WHERE COURTESY PAYS.

Chicago's health commissioner advises people to be courteous to their bodies, to the bodily organs on which health is dependent.

Discourtesy to one's eyes, the doctor points out, includes reading in a bad light and the neglect of proper periods of rest. The molar's one request is that it be kept clean enough to permit unobstructed performance of its daily duties. The lungs would appreciate sufficient air and exercise, while the heart and stomach will succumb completely by the lack of courtesy that cripples them by too much work, lack of proper rest, and neglect of diseases that pour their poisons into these organs.

This sounds like good advice to persons who want to be ladylike and gentlemanly. It seems that all these organs, which are indispensable, should be treated as politely and with as much consideration as is given the traffic officer.

HAS BEEN CONSISTENT.

While all may not see eye to eye with Hon. Mr. Tilley in regard to the best method of dealing with the Liquor Problem, he must be given credit for possessing the courage of his convictions. He was one of two members to stand up in the Legislature and oppose the Intoxicating Liquor Act in 1916. The electors of St. John knew exactly where he stood on the question, prior to the last election, and although he did not have the endorsement of the Temperance Alliance, which many candidates appeared to value highly, he was elected by an overwhelming majority. Hon. Mr. Tilley is in favor of government control of the liquor traffic and he does not care who knows it. His attitude towards the liquor problem has been consistent all the way through.

Hon. Mr. Tilley, president of the Executive Council, contributed an able and interesting speech to the debate on the address in the Legislature yesterday. He spoke to crowded galleries and naturally his speech made a splendid impression. Not only did he reply effectively to criticisms levelled at the new administration but carried the war into Africa, by charging extravagance against the former administration, and condemning its policy with respect to prohibition and hydro development. He made out a good case for the administration and merited the hearty applause which greeted his utterances from time to time.

Premier Baxter assured the members of the Trades and Labor Council yesterday that the Workmen's Compensation Act would not be weakened by the present administration. While the act may have some enemies they are not to be found in the ranks of the working men of the province.

This is the first session of the Legislature in ten years which finds an overflow of government supporters at the left of the Speaker. In the last House the Farmer and Opposition members took up all the space on the speakers left while the Labor members and Independents sat on the government's side.

Hon. Mr. Tilley in the course of an able speech in the Legislature yesterday dissected the contract entered into by the late government in connection with the Grand Falls project, and incidentally presented some facts which should be of deep interest to the public at the present time.

Premier Baxter did not beat around the bush in the remarks he made before the Trades and Labor Council yesterday but went straight to the point. He was quite right when he said that the trouble at the Minto Coal Mines was largely due to the one Big Union idea.

The debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne in the Legislature should not be unduly prolonged. The business of the country should not be delayed by long speeches criticizing the acts of a government which has only been in power six months.

Party leaders in the Legislature should warn their followers against the danger of becoming inebriated with the exuberance of their own verbosity.

partment of public service. The Province was faced by heavy indebtedness to which large additions must be made to cover the floating debt. Every addition to the bond issue lessened the revenue of the Province which could be devoted to public services. In one way and another demands had been made on the public. The Government was earnestly studying the possibility of finding other sources of revenue. The policy would be to meet current expenditure out of current revenue until the province could succeed in balancing revenue and expenditure.

Action with regard to Old Age Pensions and Mothers' Allowance would have to be deferred although for humanitarian reasons he was thoroughly in sympathy. In regard to Old Age Pensions it would be necessary to ascertain first what action the Dominion contemplated. Mothers' Allowances could be considered as soon as the financial problem could be disposed of.

Hours of Labor.

With regard to the resolution upon the hours of labor in the various sections of the lumbering industry the Premier said that investigation by the Ministers of Lands and Mines and the Minister of Health would be undertaken. The same would be done with regard to Minimum Wage for Male Workers legislation.

VERDICT FOR PLAINTIFF.

Damages to Amount of $1,465 For Coleman With Costs to Monahan.

A verdict for $1,465 in favor of the plaintiff with costs against the defendant was brought in by the jury Wednesday afternoon in the suit of S. L. C. Coleman et al vs T. V. Monahan. The jury went out at 11:45 a. m. and came in with the verdict shortly before three o'clock.

The suit originally was for $3,800 but the famous "Coleman frog" was included in that amount at a value of $500. That frog having been returned to the Barker House a deduction was made. The action was brought for damage to the premises and the loss of certain articles upon the expiration of the lease of T. V. Monahan when he took over the Queen Hotel.

The suit was tried before Mr. Justice Byrne and a jury. Hanson & Dougherty of Fredericton and J. H. F. Teed of Saint John appeared for defence and P. J. Hughes, K. C., for the plaintiffs.

An appeal is said to be possible.

Mr. J. A. Calder left last evening on a trip to New York.
