Tennis Championships Away to a Good Start

Some Good Matches Played on Tuesday — Dance Was Held Last Night for the Visiting Players.

With only two courts in playing condition good progress was made Tuesday in getting off the first rounds in all events of the New Brunswick tennis championships, 18 matches having been completed during the day. Ideal August weather prevailed and a large gallery turned out to encourage the participants who are battling for provincial tennis honors, and the grounds of the Fredericton Tennis Club presented a gay appearance.

Several good matches were played, among them being the one in which Lloyd Keating, of Moncton, junior champion, won from J. V. McEvoy, Dalhousie ace in straight sets. The match in which Chestnut and Miss Feeney defeated Mersereau and Miss O'Neill was productive of good tennis and considerable interest was evoked by the only men's doubles event of the day, in which E. H. Marshall and W. M. Marshall won from Dr. Small and D. W. Wallace.

In the evening the visiting players were guests of the local tennis club at an informal dance.

The results of Tuesday morning's play:
