CO-OPERATION AND SUPPORT FOR THE PROBLEMS OF THE EX-SERVICE MEN PROMISED

St. John, June 13—Promises of the co-operation and support of the Government of Canada for the problems of the ex-service men were made by Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Pensions and National Health and Hon. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster-General of the Dominion, who were speakers at a banquet tendered by the New Brunswick Command of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service to the delegates attending the second annual Dominion convention, in the Admiral Beatty Hotel, Tuesday evening.

More than 300 were in attendance at the dinner, presided over by J. Gilbert Hart, Provincial President, which was attended by "comrades" from coast to coast, including a number of distinguished officials of the Legion.

Fallen Comrades

The guests filed into the nicely decorated dining room to martial strains played by Bruce Holder and his orchestra, and throughout the dinner the playing of old war songs continued, the voices of the men blending occasionally with the orchestral strains as "Pack Up Your Troubles," "Tipperary," "It's a Lovely War," and other tunes which had cheered the hearts of the soldiers as they marched along the miles of dusty shell-torn roads in France were struck up. Both the music and the addresses were broadcast over radio station CFBO for the benefit of soldiers confined in hospitals and others unable to attend, through the courtesy of W. B. Tennant. The souvenir programs, printed in St. John, were a feature of the banquet, being cleverly prepared with an attractive cut of the King Square soldier's memorial on the front cover.

The observance of a minute's silence during the sounding of the last post, following the proposal of a toast to "Our Fallen Comrades" by Rev. Father Lockary was impressively carried out. Father Lockary paid glowing tribute to the patriotism and sacrifice of those who gave their lives in the great conflict, quoting, "Greater love than this has no man, that he lay down his life for a friend."

Replying to the toast to the Dominion of Canada, Hon. P. J. Veniot, in referring to the present high position of Canada in the commercial world, said that Saint John port during the last season was the second largest exporter of wheat on the Atlantic seaboard, coming second only to New York. The outlook is still greater expansion was especially bright. Canada, he said, was the first country to "go over the top" since the depression caused by the war and this was due in a large measure to those who had returned from active service to assume the part of leaders such as they had played at the front. Canada's progress must continue and to this end it must be a contented Canada, he said. The returned men therefore, should do their utmost to make it so. He declared that the problems of the ex-service men would receive a sympathetic consideration by the government of Canada. In closing he paid a high tribute to the soldiers' mothers, whom, he said, had paid a greater sacrifice in a way than the men who fought the country's battles under shell fire.

For Returned Men

Hon. Dr. J. H. King gave a sketch of the work which had been done by the government since the cessation of hostilities toward the betterment of the conditions existing among returned men. He declared that as a native of New Brunswick he was glad to be able to address such a gathering on a subject in which he had ever been vitally interested. It was the object of the department, he said, to employ men of the highest repute in the medical profession to assist in the hospital and other work for the soldiers. In addition to the hospitals they conducted 15,000 clinics yearly and carried on special investigations to give relief in periods of stress.

In 1920 the government had passed a returned soldiers' insurance act of which some 40,000 returned men took advantage. They had been amended, but he was glad to announce that the period had been extended a year in which ex-service men might enter and take advantage.

The pension problem's a very serious one, he thought, was based on as liberal principals as any country in the world. He compared the Canadian law with that of the United States, by which it was shown that Canada had the greater benefits. Dr. King praised the work of the committee on soldiers' problems, headed by Major Power, which had appeared before the last session of Parliament, and he was pleased to say that the $10,000 asked for by the committee to support the Legion in its Canadian work had been granted. He promised to facilitate the returned soldiers' work as far as was in his power.

The Lieutenant-Governor

Lieutenant-Governor Todd, who gave a short address, following the drinking of the toast to the King, declared that this was one of the grandest conventions that had ever assembled in the city of Saint John, because of what it stood for. "You are a power in Canada," he told the "comrades," "and this will increase as the years go by. I sincerely hope that your deliberations here will be for the good of Canada, which will tend to make our fair country the rarest gem of the British Empire."

G. Earle Logan, secretary of the reception committee, read communications expressive of regret from those who were unable to attend.

Hon. J. F. Cahane, assistant minister of highways for Nova Scotia, who proposed the toast to the Dominion, declared that he would not ask the audience to consider Canada's riches or resources or possibilities, but would ask them to think of the spirit of the Canadian people which had made it possible for such a gathering at this time.

