Will Honor the Memory of The Heroes of the Great War

The Tomb of the Unknown Soldier Will be the Scene of Impressive Ceremonies in Great Britain, France and the United States—King George and President Coolidge to Take Part.

Closing hours of the world's greatest conflict were recalled today as many nations prepared to honor those who died in the world war.

At least in three nations, United States, France and Great Britain, there will be fitting ceremonies to honor those young men whose lives were given in the struggle for democracy. Each nation will honor its war dead through ceremonies at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Tomorrow in Washington President Coolidge will speak in the American Legion's ceremonies and his message will be carried through the United States in a special radio hook-up of the National Broadcasting Company. The ceremony will be between 9.15 and 10.15 a. m.

At 11 a. m. a bugle will sound the Taps over the radio for 2 minutes the nation will pause, industry will stop in a silent tribute to the war dead.

King George will lead the ceremony at the tomb of the Unknown Warrior in London. He will lay a wreath upon the monument of Great Britain's glorious dead.

MANY CHILDREN INOCULATED AT ST. STEPHEN

St. Stephen, Nov. 9—Exactly 500 children were this afternoon inoculated with toxoid in the St. Stephen schools. This is said to be the first time in New Brunswick that a complete school has been inoculated at one time and not more than two hours was taken to accomplish the work.

Dr. William Warwick, Dr. J. D. Lawson, Miss H. Dykeman, supervisor of public health nursing; Miss Lawson, district Red Cross nurse; Dr. King, medical school inspector for Charlotte county; Rev. E. V. Sullivan, Miss McPhail, of Perth and Miss Etta DeWolfe, did the work.

Dr. Warwick, who has been on the ground here since the outbreak of diphtheria, said tonight that he was very much pleased with the work done here today and he felt that counting the number that had been inoculated by their family physician that 95 per cent. of the school children had been inoculated. He spoke highly of the work done by the doctors and nurses and said much credit should be given the teachers and school board for their co-operation.

Eight children from country schools came in and were inoculated, while between 50 and 60 younger children were brought in by their parents.

This inoculation will probably be repeated again in two weeks. No new cases of diphtheria have been reported in the last few days.

CHEAPER FARES ARRANGED FOR EMIGRANTS

By HERBERT BAILEY,
British United Press Staff Correspondent

London, Nov. 10—Emigration to Canada is one of the chief policies of the government for dealing with unemployment, and in this connection it is learned that the government has reached an arrangement with the steamship companies by which third class fare for emigrants to Canada will be reduced by four pounds that is from eighteen pounds, ten shillings to fourteen pounds, ten shillings.

MAN AND SALMON FOUGHT A DUEL TO THE DEATH

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 10—How the realization of a long cherished ambition—hooking and landing a giant king salmon—proved too much of a strain for the heart of a 69-year-old lifetime fisherman and outdoors man was told by P. J. DeClercq whose step father died while playing his long-sought prize trophy off Three Point.

Ralph Le Vasseur, retired salmon canner, had been having little luck at his pet hobby, salmon fishing. Each day he rigged up his best tackle and ventured out into the waters of Puget Sound salmon of his dreams.

One day he decided conditions were ideal for another try. So shortly after noon he carefully prepared his best tackle and put out into the rain for the great king.

Later Le Vasseur's boat was noticed drifting aimlessly with the tide, apparently empty, by two women, Mrs. E. W. Hyatt and Agnes Sullivan, of Three Tree Point. H. R. Kniesley and Mrs. Glenn W. Tritle rowed out and brought it to shore, with mute evidence of the drama which had taken place far out on the sound.

Le Vasseur, sportman to the last, lay sprawled in the bottom of the boat, fishing rod still clenched in his hand, while in other end of the boat was a dead 12-pound king salmon, the fish he has been searching for all his life.

The two, fisherman and fish, had fought a duel to the death, the giant salmon battling until it died from its own efforts, and the fisherman succumbing to heart failure with his prize.

The Financial Belt

Carleton Street is in a fair way to become the Wall Street of Fredericton. Two of the largest banks in Canada have branches on this street and there are now three brokerage concerns within a space of a few rods. No less than eight lawyers also have offices right in the financial belt and transact the great bulk of the city's legal business. Carleton Street is 1 1/2 miles long, in one other respect it is one of the city's shortest streets. It is a lot of business transacted in the course of a week.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 9—The nation's observance of Armistice Day on Sunday will be centred at Ottawa, where in the presence of men distinguished in both international and national affairs, a ceremony of remembrance will be held. Cenotaph Erected.

