

Great Outpouring of Votes In U. S. Looked for Tuesday

Before Another Nightfall the American People Will Have Chosen the Man to Rule Over the Country for the Next Four Years—Between 30,000,000 and 40,000,000 Votes Likely to be Cast.

(By RAYMOND CLAPPER, United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, N. Y., Nov. 5—By another nightfall the American people will have chosen the man who is to rule their destinies for the next four years.

The fates of Herbert Hoover and Alfred E. Smith, probably have already been decided in the minds of the voters. It only remains for the votes to be cast and counted. Tuesday will see the greatest outpouring of American voters in history. Election officials will be heavily taxed in most places.

The count may be late in coming in many localities for this reason, although it may be that the results will be known before midnight Tuesday. Between 35,000,000 and 40,000,000 votes are expected to be cast as against the 29,000,000 in 1924 the previous record.

Gov. Alfred E. Smith will end his presidential campaign today with a husky voice and an unconquered spirit.

Self Made Man

The drama of the Presidential race one of the most exciting in many years overshadows everything else in this impending election. The choice for the highest office—as befits the tradition of a democratic nation—lies between two men who started at the bottom of the ladder and rose by sheer superiority, one starting as an Iowa orphan, shipped about among relatives until he found the road that has led him while still a young man to wealth and world eminence, the other beginning as the son of a poverty stricken teamster on the lower east side of New York, who sold papers and fish and eventually became the most popular governor New York ever had. Both started from scratch and both finally came face to face in a grapple for the nation's highest honor but by widely diverse routes.

WINTER FAIR IS GOING ON AT AMHERST

Amherst, N. S., Nov. 4—A driving rain had a serious effect upon the attendance at the Maritime Winter Fair for the opening Saturday afternoon and evening, but officials were quite confident today that there would be a capacity crowd present tomorrow, particularly at the formal opening on Monday night to be conducted by Lieut. Governor Tory, of Halifax, Mayor C. C. Black of Amherst and A. E. Trites of Salisbury, president of the Maritime Stock Breeders' Association will also give addresses of welcome.

Lieut. Governor Tory will arrive in Amherst tomorrow noon accompanied by his aide de camp, Colonel Almon of Halifax. He will be entertained to luncheon at the home of Charles H. Read and will then be taken on a motor tour of Amherst and the surrounding district. A reception in his behalf will be held at the Marshlands Club between the hours of 5 and 6 o'clock, while the citizens of the town will tender him a banquet in the Winter Fair building at 6.30 p. m.

It looks as if Mr. Herbert J. Hoover was going to win the election in the United States tomorrow largely because it seems to be impossible for him to lose it.

GOVERNMENT URGED TO WIPE OUT BANDITRY

(Special cable to THE DAILY MAIL by the British United Press.)
Shanghai, Nov. 5—The Chinese press has demanded that the Nanking Government take action in wiping out banditry which has grown to alarming proportions in many provinces. The governments attention was called to the plight of Fuyang. Razed by bandits in 1917, reports said this city was again ravaged three weeks ago by a force of 3,000 brigands who killed, raped, and robbed and were alleged to have burned children alive. The land about the city was left desolate and corpses were scattered about everywhere.

Staaken Aerodrome, Berlin, Nov. 5—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin arrived and was landed at the flying field here at 9.45 a. m. today after a seven hour flight from Friedrichshafen, Germany, her home port.

THE LATE MRS. J. S. ARMSTRONG SERVED AS A SCHOOL TEACHER UNDER SIR GEORGE R. PARKIN

Was One of the First Ladies to Engage in High School Teaching in New Brunswick — Given the Honorary Degree of M. A. by the U. N. B. in Recognition of Her Services.

To the immediate relatives and her circle of friends, narrowed now by the passage of time, the death of Mrs. J. S. Armstrong has come as a distinct loss and they have indeed cause to mourn their bereavement. To many others, however, the news of her death will call up feelings of distinct sorrow and regret, for they will remember her as the teacher who awakened within them a genuine taste for literature and good reading, as one who taught them lasting good in the old Collegiate School of Fredericton. In their behalf, it seems fitting that more than a passing notice should be taken of her death.

Mrs. Armstrong was the daughter of the late John Gregory who was born of a distinguished Edinburgh family and who came to New Brunswick from Scotland in the early part of the nineteenth century. Mr. Gregory was associated with the Department of Education of N. B. throughout his life and he was one of the first Inspectors of Schools sent out by the Government of that day to report upon the condition of the schools of N. B. at that time. Mrs. Armstrong was one of a family of twelve children, eight sons and four daughters, all of whom received the best education which the Province afforded. Of the sons of the family, seven of them passed through the old Collegiate School and in succession obtained prizes and distinctions in that Institution. All of these occupied prominent positions in the life of their native Province or in the U. S.

Assisted by G. R. Parkin.

It was natural that Miss Gregory should turn to the work of teaching. Her sister was already employed in the first Normal School established in Fredericton. Preparation for the work of teaching at that time was not an easy matter. The old Collegiate School was not then open to young ladies and her education, in a large measure, had to be private, but it was none the less thorough and was, in later years, supplemented by a course at Wellesley College. When, therefore, the re-organization of the Collegiate School was accomplished and girls as well as boys were admit-

MILLIONAIRE GAMBLER SHOT ON THE STREET

Arnold Rothstein Now in a N. Y. Hospital— Seriously Wounded.

