JOHNNY MILES NOT UP TO FORM IN LAST RACE

Sydney, April 13—Does Johnny Miles' defeat by Billy Reynolds in the 15 miles road race in Toronto on Good Friday mean that the former Sydney Mines star is likely to lose his place on Canada's 1928 Olympic team?

That is the question that Sydney admirers of the young Cape Breton runner are anxiously asking themselves just as present. Miles "cracked" very suddenly in the race when only a couple of miles from the finish line and some comment by The Toronto Globe rather suggests that there may be a move on foot in Ontario sport circles to have the former Cape Bretoner replaced on the Olympic team by Reynolds.

Nothing explicit is said in this connection in the Globe comment but the fact is emphasized that Reynolds had beaten Miles in the Olympic trials in Hamilton last September and reading between the lines the suggestion seems to be that Miles should be replaced by Reynolds on Canada's team for the international games or at least that the Galt runner be added to the Olympic squad.

In Friday's race, Miles was running well in the lead with Reynolds until two or three miles from the end of the grind then without warning he went to pieces and other runners raced past him with ease.

HAVE TO KEEP 15 CHILDREN ON $9 A WEEK

London, April 12—A man of seventy-six, who has worked for more than fifty years at the same job, with the same firm for an average wage of 35s. a week, talked about the troubles of bringing up a large family.

He is Mr. Joe Gregory, a little red-faced, health-looking man, who has just retired from work as a pavior with the French Asphalt Company.

"It was hard work," he said, "but I became used to it, and liked it, and I wouldn't have given up now if I hadn't been taken ill with lumbago. I used to go about all over England."

"We have fifteen children. Eleven of them are alive now. How we managed them on my wages I don't know, and neither does my wife. It was dreadful hard sometimes. We just didn't think of the future at all or we'd have gone out of our heads."

"We just took everything as it came, and made the best of it. They've grown up a fine family"—Mr. Gregory pointed to the walls of his little parlor, which were covered with photographs of his children—"but if we started all over again we shouldn't want to have so many."

Mrs. Gregory, admitted, however, that when her family was grown up she felt so lost without a child about the place that she took in a little girl and brought her up for four years.

CAUGHT BAD COLD WHILE OUT PLAYING NOT PROPERLY DRESSED

Mrs. L. Martie, Millet, Alta., writes:—"My youngest child had a very bad cold which she got by going out playing in a strong, cold wind not properly dressed."

"She got so hoarse she could hardly speak, and her throat and chest were very sore."

"I used everything available, but she received no relief until, finally, I secured a bottle of

and the first few doses certainly did her good. It is wonderful how it can help so quickly."

RANGERS WIN 4TH GAME BY 1 TALLY

Forum, Montreal April 12—A fifth and deciding game will be necessary before the ultimate winners of the Stanley Cup for the year 1928 are known. The New York Rangers tonight scored a 1 to 0 victory over the Montreal Maroons in the fourth game of the world's championship series, thus knotting the game count at two goal margins, but dropped the second and tonight's fixture by one goal advantage. Tonight's game was a strenuous struggle in which the Maroons had a slight edge in territorial play but which they were not able to convert into goals owing to the good work of Miller, the New York goalie.

At that the Rangers well deserved their victory. They flashed a dangerous offensive which at times swept all before it, and gave Benedict a busy night. The feature of the visitors play, however was the defensive work of that hefty pair, Abel and Johnson. These two proved a continual thorn in the side of the Maroon offensive threats and gave Miller practically air tight protection throughout.

The lone goal of the contest was scored by Frankie Boucher, brilliant Ranger centre star, early in the second period when he grabbed a rebound off Benedict's pads and sniped the disc over the Montreal goalie's prostrate body. Johnson started the scoring play. He carried to the blue-line passed to Bill Cook. The latter was forced behind the net but kept control of the disc and managed to snap it out in front. Benny stopped one shot, but fell in doing so. Boucher then grabbed the loose disc and flapped it into the net.

