THE CAUSE OF INSANITY

A North Dakota farmer whose wife had become insane was questioned. He could not understand why his wife should be insane, he said. She had not been subjected to any excitement. "Why, for 40 years" he said, "she hasn't been out of her back yard or her kitchen."

It's not speed that brings insanity. It's not excitement, so much as it is monotony. You who think you are busy and hurried and have too much to do may be glad of it when you think of those hungering souls in the far corners of the country who haven't been out of their door yards and their kitchens in 40 years.

SAFER FLYING

Somebody comments on the increasing number of accidents to fliers. As a matter of fact, flying becomes safer. Planes are made better, more dependable. The number of accidents, of course is accounted for by the tremendously increased number of fliers within the last year or two. In California an airplane is exhibited which will be safe even though the engine stalls. Speed and utility have been taken care of. The element of safety will come next.

The provincial by election in the St. Mary's division of Montreal to fill the vacancy caused by the unseating of the Liberal member returned in 1927, resulted in the return of Mayor Camille Houde, Conservative by a majority of 500. There were four candidates in the field, but two of them cut very little figure with the voters and will forfeit their deposits. Premier Taschereau and Hon. Ferdinand Rinfret, secretary of state, took part in the campaign in behalf of the Liberal candidate. Another by election in Quebec East yesterday resulted in the election of the Liberal candidate by 1090 majority.

The study of the universe, the ordered movement of the planets, the observation of all the carefully prepared and arranged processes of nature should lead us into the practice of living thoughtful lives. When we perceive that nature is ruled by a creative force and ruled in an orderly manner, what excuse can we have for living lives of chaotic disarrangement and thoughtlessness?

Robert E. Lee wrote, in a letter to his son, that "duty is the sublimest word in the English language." To do one's duty as one sees it is the secret of thoughtful and successful living. It sounds simple and is simple—but it is extremely difficult. Mistakenly we seek rest and comfort by shirking duty. Strange that we find it so hard to learn that the path of duty is the way to rest.

Most unsuccessful salesmen have two things to blame: a lack of belief in their own goods, and timidity. Why be timid in the presence of a prospect when you have something you really believe is good for him? If you don't really believe he ought to have it, you are dishonest in trying to sell it to him. If your goods are right you are doing him a kindness to come into his office. Walk in with your head up and don't apologize.

Overheard in the bus: "I don't know what to do. The dentist says he is through with me and I haven't finished a serial story I found in his waiting room."

The Skeptics' Society at its next meeting will attempt to discover what per cent of grave happenings cited by campaign publicists as such are really Stern Reminders.

What ever became of the painted screen, showing a marble balustrade and sunken garden that used to appear behind you when having your photograph taken.

Fairy Story: "Once there was a great athlete who was photographed while signing a large contract and didn't hold the fountain pen as if it were a Stilson wrench."

The difference between amateur and professional sport seems to depend entirely on who gets the money.

Middle age is that period of life a woman is still approaching long after her husband has passed out of it.

An automobile mechanic's assistant is one who hasn't yet learned to wipe his hands on the velvet cushions.

One of the most astounding things in foot ball is a New York city college team that wins a lot of games and is called the Violet.

It is said that two movings are harder on furniture than a fire and they're worse on nerves than a couple of major operations.

FOUR KILLED IN OLD COUNTRY TRAIN WRECK

(Special cable to THE DAILY MAIL by the British Union Press.)

Glasgow, Oct. 25—Four persons were killed early today when a London-to-Scotland express train collided with a freight at Wamphry, forty miles north of Carlisle. Both engines were derailed and fell over an embankment. The dead included the two engineers and a fireman. Three passengers were injured.

NO WORD YET OF LEWIS BURDEN

There is still no word of Lewis Burden, Queensbury man who disappeared from his home on Tuesday morning of last week. All efforts to discover his whereabouts, dead or alive, have been fruitless, though the searchers are still actively engaged in the hunt. The river near the home and the forest district nearby are objects of the most thorough search.

Relatives have abandoned hope of finding Mr. Burden alive and will offer a reward for the recovery of the body. Mr. Burden has a savings account in a local bank and prior to his disappearance spoke of having it changed to a joint account, but failed to have this done. He also carried some life insurance.

Officers Elected

At the annual conference of the Fredericton Deanery Sunday School Association held yesterday at the Christchurch Cathedral the officers for the coming year were elected and are as follows: President, W. J. Wilkinson, city; Vice-President, Miss L. M. Miles, Nashwaaksis; Secretary, Rev. Thomas Parker, Kingsclear; Superintendent of teacher's training, Miss Ladds, city; Superintendent of the missionary department, Rev. A. F. Bate, city; Superintendent of the home training department, Rev. C. F. Markham, Stanley; Representative on the Diocesan Board of Religious Education, Miss L. M. Miles, Nashwaaksis. There were more than thirty-five representatives from the various parishes in attendance at yesterday's meeting. The meeting included the reading of reports and other work and at the conclusion a luncheon was held in the Memorial Hall in charge of the ladies of the congregation.

Left for St. John

His Grace the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Vancouver, B. C., the Most Rev. Timothy Casey, D. D. who for the past few days has been visiting Very Rev. Dean Carney in this city, left this morning for St. John. His Grace intends to spend a few days in that city before returning to his home in Vancouver. The Archbishop while in this city made many friends besides greeting many old friends and was greatly pleased with his stay there.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

A woman has been in a swimming pool 72 hours. A bath lifetime for many persons.

The man in the moon must be a model husband because he never takes a night out.

Famous husbands are just mere mortals when they throw cigaret ashes on the floor.

Many a husband, were he to look at his wife, would realize that he is paying for a rare painting.

Eighty-five per cent of the people are honest and the other 15 per cent are always watching the majority.

"Huh!" said the town knocker, "bet I could find something wrong with that place they call Utopia."

It looks as though Mother Nature has been a back-seat driver on the sprinkler wagon during the last few days.

If he is quite young, and has a couple of high school babies in the car with him, he likes to show what dangerous stunts he can perform in traffic.

"What is the matter with the modern home?" asks a clergyman. Well, it has all the new-fangled fixin's, piano, radio, phonograph, telephone, electric lights, hot and cold water and other conveniences. Perhaps it needs a moving picture outfit, a dance hall and a jazz orchestra.

RECTOR MOTORS PARISH MEMBERS TO CHURCH

London, Oct. 25—The rector of a scattered Sussex parish near Steyning drives a number of the parishioners to church every Sunday evening in his automobile and takes them home again after the service.

Each Sunday the rector drives to a different point near the boundary of his parish, the time and placing having been announced from the pulpit the previous week and picks up church people living near.

NOWADAYS YOU PRESS A BUTTON

Or perhaps a switch, or some little gadget, and a lot of things happen around home that lighten labor and banish trouble.

A Whirling Fan brings a cooling breeze, and a little copper, dish-like affair throws out a sizzling blast that warms the room in no time.

Another button boils coffee, toasts bread and cooks waffles. Another does a better job than a broom. Another makes a happy laundress out of a dismal washwoman. Another one cools the ice-box. Another—but why go on?

Labor and time saving devices have come and are today within the reach of the humblest home.

And one of the chief reasons why they have come and why they are within the reach of the humblest home is the power of advertising.

Advertising has carried the news of these better ways of doing things to every home. It has created a desire to possess them, and countless thousands have purchased them, and live better because of them.

Reading advertising not only tells you about new, helpful mechanical devices for the home, but it is an unerring guide to reliable products.

READ ADVERTISING REGULARLY. IT POINTS THE WAY TO BETTER LIVING.
