THE FIRST OF FOUR UNITS AT GRAND FALLS HAS BEGUN THE OUTPUT OF ELECTRIC ENERGY

(St. John Telegraph-Journal.)

The generation of electric energy at Grand Falls on the Saint John River technically began yesterday when the first unit of the huge plant at the site of the Maritime Provinces' greatest water power, was put into operation by the turning of its huge motor under the impulse of the waters freed from the impounding dams of the great works about the falls. Unattended by ceremony and in the presence of a group of prominent engineers the first of four units of 20,000 horse power began the output of energy at 3 p. m. Sunday, after water had been let into the tunnel at 1.43 p. m.

The news of the starting of the plant was conveyed to The Telegraph-Journal by long distance telephone shortly before last midnight.

The opening of the first of four turbine units now under installation at Grand Falls for the Saint John River Power Company, constituted an historic occasion. After the necessary preliminary tests the unit was brought up to normal speed and voltage so that 8.48 p. m. and thereafter it stood ready to deliver as required energy to the extent of 20,000 h. p. to the Fraser mill at Edmundston in accordance with contract with Fraser Companies Limited.

The Frasers will therefore be the first customer to receive commercial power from an energetic natural source heretofore unemployed and which it is confidently expected will play a large part in the rapid progress of the province of New Brunswick.

Those present at this unofficial inaugural and technical test were T. F. Malone, general superintendent of the Gatineau Power Co.; Walter Blue, manager of the development department of the Gatineau Power Co.; H. G. Acres, consulting engineer at Niagara Falls; R. L. Hearn, chief engineer of H. G. Acres and Co., Ltd.; Plant Superintendent A. H. Tweedie, of the Saint John River Power Company, and Frank P. Vaughan, of the Vaughan Electric Company, Saint John.

Transmission Line Surveys.

Campbellton, Sept. 30—Having completed 80 miles of the line survey for the hydro transmission from Grand Falls to Dalhousie, engineers are encamped at Glenlivet about 10 miles west of Campbellton, and will start on the final lap of approximately 30 miles next week. The transmission line when completed will reach from the power plant at Grand Falls through the counties of Victoria and Restigouche to the power house of the new international paper mill now in course of construction at the shiretown and will convey between 30 and 40 thousand horse power transmitted at a pressure of about 132,000 volts.

In all probability this line will be tapped to supply power to the new Fraser sulphite mill at Athol which, according to latest reports here, will be started in initial construction this year.

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT IN WESTMORLAND

Josiah Myers of Moncton Instantly Killed in a Collision Near College Bridge.

Moncton, Sept. 30—Josiah Myers, 38 of this city, was practically instantly killed in one of the worst automobile collisions that has taken place in this district when the car in which he was riding collided with another about 200 yards west of College Bridge, Westmorland county, on the trunk highway, shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon. His 7-year-old son, Reginald, who was also in the car, sustained a nasty cut in the neck and was knocked unconscious but his condition tonight is reported much better. He has regained consciousness and is believed to be out of danger.

The driver of the car, which carried a Nova Scotia license, was M. Pierce Burns, commercial traveler, whose home is at 21 Morris street, Halifax. He sustained a bad cut on the right wrist. Miss Stella McLeod, of Moncton, also a passenger in the car, sustained an injured back and arm. Mrs. Myers and four-year-old Ellie, who were in the rear seat along with Miss McLeod, escaped injury.

Others Injured.

In the other car, driven by Edmund Arseneault, chauffeur, and owned by the White Central Taxic Company, of Moncton, Miss Lena Cormier, of this city, sustained an injured shoulder and was quite badly shaken up, as was also Miss Phyllis Bourque. Arseneault sustained cuts to the left wrist.

The party in the Burns car left here at noon today intending to go to Amherst to visit Myers' sister, Mrs. Auld. They arrived at College Bridge about 1.15 p. m. and just as they were passing the home of Didier LeBlanc, where the road rises to a summit, Mr. Burns declared he saw the other car approaching. He took this car to be on the wrong side of the road, he said, and held to the right side as long as he could. Then, to avoid a head-on crash, he swerved his car to the left, the west-bound swerving to the right and striking the Burns' car midway, smashing the engine and also the side beyond repair. Myers was sitting on that side of the Burns' car and the driver picked him out from the wreckage immediately after the accident. He was unconscious and never spoke passing away ten minutes afterward.

VETERAN U. S. ANGLER HAD GREAT SPORT

consulting engineer for the Interborough Rapid Transit Company of New York and has been in charge of tunnel construction work at East Boston and also on the Hudson River at New York. He is seventy-six years of age and has been keen on angling for a long time, but his efforts have hitherto been confined to bass, trout and land locked salmon. "I am afraid they will now be tame sport after trying conclusions with the Atlantic salmon," he said to The Mail.

An Important Gift.

It was Mr. Shailer who donated the salmon which had a place on the menu at the banquet given to the members of the British Empire Association here last week. He afterwards shipped a number of fish to friends in New York, so that it may be said that representatives of nearly all of the English speaking countries of the world reaped the benefit of his skill as an angler.

Visited the U. N. B.

This afternoon Mr. Shailer paid a visit to the University of New Brunswick and inspected the plant. He explained that Mr. Kenneth McL. Willet, a member of his engineering staff is a graduate of the institution, and requested him to pay a visit to his Alma Mater. Mr. Shailer is leaving for home by this evening's train.

DRINKING SPOILS GOLF SO INDIANS SAY

Arkansas City, Kan., Oct. 1—The little pitted golf ball has done what no amount of preaching could do—it has made the Osage braves quit drinking. Over the hills where their forefathers chased buffalo they now play golf. As the story now goes, they have discovered drinking interferes with their game so they have given up liquor. The rivalry is keen.

Morriarity, spoke at the Brunswick Street Baptist Church and gave an address on the Alliance work in the morning service.

SPECIAL ATTRACTION AT GAIETY THEATRE

"The Night Watch" is the photograph at the Gaiety for Monday and Tuesday featuring Billie Dove. She plays the role of wife of the commander of a French battleship whose devotion to his country supersedes that due his wife. She is accidentally carried away, a stowaway on her husband's ship, at the outbreak of the war. Here are some thrilling scenes which involve the efforts of a sub officer of the ship, a former sweetheart, to hide the commander's wife and keep the knowledge of her presence from him.

A second officer a villainous sort of fellow for apparently no reason at all, learns of her presence and proceeds to tell the commander. A murder follows and the ship's commander is accused. He is tried and but for the last minute denouncement by his wife is almost convicted. A charming courtroom reconciliation forms the subject for the final fadeout.