Over eleven thousand fans witnessed the fourth game of the series.

POISONOUS LETTERS OF MAN TO A WOMAN

London, April 12—"You are a disgusting fellow; I don't think I have ever had a worse character before me."

This was the comment of Dr. W. H. Whitehouse, the Greenwich coroner, in reference to John Johnson, aged 22, metal worker, of Shaftesbury-street.

He was a witness in the case of Rosetta Mariott, 19, a Gower-street domestic servant, whose body was taken from the Thames, and a verdict of suicide while of unsound mind was returned.

When Johnson entered the witness-stand the coroner asked him, "Are you the man who signs himself, 'One of Nature's Gentlemen'?"

"Yes," was the answer.

Johnson said he had known the girl about four months. They were merely friends, but she wanted them to be lovers. He had discussed sex matters with her.

On January 30, two days before she disappeared, he received a letter from her in which she said he was a cad to write her such letters. He admitted that he had written "poisonous" letters with the object of getting her to break off the friendship.

The coroner handed the witness a letter and said, "I am not asking you to read this letter. It is too disgusting. Don't you think she was justified in calling you a cad?"—Yes. "I wonder what would make you feel ashamed of yourself?" said the coroner.

Witness: Well, I wanted to let the girl alone. She kept pestering me.

Have you ever done the same sort of thing with any other young girl?—Yes.

The Coroner: You are an abominable fellow.

OATS SUITABLE FOR MARITIME PROVINCES

(Experimental Farm Note)

The most important factor in choosing a variety of oats are the inherent yielding quality, resistance to disease, strength of straw, length of time maturing, percentage of hull and appearance of grain. The inherent yielding quality is usually the most important of these factors. Under Maritime conditions, late maturing, spreading oats usually give a larger yield of total digestible nutrients than do early maturing oats, side oats, or hullless oats.

The three varieties which have given the best yields under field conditions at the Fredericton Experimental Station are, Victory Gold Rain and Banner. Victory has out-yielded Banner twelve times and every other variety tested, nine times in the last thirteen years. Gold Rain has out-yielded Banner six times and every other variety twice in the seven years which it has been on test. The average yield for the seven years that all three varieties were tested was, Victory 60.1, Gold Rain, 59.1 and Banner, 57.4 bushels per acre.

There was no appreciable difference in resistance to disease of these three varieties. Victory, however, has slightly less strength of straw and appears to be more susceptible to poor growing conditions than either Gold Rain or Banner.

Gold Rain matures 3-5 days earlier than Banner and 4-6 days earlier than Victory. The earlier maturity is a decided advantage in backward seasons.

The average per cent. hull for these varieties for the last three years was Gold Rain, 29.05; Victory, 31.44; and Banner, 32.55.

Victory and Banner are white, but Victory usually has a slightly better appearance as it is plumper. Gold Rain is yellow. Yellow colored varieties are not liked by the trade but would not be a disadvantage if the farmer growing the oats for his own use.

Speaking generally, all three oats will give good yields and a farmer who has good seed of any of these varieties should not change without careful consideration. When a farmer has difficulty in maturing either Victory or Banner, he would be well advised to try Gold Rain. If it is necessary to use an even earlier maturing variety, Alaska may be given a trial. his variety is a fair yielder, has fair strength of straw, a low per cent. of the full and will mature from six to ten days earlier than Gold Rain.

Removes Warts

"ENGLISHWOMAN" writes to the Montreal Star:
"I read a letter in your paper asking for a remedy for warts, and as I found one that took an ugly one off the side of my forehead I will give it to you. I had a bottle of Minard's Liniment in the house that I use for rheumatism, and casually reading directions I saw it was a good thing for corns and warts, so being so simple I tried it. Just dab it on with the cork two or three times a day letting it dry on. Well it all went away in about two weeks, dried up and came off by degrees."

"Another also appeared on my cheek not so large, but I applied the same remedy and could pick it off like the other."
