TRIAL OF HAZEN BANKS ON A CHARGE OF MURDERING HIS WIFE ENDED IN ACQUITTAL

After a trial lasting three days before Judge LeBlanc and a jury at the Sunbury Circuit Court, Hazen Banks of Bailey was on Saturday night acquitted by a jury of his peers on a charge of having caused the death of his wife, Annie McSheffrey Banks by strychnine poisoning. The jury deliberated on the case three and one half hours and took several ballots before reaching a unanimous decision. The acquittal of Banks did not come as a great surprise, as the evidence against the accused was entirely circumstantial. It was shown by cross examination of Crown witnesses that he had been absent from home for six hours prior to the death of his wife.

Attorney General Baxter conducted the case for the Crown and Mr. R. B. Hanson, K. C., M. P., defended the prisoner.

In all fifteen witnesses were examined, but only two Drs. Ross and Gerow were called by the prisoner's counsel. They were put on the stand to testify in regard to the effect of strychnine poisoning. The prisoner did not give evidence in his own behalf.

During the judge's charge to the jury Mr. Hanson took objection to an implication by His Honor that Banks' relations with the Phillips girl furnished a probable motive for the crime.

Prisoner Discharged.

As soon as the verdict of the jury was announced the prisoner was discharged from custody, and left the court room a free man. He has been in jail at Burton since December last. His father, Abraham Banks, who attended the trial and was in the city on Friday night told friends here that when he returned home his son would accompany him.

Addresses of Counsel.

R. B. Hanson, K. C., counsel for the accused, began his address to the jury Saturday morning, speaking two and a half hours in all. He dwelt strongly on the possibility and probability that the strychnine which had caused the death of Mrs. Banks had been self administered. There had been no proof of administration by the husband. The Crown had failed to show the implied motive that the wife be removed in order that Banks might marry Bessie Phillips. Evidence was that Banks never had promised marriage to the girl.

Attorney General Baxter, addressing the jury, reviewed the evidence pointing out that the sudden death of the woman ordinarily in good health had aroused suspicion. Certain witnesses between the time of preliminary examination and trial had changed their views of the time of certain events. He believed that had been done with a purpose. Suicide accidental death or murder were the only means of accounting for the death. Religious differences with her husband had been suggested to account for suicide. No church condoned suicide and the fact that housework was being done did not point to suicide. No evidence that strychnine had been taken by accident had been presented. The husband had mixed the Epsom salts, the only medicine taken, and the husband was the only one proven to have bought strychnine.

Mr. Justice LeBlanc in charging the jury, placed emphasis upon the necessity of proof beyond doubt and the fact that the prisoner was entitled to the benefit of reasonable doubt. Circumstantial evidence was that chiefly which had been presented. Deductions must be overwhelming to convict the accused. The question of religion should not be allowed to influence a verdict. The verdict could not be one of manslaughter but must be "guilty" or "not guilty" of murder. The improper relations between Banks and Bessie Phillips could be considered as supplying a motive. In regard to the deceased it must be considered whether or not her entire conduct the morning she died was that of one contemplating or committing suicide.

SIR G. E. FOSTER LAST OF JOHN A.'S COLLEAGUES

(Montreal Standard)

JOHN A. MACDONALD went to the country for the last time in February, 1891, and died in the following June. There is but one man living today who was in his Cabinet at that time—and he is the Right Honourable Eulas Foster.

In the Abbott Ministry, which followed Sir John's, the Honourable J. C. Patterson had a place. These two gentlemen stand first in the official list of Provy Councillors of Canada. Sir George is 81 years old and Mr. Patterson 89.

Sir John Macdonald had an almost uncanny faculty for being able to pick his cabinet material from unlikely quarters, and when he selected the young college professor of thirty-eight years as Minister of Marine and Fisheries, many marvelled; but time has shown the wisdom of the choice. He is chiefly known as Minister of Finance. Sir George Foster has held Cabinet rank for over 20 years—in various administrations—which is longer than any other Canadian statesman. He is still going strong, and thinks nothing of jumping from one part of Canada to another—to elucidate his views of his favorite theme of the League of Nations, ably assisted by his wife, Lady Foster.

A group photograph of the Conservative Members of Parliament of 1892 shows 141 persons—of whom only 141 are alive today. In other words, in 36 years death has claimed 90 per cent of the total. A glance at the list of survivors is interesting. It reads as follows:

British Columbia: F. S. Barnard. Manitoba: H. S. Macdonald. Ontario: E. Coatsworth, A. B. Ingraham, J. D. Reid, W. F. Maclean, William Smith, R. S. White. Quebec: Rufus Pope. New Brunswick: George E. Foster, J. D. Hazen. Prince Edward Island: John Maclean.

HUDLIN TRIAL BEGUN THIS AFTERNOON

County jail was removed to the institution at Burton on Thursday. Along with his brother Nehemiah he was arraigned in court this afternoon and both pleaded not guilty to the charge of murder preferred against them.

The Attorney General then moved for trial and when our report closed the work of selecting the petit jury was being proceeded with.

Visiting Relatives.

