Bermuda Rugby Team to Tour Maritimes in Fall

To Play Halifax Wanderers at Halifax October 23rd — Also to Meet Town and College Teams on Tour—Visitors Highly Spoken of.

In addition to the teams from outside the Maritime Provinces which may challenge for the MacTier Cup now held by the University of New Brunswick, games for which will have to be played in Fredericton, at least one other outstanding foreign rugby football aggregation will be seen in the Maritimes. It is a club from Bermuda. One date announced is Saturday, October 23rd, with the Wanderers at Halifax. The visiting club will tour the Provinces playing various college and town teams.

Halifax Comment.

The Halifax Chronicle comments as follows upon the matter: Rugby football fans throughout the city will be pleased to hear that arrangements have been completed to have the famous Bermuda football team appear at the Wanderers Grounds on Saturday, October 23 with the Reds. This team will also play Dalhousie, Acadia and other college teams during a tour of the Maritimes. Twenty-five players will be in the party and it is expected that a soccer team will be picked to meet the league leading local eleven.

Maoris Reported Also.

Last autumn it was reported that a Maori team would travel through Canada enroute to and from Great Britain where it is to play next winter. It was suggested that the New Zealanders might play in the Maritime Provinces.

HALIFAX HOCKEY CLUBS GET NEW ONES

(Halifax Chronicle)

Hockey fans will see at least two new faces when the 1927 season rolls along. Tony McLean, star ball player of New Glasgow High School team, Nova Scotia title holders, is an all-around athlete, having won individual honors in a Maritime Interscholastic athletic meet at Wolfville early this season.

Joe Nairn, crack defence man of last year's Stellarton A. P. C. Hockey outfit is also reported as having signed with the Crescents. Nairn was one of the real stars of the A. P. C. League last season and will be a big help to any local squad.

SPECIAL ATTRACTION AT GAIETY THEATRE

"Bride of the Storm" is the photo play at the Gaiety for Friday and Saturday featuring Dolores Costello. The story is all about a lovely young mother and her beautiful little daughter, first seen in their Maryland home. They embark on a long sea voyage which ends in a wreck. Mother and daughter are rescued by three terribly evil brothers who preside over the doubtful destinies of a lighthouse on an island in the Dutch East Indies. The concluding chapter of the Green Archer is also on the bill.

Visitor (to newly-wed)—So you are not getting tired of studio life eh?

Artist's Wife—Good gracious, no! It's most interesting. Jim paints and I cook. Then the game is to guess what the things are meant for.

Larry—Is Edna's father—er—Mr. Robinson at home?

Servant—Yes, sir. Just step in this way.

Larry—Er—I'll be back some other time.

THE WOMEN INVADE THE BARBER SHOPS

Chicago, Aug. 6.—The tears of man over woman's invasion of the barber shop are declared by the nation's beauty specialists in convention here, to be of the genus crocodile.

Because, they say, he is slipping around after hours, haunting feminine beauty parlors and paying unwilling operators more than do their women customers for every aid devised by the beauty culture profession.

One proof proffered at the American Cosmetics Society convention here is the fact that mere man used eight million dollars worth of hair dye last year, with other items in proportion. Men were charged with spending more time and money on their appearance than ever before. They have found beauty aids a vast help in a business world which puts a premium on good appearance and youth, it was claimed.

The barber shop of hair cuts, shaves and shines, the experts said, is a thing of the past. Tomorrow it will be a masculine beauty parlor.

The cosmeticians were interested in a statement by their president, Mrs. Nellie B. Cooper, that a wife's breakfast table toilet should occupy only six and one-half minutes. In that time, she can apply foundation cream, powder, rouge, lipstick and eyebrow pencil and eyelash brush, Mrs. Cooper said.

M. P. BRANCH A. A. U. OF CANADA IN SESSION

Doyle Again President — Moncton Protested Election of Stirling as Secretary — Pressing for Reinstatement.

Amherst, Aug. 5 — "Maritime Rights" in sport were introduced at the annual meeting of the Maritime Province Branch of the A. A. U. C., here today. A demand for improved recognition of the Maritime claims and contentions by the A. A. U. C. was the keynote of the meeting from the time President Doyle submitted his yearly report.

In this statement President Doyle criticized past Maritime officials for the lack of fight they had shown at the A. A. U. C. meetings. At the same time he raised the point that if these executive members had followed the voice of the Maritime clubs, scores of Maritime athletes now under the amateur ban would have received their cards and been readmitted to the amateur fold.

Correspondence Read.