IS RATHER CLOSE MOUTHED

The Shooting as Mysterious as the Life He Led

(Special to THE DAILY MAIL by the British United Press.)

New York, Nov. 5—Arnold Rothstein, leader of New York's gambling set, today paid in part for a grievance someone had against him as he lay in Polytechnic Hospital, seriously wounded after being shot last night.

The shooting of Rothstein was almost as mysterious as the life the 40 year old gambler has led.

He staggered into the Park Central Hotel shortly before midnight. "I'm shot, get me a taxi-cab" he mumbled to the starter. Instead an ambulance was ordered and he was removed to the hospital. He refused to comment on who had shot him in the abdomen, the reason for the shooting, or any of the circumstances.

Last Session of the Present Parliament Will Open Tomorrow

The Baldwin Government Will Stage Nothing of a Surprising Nature Until the Budget is Brought Down in April—Some Contentious Legislation is on the Program.

LONDON, Nov. 5—The last session of Parliament before the general election opens tomorrow, and it is the government's intention to not stage anything surprising until the budget is brought down next April—a budget that will be designed to catch votes at the election which is expected in June.

One of the most contentious measures, which has already aroused Labor, is the introduction of a bill authorizing a merger between cable and wireless companies, to which Canada and the other Dominions have already assented, though this assent has not diminished the opposition of Ramsay MacDonald and others, in spite of the fact that many attempts have been made to secure a withdrawal of this opposition on the ground that the measure is now an imperial one.

MRS. HART WAS CONGRATULATED BY THE PREMIER

King's County Lady is Highly Commended on the Work of Champion Barred Rock Layer.

Saint John, Nov. 5—The success achieved by the Plymouth Rock hen belonging to Mrs. Edward Hart of Grand Bay, Kings County in hanging up a new official record for that breed of fowl in the Dominion has not escaped the notice of Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, Premier of New Brunswick. Last week the Premier on learning the result of the contest forwarded the following letter of congratulation to Mrs. Hart:

Saint John, N. B.,
November 2, 1928.

Mrs. Edward Hart, Grand Bay, Kings County, N. B.

My dear Mrs. Hart:

As Premier of the province it is always a great pleasure to me to learn of our people achieving outstanding success in their particular lines of endeavor, therefore it is scarcely necessary to tell you that my interest has been aroused by the announcement that you have carried off the premier honors in the New Brunswick egg laying contest, lately completed at the Fredericton Experimental Station. Please accept my hearty congratulations on your success in winning the silver cup, donated by Messrs. W. H. Thorne & Company, Limited, of this city, as a prize to the owner of the pen producing the greatest number of eggs of standard weight. Let me also congratulate you on another and a more notable achievement, and one which I believe will bring renown to yourself and to the province. I have reference to the very pleasing fact that the high line bird in your pen at Fredericton by producing 332 eggs within the calendar year has chalked up a new official trap nest egg laying record for the whole Dominion of Canada.

When it is considered that the average annual egg production of hens on the farms of Canada does not exceed 80 eggs per bird, your surely have reason to be proud, as I am sure we all are, of your success as a breeder of high producing Plymouth Rock poultry.

I am sure that the efforts which the Provincial Government are now putting forth to secure a desirable class

WOLFVILLE HAS A CHURCH NOW 150 YEARS OLD

Anniversary Service Was Held Yesterday With the Rev. Dr. J. H. MacDonald as the Preacher.

Wolfville, N. S., Nov. 4—The Wolfville Baptist church today celebrated the 150th anniversary of its organization which occurred on Oct. 29th, 1778, with appropriate services.

At the morning service the sesquicentennial sermon was preached by Rev. J. H. MacDonald, D. D., C. B. E., pastor of the church from 1919 to 1924. His subject was "The Present Perfecting the Past" in which he traced the early history of the people of the surrounding country, the founding of the first Baptist church at Horton (now Wolfville), the principles for which they stood and the challenge to those of the present day to perfect the work begun by the early fathers.

The church of 1778 was organized with a membership of ten and Rev. Nicholas Pierson was ordained as pastor. Henry Ailine, a Congregational evangelist, preached the ordination sermon. Within the original territory covered by the first Horton church, there are now more than twenty five Baptist churches.

Oldest in Canada

The Wolfville Baptist church is generally regarded as the oldest Baptist church in Canada and the pastors during the 150 years were Rev. Nicholas Pierson, Rev. Theodore S. Harding, Rev. Stephen W. DeBlois, D. D., Rev. Thomas A. Higgins, D. D., Rev. Thomas Trotter, D. D., Rev. Hugh R. Hatch, Rev. Lewis D. Morse, Rev. E. W. Webster, D. D., Rev. G. O. Gates (acting pastor), Rev. N. A. Harkness, Rev. J. H. MacDonald, D. D., C. B. E., and the present pastor, Rev. A. N. Marshall, D. D.

of settlers from the British Isles will be given a stimulus by your splendid work in demonstrating that no land on earth excels New Brunswick when it comes to raising poultry of a type that lays and pays.

Again congratulating you, and wishing you continued success, I am, my dear Mrs. Hart,

Yours very sincerely,
JOHN B. M. BAXTER.