Miss Edna MacInnis, graduate Maternity nurse from the Evangeline Hospital, Princess street, St. John arrived in this city on Saturday and will spend a few weeks at her home in Marysville previous to her leaving for St. John to participate in the graduation exercises to be held there in the second week of May. Miss MacInnis has been taking the nursing course at the Evangeline Hospital having left here some time ago to commence her studies. The young lady has a large circle of friends who will learn with pleasure of the completion of her studies.

Moving Time.

The moving season has already begun and will continue until after May 1st. So far as can be learned quite a number of householders are changing their place of abode this spring.

TO TAKE EVERY PRECAUTION AGAINST FIRES

persons accompanied by registered guides, or clergymen, teachers, pupils accompanied by teachers, or scout masters and scouts, all of whom must carry proper identification if not certificates.

Many Permits Issued

Last year more than 6,000 woods travel permits were issued in New Brunswick and this number was much smaller than would have been issued had it not been an abnormally wet season with comparatively little woods travel as compared with an ordinary year. However, the percentage for New Brunswick was large when compared with figures from Quebec, which has eight times the forest area but issued only 30,000 forest travel certificates in 1926, the last year for which returns are available and which was an average year in respect to weather. This year in New Brunswick there will be more rigorous enforcement than before of the regulations calling for all persons entering the woods, with the few exceptions.

On the back of the registration certificates which are being issued this year the regulations appear.

The penalties are:

Setting camp or cooking fires in or near forest without taking proper precautions, up to $200.

For failing to extinguish camp, cooking or other fire, up to $200, and also nine months in jail.

Traveling on forest lands without a registration certificate, up to $100.

For throwing away burning tobacco, matches, etc., up to $50.

Of the above the following are in the senate: Sir George Fosters, Messrs. John Maclean, Pope, and Reid.

In the House of Commons: Mr. R. S. White, now of Montreal.

On the Bench: Sir Douglas Hazen and Mr. E. Coatsworth.

Sir Hugh John Macdonald is Police Magistrate of Winnipeg.

Mr. A. B. Ingraham is a member of the Railway Board of Ontario, while the following are living in retirement:

Hon. C. H. Mackintosh and Hon. C. J. Patterson, in Ottawa; Hon. William Smith, in Columbus, Ont.; Mr. W. F. Maclean, in Toronto, and Sir Frank Maclellan, in Victoria, B. C.

Three of this group were Lieutenant-Governors of Provinces: Mr. Patterson, of Manitoba; Mr. Mackintosh, of the Old Northwest Territory, and Sir Frank Maclellan, of British Columbia.

Objectionable Body-odors Make Women Unpopular Can't Be Smothered by Perfume.

If your bowels are loaded with a mass of decaying corruption your unhealthy condition becomes apparent to every one near you. Body-odors make a woman particularly objectionable.

In overcoming constipation every woman will find that Dr. Hamilton's Pills act upon BOTH upper and lower bowels and bring down astonishing amounts of waste matter from the intestinal canal. It is this poisonous material that causes rank body-odors, headache, nervousness and depressed spirits.

The regular use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills corrects constipation, keeps women regular, makes them full of "pep" and good spirits. To gain robust health, to look well, use Dr. Hamilton's Pills—just right for women's ills, 25c at all dealers.

MAY BRING SUIT AGAINST POWER COMPANY

(Fort Fairfield Review)

One does not have to be very bright or farsighted to see that a big lawsuit involving Fort Fairfield interests is coming in the not distant future—a suit of Fort Fairfield village property owners probably commenced for the purpose, against the company owning the electric power plant at Aroostook Falls, N. B., on account of the damages these property owners sustain every once in a while, for instance the spring of 1923 and the present spring, on account of the overflow of water in their basements and round and upon various parts of their property. Of course there must be a legal redress for people who own property and have it injured or destroyed by water overflowing it through the acts of other parties damming up a stream below it. To suppose that our people would let these injuries pass right along without the most strenuous legal protest is to suppose them stupid and incapable of looking out for their own business interests. It seems as if Hon. Arthur R. Gould, now our popular United States senator, got rid of this property just in good time to avoid some very bothersome, expensive and disagreeable litigation.

Spoke on Girls Work.

Rev. V. M. Purdy of Truro, representative of the Maritime Home for Girls, was the speaker yesterday at the morning service of the Brunswick street Baptist church and in the evening he spoke at the George street Baptist Church. At both services the Rev. Mr. Purdy explained the nature of his work and the nature of the work which is being carried on throughout the Maritimes in regard to Girls' work. Rev. Mr. Purdy plans to be in this city for another week and will speak again next Sunday in other churches. While here he is a guest of the Windsor Hotel.

Escaped from Home.

Chief Jones of the local police force was notified from the Boy's Industrial Home at St. John of the escape of the local boy who was sent there several weeks ago for misbehaviour. The boy had run away on Friday night and on Saturday evening made his appearance at the police station in this city and was placed under arrest. He will probably be sent to the home as soon as possible.

Returned on Saturday.

The Countess of Ashburnham, Mrs. John Scott and her daughter, Miss Isabel Scott who spent a few days last week visiting in St. Stephen returned on Saturday to this city.
