AN EPOCH MAKING EVENT IN THE HISTORY OF PROVINCE

town. North End resident, was chairman. He was dressed in a slick tweed suit and panama hat. He introduced the galaxy of distinguished guests, and mentioned his fourteen years' occupancy of the town's chief magistracy which elicited loud acclaim from the people who knew him well. It was a fitting climax to a useful career for the mayor, though his tenure of office is still probably long to continue.

Sir Douglas Hazen, Chief Justice of N. B., Hon. Dr. Manion, Postmaster General, were among those who arrived during the progress of the luncheon and were given seats at the table with other distinguished guests.

The Speech Making

The luncheon over the party repaired to a large stand erected at a point a few rods further down the river, and from which the speech making took place. Mayor Collins was chairman and seated on the platform with him were Lieut. Governor Todd, Premier Baxter, Hon. Raymond Fellows, Attorney General of Maine, Hon. R. J. Manion, Postmaster General of Canada, Hon. George B. Jones, Minister of Labor, Hon. L. P. D. Tilley, A. R. Graustein, President of the International Paper Company, Sir Douglas Hazen, Hon. J. L. O'Brien, speaker of the Legislature, Lieut. Col. Keeffe, A. D. C., Hon. A. E. Reilly, Donald Fraser, F. B. Edgecombe and others.

During the progress of the speech making the band stationed nearby rendered "The National Anthem", "America", "My Own Canadian Home", "Oh, Canada", "The Maple Leaf Forever", and "The Star Spangled Banner". As the weather was rather sultry and the speakers stood bareheaded and facing a blazing sun, none spoke at any great length. The program did not extend much over an hour.

Many Politicians Present

Among the public men who attended the proceedings were Premier Baxter and Hon. Messrs. Richards, Tilley, Smith, Reilly and Leger of the Executive Council, R. B. Hanson, Hon. J. K. Fleming, Dr. Murray MacLaren and Arthur Culligan, former members of the Federal Parliament, and Messrs. O'Brien, Heckbert, Lavoie, and Holmes of Northumberland, Peck of Albert, Siddall, Oulton and Wood of Westmorland, Guptill of Charlotte, Murray and Smith of Kings, Melville and Squires of Carleton, Niles and Davis of Victoria, Atkinson and Taylor of Sunbury, Grant and Scott of York, Lewis, Agar and Harrison of Saint John, McKenzie of St. Stephen-Milltown, all members of the Legislative Assembly. Other visitors included Mayor Clark and wife of Fredericton, Mayor Neill and wife of Devon, Warden Paine and wife of Sunbury and Warden Cowperthwaite of the Municipality of York.

President Graustein of the International Paper Company, who journeyed from New York to attend the ceremony and joined the special train at McAdam, was accompanied by Owen Shepherd, treasurer of the Company, Neil C. Head, assistant to the president, and F. A. Afferman, secretary to the president. The party returned home last evening.

Movie Men Busy

Messrs. F. C. Badgley and S. Hallebone, of the Dominion Motion Picture Bureau of the Department of the Interior, were present in company with Mr. W. E. Golding of the Imperial Theatre, Saint John and secured excellent moving pictures of the ceremony. They photographed the falls at every angle, and also filmed the guests at luncheon and took views of the grandstand and the different speakers. These gentlemen, who are regarded as the cleverest movie operators in the Dominion, drove from Fredericton to Grand Falls last week by car and took many excellent views of river scenery. Last evening they planted their camera on the rear of the observation car of the special train leaving Grand Falls, and used up several thousand feet of film during the run down to Woodstock. Arrangements will be made to have the pictures shown through the province in the autumn. "You have some of the finest scenery in the world along the St. John River" Mr. Bradley told the Mail, "and photos cannot do justice to it."

A DeLuxe Special

The visitors from Saint John and Fredericton who travelled by train were the guests of the Saint John River Power Company, a subsidiary of the International Paper Company, and were right royally entertained. A deluxe special consisting of an observation car, eight passenger coaches and two diners and drawn by a double header, was placed at their disposal. Mr. J. M. Woodman, the district superintendent, and Mr. C. S. Cameron, travelling passenger agent, made the trip on the train and were indefatigable in looking after the welfare of the passengers. The train went through on schedule time and made only a few stops. Coffee, toast and Canada Dry Ginger Ale was served on the up trip and in the evening a course dinner was served in that excellent style for which the C. P. R. dining car chefs are noted. The train was in charge of Conductor C. Percy Jennings, who was assisted by Brakeman Howard Nason, Edward Sloat and L. S. Nixon. The engineers were Charles Hall and Edward Smith, with Moses Holmes and Charles Stewart as firemen. No New Brunswick people ever travelled in this province on a finer train with more efficient service.