Major Barry, in proposing the toast to the Canadian Legion, B. E. S. L., said that this was only the beginning of the work to be done by the organization, and outlined some of the projects which would be sponsored. This was responded to by Sir Percy Lake and Lieut.-Col. LaFleche.

British Settlers

Sir Percy stressed the necessity for increasing the stream of immigration into Canada from the British Isles and cutting down the immigration from other countries of Europe which could not so well boast law and order.

Lt.-Col. W. H. Harrison referred to the sailing of the first troops from St. John on the steamer Caledonia, June 13, 1915. He paid a high tribute to Sir Arthur Currie, former corps commander, and spoke of his latest "battle."

Any man who libels our former leader," he declared, "libels our dead." At the close of the banquet a telegram was forwarded to Sir Arthur, in which the convention wished a speedy recovery from his illness.

Other Speakers

Major J. S. Roper, of Nova Scotia, proposed the toast to New Brunswick and convention hosts in a humorous manner and was responded to by Hon. L. P. D. Tilley, president of the Executive Council and acting Attorney-General in the absence of Premier Baxter.

W. I. DELEGATES ENTERTAINED AT LUNCHEON

Last Evening.

At the meeting last evening two speakers were heard. Mrs. Hugh A. Dickson, M. D. of Truro, N. S., spoke on Child Welfare. She stressed the importance of acquiring and distributing information about pre-natal and post-natal care of children. Such information was now available and every mother and expectant mother should have it. She urged the W. I. to assist in the distribution of this information. Dr. Dickson outlined the report of the survey on Maternal Mortality made by Dr. Helen MacMurchey telling of two books, "The Canadian Father" and "The Canadian Mother" that she felt ought to be in the hands of every adult.

New Settlers.

Major MacDougall of the Land Settlement Board spoke on "New Settlers." He said that there were many new settlers in N. B. who needed the help of the Women's Institutes. It was not always the most attractive settler who most needed help. In fact it was likely to be the most unattractive, but he should be helped nevertheless. There were too many knockers and not enough real workers. Major MacDougall said that the Board was criticized by the farmers for bringing in settlers and by the city people for not bringing in enough settlers. He appealed for better co-operation. During the course of the evening an entertainment was given by the Devon W. I.

Hon. Lewis Smith.

Yesterday afternoon the meeting was addressed by Hon. Lewis Smith, Minister of Agriculture for N. B. He spoke of the growth and referred to the fine work of the Institute. He thought that in promoting health work and hospitals the Institute did a fine work. Mrs. Guy Humphrey of Hampton reported on legislation giving a comprehensive report of the work done during the year. Miss M. G. Otty, pro-services prayers of thanksgiving were said.

Evening Service.

Following a song service in the evening the Association service was delivered by the Rev. W. S. Smith of Hartland. Mr. Smith took as his text the words from Psalm 78: "The children of Ephraim, carrying arms turned back in the day of battle." He stressed the need for Christian action on three modern problems. There must be a stand for prohibition, the preacher said, a stand for protestantism and a stand for peace. War is thoroughly un-Christian. It is the duty of every Christian to insist that the statesmen conduct the affairs of the nations without recourse to arms. In case of war danger the people should be allowed the privilege to decide by vote whether or not the nation would fight.

Dr. Patterson.

Dr. Patterson, president of Acadia University, addressed the gathering. He spoke of the work done by the university stressing the work of the newly organized school of theology. Last year 46 students were enrolled in the school of theology and two graduates had been accepted for missionary work in India. President Patterson described the organization of the university and the affiliated seminary and academy. He spoke of the rapid development of the institution.

Protect New Brunswick Forests

from Careless Hands

NINE destructive fires out of ten are started by human hands — thoughtless hands — careless hands.

You have a responsibility in protecting our forests — they belong to you. They are worth millions of dollars to the people of the Province of New Brunswick.

Be sure the match is out before you throw it away — watch your cigarette, your cigar, and pipe ashes. Throw water or earth over your camp fire before you leave it.

This is the sixth advertisement in an educational campaign to impress upon the people of New Brunswick the value of our forests, and the necessity of the conservation and preservation of our natural resources.

Don't let yourself be responsible for a fire which would cause a loss of money and mean misery to your fellow citizens.
