Snowstorms Prevalent

Conditions throughout the province as regards weather are about the same as in Fredericton. A citizen who attempted to drive his automobile from this city to Grand Falls within the last couple of days says that the roads are completely blocked in some places, owing to the recent snow storms. The gentleman referred to was unable to make the trip on account of the drifts and was forced to return.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT COMING SOON REGARDING THE VALLEY RAILWAY SAYS HON. MR. VENIOT

Saint John, Jan. 19—The Federal Government's policy with regard to the Valley Railway and the matter of a bounty to the Sydney steel plant would be divulged in a few weeks in a manner that would make every Maritimer proud, according to a statement made on Wednesday night by Hon. Dr. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster General, at a banquet tendered in his honor by the Liberals of the constituency of Saint

HON. P. J. VENIOT.
Postmaster General of Canada.

John-Albert. All the other recommendations of the Duncan Report had been implemented, he said.

The Postmaster General spoke for about three hours before a gathering which practically filled the Georgian Ballroom of the Admiral Beatty Hotel. He covered many subjects in his address, including a defence of the Canadian National Railway in regard to its action in the matter of freight rates. Incidentally, he condemned the utterances of Hon. Dr. J. B. M. Baxter, Premier of New Brunswick, and of L. W. Simms, President of the Saint John Board of Trade, in connection with the railway question, and the matter of the carrying out of the recommendations of the Duncan Report.

He congratulated the people of Saint John for the stand they took on the nationalization of the harbor.

Following the toast to the King, that to the guest of the evening was followed by the singing of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Dr. Curren, in introducing Hon. Dr. Veniot, expressed his pleasure with the fine attendance of representatives from the various counties beside the large number from the constituency of Saint John and Albert. He attributed the excellent showing to two reasons: the public esteem for the Postmaster General and the splendid spirit of Liberalism existing throughout New Brunswick.

Hon. Dr. Veniot.

Hon. Dr. Veniot, upon arising, said: "I have no hesitation in declaring that this is the greatest pleasure of my public life of more than 33 years. As I look over the festive board and see every county represented it makes me willing to wipe out all of the past trouble and tribulation. The road of the public man is not always decked with roses; in fact the ups and downs are such that at times it was sometimes wished that one had never entered the field."

The cases of true Liberalism, he declared, made the public man forget his troubles. He referred humorously to two serious troubles which he had experienced in getting to the banquet when, owing to difficulties in the train service, he had been delayed at two points. The Canadian National Railway, he said, had placed at his disposal a special train so that he had been enabled to reach the city for the event, although a little late. The C. N. R., he declared, that he had a very important message of what was still in store for the people, to lay before them.

He thanked the Liberal executive of Saint John-Albert for the opportunity of delivering his message before such a representative gathering, in which, he said, he was pleased to note many of the younger men.

Hopes For Fusion.

He expressed his regrets that the commercial metropolis of New Brunswick—Saint John—was not represented in the House of Commons at Ottawa. He congratulated the other parts of the province for their co-operation and expressed the hope that this gathering would so cement the old party that when the time came, they could count for eight representatives out of the 11 instead of five.

Hon. Dr. Veniot criticized the Saint John press. The newspapers, he declared, had been unfair; they claimed to maintain an independent policy, but he charged that the projects of the Conservative party were to the fore always, while the aims and objects of the Liberals were crammed into some small inconspicuous corner. He said he favored the organization of a true Liberal press, which would stand up for the party both in season and out of season. He said that such a move would receive his backing.

When he stood in parliament to advocate the rights of the Maritime Provinces, he continued, he would have been proud to have had two stalwart Liberals to back him up in his claims.

Canada's Position.

The records of the Liberal party would show, he said, which party was responsible for the present proud position which Canada occupied today among the nations of the world.

"Does Canada enjoy prosperity," he queried. "Take the words of bankers, and other business men throughout the Dominion. Their unanimous answer is, 'Canada has gone over the top.' She is the only country today which has been able to reduce the taxation and the tariff, the income tax and the sales tax, not to mention the reduction of the public debt, he said.

Sketches History.

From 1867 to the present time, the Postmaster General continued, there had been 48 years of strict party government and of these 28 years were Liberal administration. The present prosperity of the Dominion was due to the Liberal party, he declared, for every time that a crisis had arisen, it was seen, the Conservatives had been in power.

From 1919 to 1921, he said, the country was at a standstill, when Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King came into power. From then until 1925 he labored without a majority, and it was impossible for the government to inaugurate new policies.

