WELL CARED FOR

The Ottawa Journal is right when it says that Canadian legislators, which includes M. P.'s and Senators do no afare too badly. It goes on to say:

"Canadian legislators, come to think of it, are not so badly looked after. For a session which averages about five months they receive $4,000, which is $800 a month. In addition they receive free transportation for themselves and their depend-anas, upon all Canadian railways; are allowed travelling expenses to and from their sessional duties; are given free stenographers; and are provided with a first class restaurant where they and their families can secure meals at prices that are actually below cost."

BEHIND TIME

There is good in every man. When Clarence Lamb returned to his Indiana home, after an absence of nine years, he found that he was behind time. His wife had obtained a divorce and married another. She and their 11-year-old daughter were happy. The runaway husband accepted the situation philosophically. After buying dresses and other gifts for his daughter he went away, unwilling to disturb the happiness of those whom he had deserted.

The good in Clarence Lamb triumphed. If it choked him to do the right thing, that is his secret.

ADVICE FOR LEWIS

The pastor who performed the marriage ceremony for Sinclair Lewis and Dorothy Thompson gave Lewis some happy advice when he told him to write books that "men will read again and again and go to for strength when they are in despair."

This is a fine suggestion for the man who could so far depart from both art and truth as to produce that most pronounced failure of the past five years, "Elmer Gantry." Nobody not even such a professional observer as Sinclair Lewis saw a preacher like Elmer Gantry.

SENTIMENT

There is supposed to be something soft about sentiment. But sentiment is one of the most powerful agencies that pulls humankind. Not long ago a Scotchman traveled the 7,000 miles from Honolulu to Scotland to pick a few sprigs of heather and eat a dish of haggis. That was the reason for his long trip. It was reason enough. The love of his own land and his own people is understandable. Sentiment is no soft emotion. It is a powerful impulse.

The proposal to increase the salaries of judges was shelved during the closing days of the session of Parliament. The proposed increase in sessional indemnities of M. P.'s and Senators went by the board at the same time. Since the close of the session there has been a decided slump in the stock market but it can scarcely be attributed to the failure of Parliament to increase the salaries of judges and politicians.

Hon. C. D. Richards, Minister of Lands and Mines, will act as Premier of the province during the six weeks absence in England of Premier Baxter. Hon. L. P. D. Tilley, President of the Executive Council will act as Attorney General.

If he is like the average run of humanity, the Danish engineer who says there is an electrical charge in a kiss receives one occasionally, when leaving home in the morning, that doesn't register more than .01 of a volt.

That Chicago woman who killed herself because her husband used the wrong spoon is now one up on the average wife who, under similar circumstances, tries to sink through the floor.

The success magazines will have to look into the case of a Massachusetts man who, through unceasing diligence and meticulous planning was able to acquire liabilities of $600,000 and no assets.

The Forties: That mellowing period in a man's career, indicated in our always realistic movies by daubing dark shadows under the cheek bones, and rubbing chalk into the wig.

Mustapha Kemal is credited with smoking 150 cigarettes a day. And yet a scientific gent recently gave out the dictum that no cigarette smoker ever amounted to anything.

Everything comes to him who waits, and the younger generation, which is now being viewed with alarm will some day have the opportunity to become worried over the next one.

It all depends on the question. When asked whether he wished to take a ride in an airplane, Mr. Coolidge said in full as follows: "No."

For the benefit of budding writers of verse, it should be pointed out that H. Phelps Clawson, New York banker and poet, was a banker first.

Maybe in the end the meek will inherit the earth, as predicted. Meanwhile, the Philadelphia Nationals have won seven games.

"The crying need of the day," said the great Orator, "is more handkerchiefs."

THE HIGH SCHOOL ENTRANCE EXAMS BEGIN MONDAY

In the meantime the public schools in the city and the High School are going ahead with their final examinations. The majority of the public schools have completed them but the High School will not commence their finals until Monday.

High School will close on the 26th when the usual program will be held in the evening in the Assembly Hall of the High School, with the presentation of certificates to the graduates of this year's A class. Most of the High School A class students are planning to write the Matriculation examinations which will be held during the second week of July.
