosities Were Aired Yesterday.

LEWIS BLAMES WARRINER

Proposition of Operators Was Not Correctly Stated.

(Special to the Daily Mail by British United Press.)

Philadelphia, Penn., Feb. 3.—An exchange of prepared statement in which personal animosities were aired marked the anthracite controversy today. President John L. Lewis of the United Miners, charged that he negotiating conference broke up yesterday because of the desire of Samuel D. Warriner, chairman of the anthracite operators conference, to exact his "Pound of Flesh."

Major W. W. Inglis, operators sub committee leader, retaliated with the charge that Lewis had not correctly stated the mine operators proposition to the 153,000 striking miners.

PREMIER HAS IDEA OF TUESDAY AS OPENING DAY

No Consideration Given by Government to the Date of Opening of House Yet.

Premier Baxter was asked today by a reporter of the Mail if there was any announcement concerning the date of the opening of the Legislature. His reply was that the Government had not given the matter consideration yet.

The premier went on to say that he had been considering the possibility of having the House open on Tuesday instead of Thursday which has been the customary day of the week for many years. He believed that early in the week considerable business might be transacted before adjournment for the week-end. This was his own idea, he explained, and nothing had been considered by the executive.
