NINE MODERN WONDERS.

Searching for the seven wonders of the modern world, President Samuel W. Stratton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology found many times seven. He finally settled upon nine.

What are these nine modern wonders? They are: 1—Bacteriology, 2—knowledge of matter and radiation, 3—applied electricity, 4—the gasoline engine, 5—metal and cement construction, 6—metallurgy, 7—food preservation, 8—aviation, 9—industrial machinery.

Other authorities might add to this list. Some would insist upon substitutions. There ought to be a place somewhere for chemistry which is admittedly the groundwork of several of the development listed.

But if some Rip Van Winkle of the ancient world were to awaken today the nine marvels named by Dr. Stratton would hold him transfixed with awe and admiration. He still could point with pride to the unsurpassed achievements of his ancient world in architecture, sculpture and literature. But he would be completely overwhelmed at the advances along lines of which his own world never dreamt. Primarily he would be amazed at the comparative ease with which so many tasks are accomplished and so many conveniences provided for the common man.

DOING SOMETHING.

Dr. Gladys Dick, in her laboratory at the McCormick institute is recognized as one of the discoverers of a serum for the treatment of scarlet fever. Both she and her husband, also a physician were recommended for the Nobel prize. She has reached her high place in scientific circles by a long course of training, by infinite patience and by hard work. One wonders what some other women who are interested in nothing but fashion and the frothy trivillities of life must think about a woman like Dr. Dick. Do they think she is missing a lot of fun? Or do they think she gets a great happiness out of the sense of being useful?

ADVERTISING IS NEWS.

Swift, Chicago packer, is right when he says the average newspaper reader looks upon advertising as news. There is no more interesting news than the items in an advertisement. Since the beginning of civilization or anything like civilization, man has been interested in trade. He has given much of his waking time to the getting of goods. He is by the inheritance of the ages a buyer and seller. Men and women both will always be interested in buying and selling. News of goods which can be had will always be fascinating news.

OF USE.

No man is quite dispensable if he has a friend. So thought Stevenson. There is hardly one of us who cannot have at least a little sense of satisfaction in the thought that by somebody we are needed. So long as that is true we have something to do. So long as that is true there is value in going on.

A girl wrote "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" and called it a career at 30 and Edison sleeps only four hours a day because so much remains to be done.

The farmers of York and Sunbury now have two free markets in the city thanks to the courage and enterprise of the York Municipal Council.

It is just possible that those who have been complaining of a mild winter may be able to change their tune before long.

As we understand it a young murderer is a Fox as long as he get away with it and after that he is crazy.

Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands more'n half mad.

One of the greatest causes of insanity is a peculiar affliction often referred to as indictment.

It is hard walking the tracks especially on a toy railroad in a dark living room after midnight.

In telling her age a woman is often shy—in more ways than one.

Death at Penniac

The death occurred at Penniac at a late hour of Burpee Saunders, aged 77 years. He is survived by three sons, Myles of Penniac, Joseph of South Devon and David of Manguerville, and one daughter, Mrs. E. Peterson of Fredericton Junction. Deceased enjoyed quite a reputation as a big game hunter and guide in his younger days and his passing will be learned of with regret by his many friends. Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. J. M. Rice of Marysville at the late home in Penniac tomorrow at one o'clock. Interment will be made at Penniac.

Two New Members.

At the weekly meeting of the Gyro Club at the Palms on Queen street two new members were admitted into the club, namely Provincial Police Commissioner, E. C. P. Salt and Harry Watson. During the course of the luncheon, it was decided to hold a Cyro Ball at a date to be named in about two or three weeks. James Mavor was chairman of the meeting.

Harding Case Continued

The case of Thomas Harding, undergoing appeal to Judge Slipp at the County Court and which was adjourned from Thursday of last week, is being continued today at the County Court house. The case of a local beer shop proprietor which is also under appeal from decision of Judge Limerick recently at the police court, was argued in chambers this morning. No decision has yet been given.

Hydrant Damaged.

An accident occurred late on Saturday evening, when a large closed car careened into the hydrant at the corner of University Avenue and Queen street causing considerable damage to the latter. The occupants of the car were uninjured in the crash and escaped with a few bruises. The automobile is under repairs this morning.

Successful Bridge.

The Sir Howard Douglas Chapter, I. O. D. E., held a very successful bridge at the Cathedral Hall on Saturday afternoon and twenty-five tables of bridge were played. At the conclusion of play refreshments were served to assembled players. Following is the list of prize winners:—Mrs. R. N. McCunn, Mrs. Frank Murchie, Miss Bailey, Mrs. John Stevens, Mrs. Fenwick and Mrs. A. H. Woods.

Resting Comfortably.

The condition of Walter Kitchen son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Kitchen of this city who was taken to the Victoria Hospital a few days ago suffering with Jaundice is somewhat improved today and he is resting quite comfortably this afternoon.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

It is not given to man to make himself virtuous by proclaiming others indecent.

Some human failures would make interesting stories but they can't get into the magazines.

Public interest in coal strikes is always measured by the amount of coal the public has in the bin.

Peggy Joyce says companionate marriage is impractical. Five years it is true seems a long time to be unalterably tied.

It is written that 135 special weeks have been arranged for this year. Enough to minimize the usefulness of a possible few.

People do less kicking about high prices than formerly. They have learned to lay their necks on the block ready for the axe.

You are not old as long as you can walk through a neighborhood redolent of boiled cabbage and hope the trail ends in your own home.

"It's easier to set a hen than an example" says Sam Hill of the Cincinnati Enquirer. Guess Sam never tried to set a hen that had no inclination to sit.

MARYSVILLE CURLERS BEAT FREDERICTON

In a match at the Curling Rink on Saturday evening, the Marysville Curlers defeated the local curling entry. The Marysville outfit looked real good and made a splendid showing. Mr. J. S. Inch one of the oldest members played a wonderful game for the winners. Following is the line-ups:

Marysville	Fredericton
W. Collett	C. J. MacDonald
P. F. Nickerson	R. A. McMullen
G. A. Tapley	F. S. Mundle
J. S. Inch	Arch. Fraser

Holding the Bag.

"Well I see the farmers won out in their fight for a free market at the City Hall" said a Queen street merchant on Saturday. "Being able to play the County Council against the city council gave them a great advantage. Having gained their point they have abandoned the Court House and returned back to the City Hall leaving the county council after an expenditure of $2,500 holding the bag."

Funeral On Sunday.

The funeral of the late Joseph E. Staples took place yesterday afternoon at his home in St. John street and was quite largely attended. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Mason and interment made in the Rural Cemetery.

Circuit Court.

The nisi pious sittings of the York Circuit Court will open here tomorrow morning Mr. Justice Crockett presiding. There will be an absence of criminal business and the civil docket is likely to be light.