It remained for Hon. Dr. Foster to introduce the resolution to give greater heed to the Maritime rights, he continued, and gave a brief outline of the period which followed this, during which time, he said, the Conservatives had tried to claim the project as theirs. When the Prime Minister of Canada arose in his seat last March to read before the House the report of the Duncan Commission, however, there wasn't a sicker crowd in parliament than the Conservatives.

Announcement Soon.

The government of Canada, he stated, had implemented to the full every recommendation of the Duncan report, with the exception of two—the Valley Railroad project and the bounty to the Sydney steel plant. These two matters, however, were receiving the serious consideration of the government, he declared, and within a few weeks the policy would be divulged, which he thought, would make every Maritimer feel proud.

His address before the gathering, he said, was an answer to the Saint John Board of Trade for some of their statements. Had he been offered a complimentary banquet in any other place, he declared, he would likely not have accepted as he liked to hear the lion in its den.

The Postmaster General recalled the banquet which had been tendered in honor of himself and Hon. Mr. Ralston last year and the praises which had been heaped upon them by Premier Baxter and the Board of Trade. Why, he asked, had their opinions been changed so suddenly?

He declared that the people of New Brunswick could safely trust the future of the province to him and Colonel Ralston, "for," he said, "if we do not know the needs of the province of New Brunswick, the Board of Trade can't teach us."

Mr. D. W. Morris of Moncton is in the city today.

SPIES GIVEN SENTENCES OF TEN YEARS

London, Jan. 18—An Old Bailey jury today convicted two men of trafficking in British official military secrets in the interests of Soviet Russia and dealt a heavy blow to what the prosecution termed "a dangerous spy organization against the safety of Great Britain."

Wilfred Thomas McCartney, variously described as an Englishman and as an Irish-American, and George Hanson a youthful German, were each sentenced to ten years penal servitude on their conviction.

McCartney was accused of being the chief spy and Hanson his aide in obtaining and communicating information useful to opponents of Great Britain in war-fare. While admitting that not all engaged in the spying organization had been trapped, Attorney General Hogg declared that the activities of the arrested men had been stopped before material damage could be done the country.

COLORED MAN WAS EXECUTED AT HALIFAX

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 19—Louis Jones, colored, was hanged at 12.10 o'clock this morning for the murder of his wife, also colored, on Sept. 12, last.

The Saint John negro was calmly divesting himself of his coat, collar and tie when Jailer Malcolm Mitchell called at his cell. The procession to the scaffold began at 12.08 with Hangman Arthur Ellis, Rev. W. A. White, pastor of a local colored church, and Commandant E. W. Harding of the Salvation Army preceding the condemned man. The party proceeded out of the jail and along its western side to the end of the building, a distance of approximately fifty feet. As Jones mounted the eleven steps to the gallows he said good-bye to two police officers standing nearby. He practically walked into the noose and as his spiritual advisers began the Lord's Prayer, Ellis bent down and pinioned the man's legs. At 12.10, before the prayer had been concluded the trap was sprung and Jones was dropped into eternity. The body was cut down eleven minutes later, death in the opinion of the jail physician having been instantaneous. An inquest will be held at ten o'clock this morning.

"Beau Geste" Draws Crowds.

"Beau Geste" the feature photoplay of 1927, which has been received all over the world with loud acclaim and which is making its second appearance in this city at the Gaiety Theatre at reduced prices, attracted large crowds yesterday, the theatre being crowded at all shows. Many who did not see the picture on its first appearance are taking advantage of the reduced prices to see it this time. It is a story of the French Foreign Legion, of the devotion of three brothers the uppermost theme of the story, and it is certainly a masterpiece in the picture art. Some wonderful character acting by Noah Beery and William Powell as well as the splendid characterizations of the three brothers, taken by Ronald Colman, Ralph Forbes and Neil Hamilton help make the picture one of the best pictures seen here for a long period.

DOG MOURNING FOR MASTER IS CARED FOR

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 18—A faithful dog, which refused to desert its master even after death, was taken for care today to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in this city.

The dog has stood guard over the body of its master, Stephen Nemit, a recluse, who was shot to death outside his shack near Crystal Beach, Ont., leaving only when driven off when the body was removed to the morgue. It had been the custom of the master to visit Port Colborne, Ont., daily, and since being driven away, the dog, a brown bulldog, has continued these trips. Nemit's horse and several pet cats are being cared for by a neighbor, but the latter was unable to dissuade the other pet from his routine.

Several women who have homes along the lake shore reported the dog's wanderings and lack of care to Herbert Shamo, special officer in Buffalo for the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Shamo went to Port Colborne, but was unable to capture the animal. John Martin, the Port Colborne friend, whom the hermit had been in the habit of visiting daily, volunteered to hold the dog on its arrival on the next trip. This was accomplished yesterday.