Many Went by Auto

It is estimated that at least two thousand people who made the trip to Grand Falls yesterday, travelled by auto. At one time there were at least six hundred cars, many of which bore Maine number plates, parked on the grounds and about the streets. Governor Todd and wife journeyed by auto from their home in St. Stephen, and among those who drove by car from this city were Hon. R. J. Manion who had for a companion R. B. Hanson, K. C. The Countess of Ashburnham and a party of friends also made the trip from this city by auto. The roads are in excellent condition and motorists were able to make the run in five hours.

LARGE CROWD LISTENED TO FINE SPEECHES

A spirit of optimism and international good will characterized the speeches delivered at the celebration in connection with the inauguration of water power development at Grand Falls yesterday. A crowd estimated at three thousand people, listened and gave hearty applause to the sentiments expressed. The list of speakers included Lieut. Governor Todd, Premier J. B. M. Baxter, Hon. Raymond Fellows of Maine, Hon. R. J. Manion, Postmaster General, President Graustein of the International Paper Company and Hon. George B. Jones, Minister of Labor.

NATURALIZATION CARRIED OUT BY KU KLUX KLAN

The Ceremonial

Until the naturalization ceremonial members of the order were not robed or hooded. The wish was expressed that the press use no names in connection with the matter the identity of many of the robed figures was known to spectators however. In fact some at times made no attempt to keep the masks over their faces.

Light for the ceremonial was secured from the lights of cars parked on three sides of a roped-off square about seventy-five yards on each side. The four crosses were outside some distance from the corners of the square. A stand was erected inside at each corner of the square an official taking his stand on each. The altar was placed in the centre draped with a Canadian ensign with a Canadian ensign standing beside it also. The Canadian flag was the only one displayed with the exception of an American flag which flew from a halyard with a Canadian flag outside the square.

Members of the order took their stand facing inwards forming four sides of a square within the roped enclosure. Four mounted men and others afoot patrolled the space outside the inner square. The horses were recognized as from local stables. All were covered with Klan trappings. The "aliens" were presented by the Knight Hawk and with the lower parts of their faces masked but not wearing robes they went through the ceremonial which culminated with the administration of the Klan oath around the altar. As the candidates knelt they were sprinkled by one of the officers. The final incident was a combined rush of the members forming the square inwards toward the altar where the new members were applauded by hand-clapping. Cheers were then given for Woodstock and Fredericton.

The engagement is announced of Miss Marjorie E. Hanson to Edward C. Akerley of St. John the wedding to take place in September.

STRATEGY OF CURRIE BLASTED GERMAN HOPES

(Toronto Globe, Monday.)

Eight years ago yesterday the Canadian Corps—with the First French Army on the right and the Australian Corps on the left—wrote for Germany what Ludendorff, in his memoirs, terms "the black day for the German Army in the history of the war."

Aug. 8, 1918 saw the beginning of the Battle of Amiens; Aug. 17 saw its completion, in so far as the Canadians were concerned. Between those dates the Canadian Corps, at a cost of 11,362 killed, wounded and missing, all ranks penetrated 14 miles of German ground liberated 67 square miles of territory, and captured 9,131 prisoners, 190 guns, 1,040 machine guns and trench mortars, 11 steam railway engines and 5 pigeon lofts. In the 10 days' fighting the corps directly engaged 11 and partially engaged 4 enemy divisions.

End Glimpsed at Last.

The Amiens shove aimed at the reduction of the Amiens salient and the restoration to allied possession of the old defense line of 1917. But before the sun of Aug. 8 had set on the rolling country of little woods and unfenced grain fields through which the Canadians advanced, the fact had been revealed to the allied Command that German morale had ebbed to a pitifully low standard, and that bringing the war to a successful end in 1918 was within the bounds of not only possibility, but probability as well. And thus began the last 100 days.

Greater secrecy prevailed in preparations for the Battle of Amiens than possibly for any other battle in which the Canadians participated. That secrecy is a story in itself—a story that never will be done full justice. Out of the wealth of strategy that shaped the success that was Canada's, and Australia's and France's in the ten days' fighting, a strategic move of Canada's Currie looms predominant.

Gossip That Won a Victory.

The Second British Army in Flanders had been expecting a German offensive. Currie let his Canadians know they might be going north to Kemmel any time. Men naturally talked. Currie sent two casualty clearing stations—fully equipped—into Flanders. The nurses talked, as women will. He next despatched a couple of power transmission stations to Flanders. These talked in dot-dash language—but in easily decoded terms, and the Germans learned that the Canadians were on their way. Lastly, Currie sent two Canadian battalions—the 27th and the 4th C.M.R.—to the Flanders line. These battalions talked "Canuck" in various ways—until they returned to the corps two nights before the Amiens battle.

Did the strategy work?

"Why," said an amazed German staff officer, at noon of Aug. 8, on spotting the battle-patches of his captors, "where did you Canadians come from? We thought you were in front of Kemmel."