Mr. Doyle also read a lengthy series of correspondence, conducted with Dr. Lamb and other A. A. U. C. officials in which he plainly showed that the peculiar situation in Maritime athletics was a thing unknown to the sport officials of Ontario, Quebec, the West and British Columbia. The report was received with applause and as a result the meeting took a firm stand for the reinstatement of Maritime athletes, who were in good standing in 1920, but who were since placed under the ban. The resolution was later presented by the resolutions committee and fully approved with the understanding that delegates appointed to attend the A. A. U. C. meeting in Saint John in September were to fight for the reinstatement of Maritime men.

Secretary Quigley.

J. Gordon Quigley retiring secretary treasurer stated that 2,094 athletes were registered in the Maritime Provinces while 115 clubs were affiliated. He gave a resume of sport conditions in the Maritimes, reviewing each sport.

He stressed the situation existing between the M. A. H. A. and the M. P. B., calling the attention of the delegates to the future of the M. A. H. A. and pleading with them to comply with the agreement pertaining to the payment of playoff moneys and 50 per cent of affiliation fees to the M. P. B.

Vote Challenged.

Samuel F. Doyle was re-elected to the presidency of the Maritime branch his second year in office. There was no opposition. W. E. Stirling of Saint John was elected, by a narrow margin of votes over Blakeney of Moncton. This appointment for the vice president caused the only real furore of the meeting. W. B. Keever of Moncton challenged the vote asking the delegates to produce their club credentials. He also contended that proxies were being used. After the matter had been discussed the vote was permitted to stand. H. A. MacQuarrie of Westville, was elected as Junior Vice President and L. B. MacMillan, of Charlottetown as secretary treasurer. A. D. Campbell of Sydney was named as Honorary Vice President, together with G. P. Bolton of Sussex. In the voting Mr. Campbell won the office.

"Yes, and her poor husband's fell when he got the bill"

"Have you any extravagances?"

"Yes; I wear a tie under my beard."

HUNNEFIELD OF WHITE SOX FOUND BY PAGE

Joe, the Ivory-hunter, Unearthed Him in Eastern Canada League Two Years Ago.

The Montreal Herald per Elmer W. Ferguson hands bouquets to the eminent ivory-hunter Joe Page whose search for baseball talent has at times brought him to our own fair city. The Herald discussed Page's discovery of "Honey" Hunnefield now making good with the Chicago White Sox. The comment is as follows:—

It looks as if the eminent Joseph Page, our fair city's lone remaining believer in the future of baseball here, and a notable contributor of ivory to the major leagues, has finally made a real contribution to the game.

Bill Hunnefield who played about every position there was on the Montreal Royals here two years ago when the Eastern Canada Baseball League was staggering along, has made good in sensational manner for the Chicago White Sox, and Joseph Page, who "discovered" the newest phenom, is entitled to throw out his chest each day the newspapers record some new and astounding feat of his protegee.

"Honey" as William Hunnefield was known in Montreal was born in Farmingham, Mass., twenty five years ago of a family long prominent in baseball.

Passed Up At First.

First attention was directed toward the youngster when he was in high school. Even at that time he gained recognition as an all around athlete. Industrial and twilight baseball in Mississippi was, however, his first step toward his present lofty position in the realm of baseball. It was during this period of his play that scouts of the Cleveland and Philadelphia American teams gave him the double-O and passed up one of the most sensational short stops that has broken into the majors in recent years.

The Eagle Eye.

Talents such as his did not, however, escape the eagle eye of Mr. Page when Hunnefield was brought here to act as short-stop for the Royals. Mr. Page used to travel to the ball-yard daily, so that the magnates were always certain of one spectator, and each day he used to view Mr. Hunnefield playing in a new position. In fact, Mr. Hunnefield changed positions as often as the League changed circuits, which was every day. He performed well as short stopping, first, second and third basing, right, left and centre fielding, threw a mean hook while pitching and hurled a neat snap to second when catching. Mr. Page declared on signing Hunnefield for the White Sox that if Mr. Hunnefield didn't make a phenomenal short-stop, he would at least be the most versatile player in the Mr. Page's experience, which is quite some experience. The White Sox farmed the versatile Mr. Hunnefield to the Pennsylvania and Pacific Coast leagues in turn and the rough ivory having been smoothed off by this process, took him back as a star, to the unbounded joy of Mr. Page.

His Assets.

Prominent among Hunnefield's assets in addition to his ability to play all positions more or less well are the following: Speed, natural hitting ability, keen and rapid judgment on the field and a rifle throwing arm. He has made use of these assets to lead the American League in base stealing, to pound the horsehide with vim enough to elevate himself to the select .300 company.

With all that he is but twenty-five years of age and therefore has many years of productive baseball ahead of him.

Lastly, to bring testimony to bear, Eddie Collins, who should know a baseball player by this time, classified "Honey" as the best shortstop who ever donned spikes for the White Sox, which makes Eddie Collins and Joe Page unanimous.
