HERBERT C. HOOVER ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES BY A BIG MAJORITY

New York, Nov. 7.—Herbert Hoover was yesterday elected President of the United States, with Charles Curtis as Vice-President. Returns, so far, are incomplete, but constantly increasing majorities in state after state leave little doubt of a Republican sweep. Democratic hopes of capturing New York State, with its 45 electoral college votes, faded as Hoover pluralities from up-state precincts began to roll in.

Smith carried New York City by 350,000 plurality, but was swamped by the up-state vote. At a late hour last night Ottinger, Republican, was leading Franklin Roosevelt in the race for the Governorship of New York.

Governor Smith had hoped to make New York State the nucleus of an inroad into the normally Republican states of New England and along the Atlantic coast. The endeavor failed as the Democrats failed to secure the LaFollette vote of the Middle West. Only in states south of Mason and Dixon's line—the states of the solid Democratic south—did Governor Smith's position seem to be secure.

Early this morning Hoover was leading not only in border states which four years ago went Republican, he was leading also in Oklahoma and Tennessee, two border states which in the last presidential election recorded Democratic majorities.

And not only did Republicans win the fight for president and vice-president, indications are that they will obtain a firmer grip in Congress. At present they have no clear majority in the Senate. Incomplete returns indicate a Republican gain of several seats.

Increased Majority.

Prospects that the Republicans would increase their present plurality of votes in the Senate and retain a working majority in the House were evident at midnight as returns from the election slowly followed the presidential results.

At that time one upset in favor of the Democrats had been registered for the House, but it was offset by the election of a Republican to a seat now held by a Democrat.

Of the twenty Democratic Senate seats involved in the election, the Republican candidate was ahead in five states. These included the seats now held by Bayard of Delaware, Edwards of New Jersey, Neely of West Virginia, Gerry of Rhode Island, and Locher of Ohio. The latter is not up for re-election.

Four other Democrats, however, King, of Utah; Bruce, of Maryland; Walsh, of Massachusetts, and Pittman, of Nevada, were ahead on the early returns.

Leading Democrats.

In the case of most of the 13 Republican seats, the candidates of that party were leading their Democratic opponents.

Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, the Republican leader in the House, was among the first whose election was assured. Two other Republican stalwarts of the House, Snell, of New York, chairman of the rules committee, and Dempsey, of New York, chairman of the House rivers and harbors committee, also were re-elected.

In Indiana, Louis Ludlow, the Democratic candidate defeated representative Updike who sought re-election, and in New York, James L. Whitely, Republican, successfully contested with Charles Stanton, Democrat, for the seat now held by a Democrat not up for re-election.

Three Republican Senators had been re-elected: Reed, of Pennsylvania; Johnson, of California, and Green of Vermont.

Two Democrats were returned without contests: Swanson, of Virginia, and Stephens, of Mississippi.

Congratulates Hoover.

New York, Nov. 6.—Governor Alfred E. Smith, defeated candidate, sent the following telegram to Herbert Hoover:

"I congratulate you heartily on your victory and extend to you my sincere good wishes for your health and happiness and for the success of your administration.

(Signed) "ALFRED E. SMITH."

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—Herbert Hoover, Republican nominee, took a lead in the Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast states when the first returns were tabulated.

California, Hoover's home state, gave him a vote of more than two to one and the majority continued to swell as the ballots were counted.

Oregon's first returns showed Hoover ahead by three to one.

Utah gave Hoover a slight lead.

Idaho voted nearly two to one for Hoover on first returns.

Colorado's first returns gave Hoover a two to one lead.

Wyoming's first reports showed a lead of nearly two to one for Hoover.

New Mexico gave Hoover two to one on first returns.

Arizona limited reports showed a close race, 17 out of 462 precincts giving Hoover 1,125; Smith, 1,046.

Nevada first gave Smith a lead, but later returns placed Hoover ahead by a comfortable majority.

Montana showed a close race with Hoover slightly ahead.

Washington gave Hoover a lead in early returns.

MUCH INTEREST HERE IN THE U. S. ELECTION NEWS

Smith was sure of New York, but along towards midnight the vote in the state had brought the candidates neck and neck, and soon afterwards Hoover went into the lead.

The Democrats had the advantage in the early returns from Rhode Island, Massachusetts and Connecticut, but by midnight these states were converted to Hoover.

West for Hoover

When President Wilson ran his last election in 1920 it was the California vote, which did not come in until the following morning that decided the winner of the contest. On Pacific coast the people got the returns from the East before their own polls are closed. This morning at one o'clock the first returns came in from California and showed a big lead for Hoover. Returns from other Pacific coast states and also from the northwest showed that the Republicans were sweeping all before them. By 1.30 o'clock it was apparent to listeners in that Smith had not carried a single state outside of the South.

The election returns were sent out by short wave lengths to all European countries, as well as to Australia. Probably never before was there such a successful exhibition of news dissemination in the history of the world.

Efficient Service

Great credit for the highly efficient manner in which the returns were made available to the people is due to the National Broadcasting Company as well as to the three news collecting agencies. The chief announcer at station WEAJ proved himself to be a genius and his work was singularly free from partisan taint. He explained that he was a resident of the district of Columbia where the people do not have the privilege of the franchise and are thus non-partisan.

SELECT YOUR WIFE BY HER TWO FEET

Chicago, Nov. 7.—"Select your wife by her feet," and "when picking a soul mate, make it a 'sole' mate," was the advice given to future bridegrooms by Dr. Maurice R. Udell at the annual convention of the Illinois Association of Chiropodists, in Chicago.

Cramped toes and fallen arches signifying a girl is high-strung and a jazz type, who will persist in having a gay time even though married, according to Dr. Udell.

"The girl with cramped toes is invariably the cabaret type," Dr. Udell said. "If a young man wants a home-loving wife he ought to be certain the girl he has in mind doesn't cramp her feet with shoes that aren't made to comfort."

Two Verdicts Yesterday

Two decrees of divorce were ordered at the afternoon session of the court yesterday. Doris Mae Coughle secured a divorce from her husband, James Coughle and the other decree was to Harriet F. Scoville from her husband, Edward A. Scoville. Both of these cases are from St. John. In the former, the defendant was charged with bigamous marriage to one, Olive Urquhart. In the Scoville action, the husband was charged with infidelity and an offence against his own daughter.

The other case taken up yesterday afternoon was that of Fannie Jacobson vs. Morris Jacobson. The parties are Jewish in extraction and are from St. John. Unfaithfulness is the grounds for the divorce action. The court decided that additional evidence is necessary in the case.