A temporary cenotaph has been erected on the hill and it is around this symbol raised in veneration of the dead, that the ceremonies will take place. Units of the Ottawa garrison, together with ex-soldiers' organizations will parade. They will be drawn up in formation on three sides of the cenotaph, while in rear and overlooking the troops will be a reserved enclosure for the distinguished visitors. The whole proceedings will be carried out in the shadow of the peace tower, wherein is situated the memorial chamber—Canada's national sanctuary.

Belcourt, president of the Armistice Ceremonial Committee of Canada, of a message from His Majesty the King. The hymn, "O Canada," will be sung by the assembly, to the accompaniment of the regimental band of the Ottawa Highlanders.

GOOD PROFITS MADE FROM FISH SCALES

New Brunswick fishermen engaged in the sardine industry out of Charlotte County ports on the Bay of Fundy are reported to be making larger profits than ever before through saving the scales from the herring, for which special arrangements of slats and screens for scraping the fish have been installed.

As much as a dollar per hoghead additional has been made by these fishermen in this way and one boatman reports having made $280 in a week from this source. Now it is reported that a German firm is to erect a fish scale or pearl essence factory on the Maine side of Passamaquoddy Bay which will use the scales for the making of the so-called pearl paste, which is used extensively in the manufacture of jewelry and other articles.

Eruption of Mount Etna Responsible for Big Loss of Property

Already the Damage Caused by Molten Lava From the Great Crater is in Excess of Ten Million Dollars—The Village of Mascali Has Been Completely Wiped Out.

(Special to The Daily Mail by the British United Press.)

CATINA, SICILY, Nov. 10—Rolling along at a rate of 15 miles an hour the lava stream from Mount Etna continued to cause wide spread damage in the valleys below the hillside today.

Already the eruptions from this great mountain of fire have caused damage estimated at upwards of ten million dollars and this damage will be increased if the wide stream of lava continues to pour down on the fertile valleys.

Only two persons have been killed because the great crater gave warning before it unloosed its varied streams of lava.

Thousands Are Homeless

Twelve thousand however were forced to vacate their homes in the peaceful little villages which lay at the bottom of the mountain side.

All of the villages are deserted. Some have been damaged. Mascali has been destroyed, only a few buildings remaining standing as gaunt symbols of the great disaster that visited the city destroying is as it was destroyed some 300 years ago.

The United Press correspondent approached the great crater from the Carrita valley, which is on the southeast slope of Mount Etna. Three streams could be seen rolling from the mouth of the crater all in the neighborhood of Monte Frumento.

The centre of the crater was hurling volleys of stones into the air those stones were tossed as high as 100 feet.

THE BEST FRIEND AXIUM AGAIN DEMONSTRATED

Sweetwater, Texas—Two dogs here have upheld the tradition of faithfulness to man.

In the first instance, a doctor making a call at 1.30 o'clock in the morning was forced to stop his car by a dog which refused to move from a place in the road that barred the car's progress.

At the side of the road, a few feet away, stood the dog's charge a shivering, crying baby girl of 18 months, whose feet were tortured with grass burns that had shown no mercy as she toddled away from home and bed. Investigation developed the fact that the child's father worked on a night shift and that her mother was in the habit of driving downtown at 1 o'clock every morning to bring her husband home when he got off duty leaving the baby asleep in the home. The other dog was found standing guard over the unconscious form of his master on the ground beside his car. Therman W. Ellis, 35, a carpenter, had arrived here two weeks ago from Florida and lived in his car, which he kept parked at a local tourist ground.

At first thought the victim of hijackers, examination showed no marks of violence, but the man is critically ill in the hospital here from an unknown cause.

To Observe Silence

Mistletoe is said to be disappearing. But love and xxxxxx remain.

RUM RUNNER WAS GIVEN A LIVELY CHASE

Campbellton, Nov. 9—Fifty gallons of alcohol was the reward of C. J. Wallace, Customs and Excise officer, Dalhousie, Wednesday night, following a wild chase in autos through the blinding snowstorm which swept the Chaleur district at that time.

Sighting a car near Jacquet river, the appearance of which aroused his suspicions, the government official followed to the Balmoral road, at which point the alleged bootlegger, seeing the other car in the rear speeded up. Shortly afterward, the pursued one, apparently fearing the loss of his car as well as the contents, dropped his load of containers and drove off at a high rate of speed. The identity of the driver is not definitely known but from the description of the car it is believed to be the property of a Campbellton resident. The consignment of wet goods was taken to Dalhousie.

Station CHNS at Halifax now broadcast at six o'clock each evening a summary of the days news along with stock quotations by McDougall & Cowans.
