

JACK DUNN WAS ONE OF GAME'S GREAT FIGURES

Baltimore, Oct. 24—Jack Dunn, owner and manager of the Baltimore International League Baseball Club, who died yesterday while attending field trials near here, was recognized as one of the game's greatest figures.

He died while indulging in the hobby he loved best outside of baseball—watching his trained bird dogs on exhibit in the field trials. Dunn had been shouting excitedly as he rode over the field. Suddenly his head fell forward on his chest, and he slumped in his saddle, apparently dead before his body slipped to the ground.

Won Seven Pennants.

During his 33 years in organized baseball, Dunn accomplished many things for which he will be remembered. He won seven straight pennants in the International League from 1919 to 1925 inclusive, an unbroken record in baseball. He gave Babe Ruth his start in professional baseball. He found Ruth with the St. Mary's industrial school team in Baltimore in 1914. Ruth was a pitcher with Baltimore and was sold to the Boston Red Sox in mid-season for a reported price of $2,900.

Not in Majors.

Dunn was rated as one of the outstanding managers in baseball and had many offers to manage Major League teams but chose to remain here. He perhaps developed and sold more players to the big leagues than any other minor league manager.

He always maintained that the Baltimore team of 1914 was the finest minor league team ever put together and twelve of the fourteen members of the team were sold to the big show. Besides Ruth, some of the players sent up by Dunn include Lefty Grove, Max Bishop, Joe Boley, and Lefty Earnshaw, all of the Philadelphia Athletics, Fritz Maisel, Bob Shawkey, Bill Lamar, Ira Thomas, Turner Barber, Dave Danforth, Ernie Shore, Bill Knopf, Charley Pick, Maurice Rath, Allan Russell, Butch Schmidt, and others.

Born in Pennsylvania.

Dunn was born in Meadville, Pa., October 6, 1876, and began his professional career with the Binghamton, N. Y. Club as a pitcher and second baseman in 1895. He played with Brooklyn and the New York Giants. He came to Baltimore in 1901 from the Philadelphia Nationals, but was sold back to the Giants, where he remained until 1905. He returned to Baltimore in 1907 from Providence as player-manager, succeeding the late Hugh Jennings. He retired as a player in 1912, but continued as manager of the

RED AND BLACK SUFFERED FIRST DEFEAT IN 4 YEARS AT HANDS OF MT. A. RUGBYISTS

Sackville Men Spring Surprise by Victory Over U. N. B. 12 to 0 at Sackville Yesterday—Mounties Mark Red and Black Speed Boys to Perfection—Capt. Bartlett of Mt. A. Star of the Game—Gets Field Goal in Opening Minutes—Two Tries, One Unconverted Accounts for Rest of Points—Crowd of 2000 Witness Game—U. N. B. Not Discouraged.

Sackville, Oct. 24—Before a crowd estimated at 2,000 Coach Ray Smith's gridmen ran the gamut and gold colors of Mt. A. above the red and black of U. N. B. for the first time in four years with a decisive victory of 12-0 on the Mount Allison field here today. Mt. A. threw a surprise into the U. N. B. camp when they turned their entire back field into a hard tackling defensive machine. So close did they mark the red and black three quarter line that they were able to get the full quartette away successfully but three or four times during the game and only once did they make a gain of more than 15 or 20 yards.

The exception came in the second half, when they featured in the nicest passing run of the game, the ball traveling from Burns to MacNally to Richards to Goodspeed who was tackled by Miller without a chance to pass, near the Mt. A. line. Another thorn in the side of the U. N. B. was the fast tackling of Bul Lister who turned in the best game of his career at flying quarter. He had Babbitt covered like a blanket. The entire Mt. A. team went into the game with a spirit of determination that has been unexcelled on the Mt. A. campus for years.

Bartlett Stars

To Capt. Eddie Bartlett goes the lion's share of the victory. He turned in a great day's work showing his team the way when he drew first blood with his clever field goal after seven minutes' play in the first half the play coming like a bolt out of the sky. The ball came to him from a short three quarter line run. He was pretty well hemmed in on the 25 yard U. N. B. line looked around for a chance to pass saw none, then suddenly dropped the ball to the ground and booted at the goal. The ball struck the crossbar, wavered for a second then toppled over. It was a wonderful play and it gave the large crowd a great thrill. It was Bartlett who again opened the scoring in the second half when he kicked a ball lost by Miller over the U. N. B. line and followed up to ground it.

To Bul Lister and MacLauchlan goes the credit for the second try. Lister carried the ball from the U. N. B. 25 yard line to the five yard line, where he was sandwiched and dropping the ball, dribbled it over the line. MacLauchlan who was running beside him, grounded the ball. Miller converted successfully.

A great deal of punting and kicking for touch was indulged in by both teams, with the result that the game was not as interesting from the spectators' point of view as it would have been had the back fields got into action more often. Referee Mills handed out many penalties for off-sides and interference. These honors were pretty evenly divided.

