OLD AUTO TIRES LIVE ANEW ARE MADE INTO FOOTWEAR FOR THE PEOPLE OF SALONIKA

Washington, D. C., April 3—Discarded American automobile tires that once were dispatched by rubber salvaging plants now are being made into shoes for peasants of Salonika, Greece. It is reported that 50,000 casings are imported annually to meet the demand. Each tire makes three shoes.

"Salonika is famous as a city of refuge," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. "That fact accounts for its enormous peasant population to whom the new footgear is a luxury."

A Melting Pot

"When the Spaniards persecuted the Jews in the 15th century, some of them fled as far east as Salonika, and their descendants now help make up the city's large Jewish population, which numbers nearly that of the Greeks. And in recent years a human deluge of Greeks who were driven out of Turkey swelled the census figures from about 150,000 to more than 250,000."

"The original 'Salonikans' are lost in the shuffle of nationalities represented among the inhabitants," continues the bulletin. "On any busy corner one will see nearly as many different races as sit in a session of the League of Nations. There are Greeks from all parts of the peninsula, Albanians, Italians, Russians, Germans, and natives of every Balkan state. Some of their families are among the oldest inhabitants, human remnants of the early occupation of the city when it was a football in the hands of empires including the Macedonians, Saracens, Normans, Romans, Venetians, Bulgarians and Turks."

Rival of Constantinople

"Even with such a mixture, Salonika has maintained its prestige as one of the most important ports of southeast Europe. When the Balkan states are at peace and the port is used as an outlet to the sea, it rivals Constantinople. The broad quay along the shore of a well protected harbor can accommodate ocean-going vessels."

"The fine buildings which form a solid wall on the land side of the quay, pierced only by streets leading up into the city, give Salonika a modern appearance. Here and in the commercial district there are shops, coffee houses, and a few fine old residences. The westerner at once notices a lack of parks and other open spaces, but a peep through an open street reveals that the most of Salonika's beauty is hidden behind high walls.

"On the hills beyond, new cottages of former refugees indicate that Salonika has assimilated many of the newcomers from other lands, but thousands of them still live in the squalor of the Salonika slums."

"In the dirty streets barefoot women plod the rough cobbles with loads of wood tied to their backs that one might hesitate packing on a donkey. Smiling, ragged water boys and girls in tatters carry their heavy jugs. Milkmen, too poor to own carts, are weighed down by two five-gallon cans resting upon their backs until their bodies are at right angles with their legs. The smell of fish permeates the atmosphere, and soon one stumbles upon a curbside restaurateur who, from his little stove set on a soap box, dispenses odoriferous foods. Often the pedestrian is forced to walk in the street lest he tread upon the cheap merchandise of a sidewalk dry goods store or bump the elbow of a barber in his open air shop."

"But with all its squalor and poverty, Salonika can boast of a glorious past. Several cities have been built on the site since it was founded more than 200 years ago. The present one is named for Thessalonike, a half-sister of Alexander the Great. Cicero lived there for a time; Nero and rajan decorated the city; it was once the temporary home of three emperors and it became famous in the Christian world as the place to which St. Paul addressed two of his letters. "Successive fires and pillageries have destroyed historic landmarks. One of its oldest existing antiquities is Warder street, which cuts across the city. It was a part of the old Roman highway from the Adriatic to the Bosphorus, which earlier still was the Royal way of the Macedonian kings. Where the Roman legions, the phalanxes of Alexander and the immortals of Xerxes trod its surface, an American street car rumbles driven by a modern Greek or Spaniard. In its course, it runs under an old Roman arch."

"Some of the Salonika churches survived the fury of the middle ages and are the finest remains of the past. Many of them were built as Christian edifices, but during the Turks' 500 years' occupation they became mosques. They are again Christian churches, but viewed from the bay, some of the huge domes and lofty flanking minarets give the appearance of a Moslem stronghold of the east. They are museums of fine Byzantine mosaic art."

"The reeks also suffered by remaining in Salonika under foreign regimes, but one source of inspiration to them has been the sight of Mt. Olympus towering among the hills to the southwest."

CAUGHT BAD COLD WHILE OUT PLAYING NOT PROPERLY DRESSED

Mrs. L. Mantie, Millet, Alta., writes: "My youngest child had a very bad cold which she got by going out playing in a strong, cold wind not properly dressed."

"She got so hoarse she could hardly speak, and her throat and chest were very sore."

"I used everything available, but she received no relief until, finally, I secured a bottle of

NEW MILLINERY FEATURES.

A newer idea in millinery than monotonous is color contrast, and frequently directly opposed colors are used. Beige and navy, for instance are frequently combined, both in millinery and in ensemble suits. The small hat is the outstanding vogue of the moment, but buyers are predicting the medium brim for later in the spring and wide brims for summer, particularly with the longer skirts of the afternoon frocks.

HIPLINES AND BELTS

The fitted hipline is seen even in informal sports dresses. This usually is achieved by either a rather long, tight fitting jumper, or, in one piece dresses, by means of a yoke or inset bands. Self and leather belts, either the narrow string belt or the wider ones, are seen on such frocks at the normal waistline.

FRUIT BAVARIAN CREAM.

1 level tablespoonful gelatin
1 cup fruit juice and pulp
1 tablespoonful lemon juice
1-4 cup cold water
1-2 cup sugar
1 1-2 cups heavy cream, beaten until stiff.

Salt
Soak gelatin in cold water five minutes and dissolve by standing cup containing mixture in hot water. Strain into fruit juice mixed with lemon juice. Add sugar, and when sugar is dissolved set bowl containing mixture in pan of ice water and stir until mixture begins to thicken then fold in cream. Turn into wet mold and chill. Use canned pineapple, fresh or canned strawberries, raspberries, peaches or any fruit you prefer.

MOCK DUCK.

1 large round steak
1 cupful of fresh bread crumbs
1-4 pound of bacon
1 large onion,
1-2 teaspoonful summer savory,
3 tablespoonfuls of butter
1 teaspoonful of salt
Dash of pepper
1 egg
1 cupful of water
Make a dressing of the crumbs, bacon cut into small pieces and fried lightly, onion chopped, two tablespoonfuls of butter melted and all the seasonings. Add a half cupful of hot water and stir all over the fire until very hot. Put this in the steak and roll it up. Tie in shape and put it in a roasting pan. Beat the egg, pour it all over the steak, put over the remaining butter in bits, add the water to the pan, and bake one hour, basting four or five times.

THE GRAVY

1-4 pound of bacon
1-2 cupful of crumbs
1 cupful stock or water
1 onion
Clove of garlic
1 tablespoonful of butter
1 tablespoonful of parsley

Mr. Handley Lewis Finds Neuritis Remedy

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS WILL ALL BE INTERESTED

Port Lorne, N. S., Nov. 12—Mr. Lewis, a well-known local resident, makes his statement in order that other rheumatic sufferers may find the way to health. "I fell and hurt my shoulder badly in 1923. Neuritis set in, and the pain was intense. I used different liniments, but without avail. Then I used Nerviline. What a wonderful liniment it must be. It restored me, and I have never had neuritis since. I am 75 years of age, and may say that my wife uses Nerviline for cramps and pains; in fact, Nerviline is our family medicine. We would not think of being without it in our home."—Handley Lewis.

Nerviline is composed of seven of the most powerful pain-subduing substances known. For all rheumatic conditions, neuralgia, sore muscles, stiff joints, it will bring ease and comfort