The Play

First Half—Lister returned the U. N. B. kickoff and U. N. B. forwards carried the play to mid field. MacMillan, Mt. A. forward was knocked out in a head on collision. On resumption of play, the ball came out clean to the Mt. A. three quarter line, who carried into the U. N. B. territory for a 40 yard gain. Bartlett slipped and the U. N. B. forwards dribbled it well up field where a scrum was called. Paige dribbled back to mid field. Mt. A. was given a free kick for an off-side.

Miller booted for touch to U. N. B. 25 yard line. On throw in Mt. A. three quarter line got away for a short run, the ball going to Bartlett who finding himself boxed, very resourcefully kicked a field goal. It was a clever piece of quick thinking and electrified the spectators and was a great inspiration to his team mates.

Mt. A. forced the play carrying to the U. N. B. five yard line where they were penalized for an off-side. A punting contest between the back fields followed, with Mt. A. having the advantage. Mt. A. was given a free kick for an off-side. Pearson went well into Mt. A. territory on a splendid dribble. The Mt. A. quarters carried the play back into the U. N. B. territory.

U. N. B. Attacks

Following a scrum the U. N. B. ball went to Babbitt who succeeded in getting the three quarters into action for a good gain, the ball being downed about 20 yards from the Mt. A. line. The ball came to Goodspeed who was uncovered, he made a desperate dash for the line but was tackled by White, the Mt. A. full back, a few yards from the line. With the end of period near at hand U. N. B. was making a terrific effort to score.

The Mt. A. team were holding on like bulldogs. MacBeath, robbed them of a try when he intercepted a pass from Goodspeed to MacNally a few feet in front of the Mt. A. goal posts. He punted down the field and the forwards following fast held the play out if the danger zone. U. N. B. forwards dribbled back and Mt. A. touched for safety.

Another punting contest followed. An off-side gave Mt. A. a free kick and Miller tried for penalty goal which went wide. Pearson and Petrie were very effective at dribbling. The half ended with play in U. N. B. territory. Score Mt. A. 4; U. N. B. 0.

Second Half

U. N. B. was very aggressive with the opening of the second period but found the Garnet and Gold right on the job. The play went to Mt. A. forwards carried back with

NEW RULES WILL AUGUR WELL FOR COAST HOCKEY

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 24—Frank Patrick who has probably introduced more new rules to professional hockey than any other man is still busy making what he considers to be improvements to the game. At the annual meeting of the revived Pacific Coast Hockey Association held today Patrick introduced his latest contribution to pro hockey and all but one of them was accepted.

Patrick's new rules are not of major importance but they serve to rectify some flaws which the coast mogul believes have been a handicap to the game.

Plenty of Time

Patrick is going to give the fans a chance to enjoy the thrill of a goal scored. In the past the play has gone on without hardly a moment's hesitation. The puck has been caged, the referee handed the puck, skated to the official scorer and mumbled something that could hardly be heard and then waited out to centre ice for a face-off. In the Pacific Coast League this winter there will be a 30 second lapse when the goal is scored. This will eliminate hurried actions, thinks Patrick.

Time For Rest

Another feature of Patrick's will be the privilege extended to the captain of a team to call "time out" and catch a breather. This can only be done after a goal has been scored and at any time except within the first 10 minutes of the game. The rule has been introduced for the purpose of giving a team which has carried a lead all through the game and states to slip towards the close a chance to recover itself. A one minute "call out" can be called. It is somewhat similar to the "time out" call in basketball.

Scoring a Goal

Patrick's third innovation is one for which the need has been urgently felt in hockey for a long time. It is in respect to the fouling of an attacker when going in to shoot. In the past most referees have halted the play when an offense has been committed by a defensive player and a probable goal has been called back. Now if an attacker is fouled he will be allowed to complete the play if possible. If he scores a goal it will be allowed and the offending player will be penalized.

"I never forget the time we were playing in Ottawa" remarked Patrick by way of illustration, "when Russell Bowie, one of the greatest shots of that time and I were making an attack. I was carrying the puck and was tripped. I passed the puck when on my stomach and Bowie picked it up and scored. We skated back to our positions figuring we had scored a goal, but the referee called for a face off when I was tripped and the goal was disallowed. By our new rule the play must be completed before the referee blows his whistle to rule off the offending player."

Wants Four Quarters

Patrick also introduced a rule for the consideration of the other moguls of the league but advised that it be held over for a year. Its purpose is to divide the game into four quarters bringing it into line with other national games, football and lacrosse. Patrick proposed to have five minute rests between the first and second periods and a similar rest between the third and fourth. At half time there would be a ten minute rest.

The possibility of a rule of this nature is to be thoroughly gone into this season and it may be introduced in another year's time.

short run and dribbles. From a scrum well in the U. N. B. territory the ball went to the U. N. B. three quarters who staged the finest passing run of the game for a gain of 60 yards, Goodspeed finally being pulled down by Miller. Following this play Lister passed out to Bartlett who came very near making his second field goal. The ball striking the crossbar as it did on his previous goal but this time it hit fairer and bounced back. Burns one of the U. N. B. quarters gave the fans the next thrill when he broke away on the longest individual run of the game, about 50 yards.
