FORESTRY DELEGATES WERE GUESTS AT A DINNER AT THE EXPERIMENTAL STATION

Importance of Conserving Our Forest Wealth is Urged in Stirring Addresses by Dean Moon of Syracuse, President Golding, Col. Price and Others—Mayor Clark Cordially Welcomes the Delegates to the City—Hon. W. L. Hall of Halifax a Speaker.

A most enjoyable feature of a social nature in connection with the Canadian Forestry Convention was the dinner in the Agricultural School building at the Fredericton Experimental Station last evening. The attendance numbered more than two hundred ladies and gentlemen, including the delegates to the convention and the excellent program of speech making carried out, was followed with the keenest interest. The dinner was prepared by the staff of the Experimental Station and was served in a manner that left nothing to be desired. The four long tables were decorated with cut flowers, and candles were used to augment the electric lighting system. The outstanding speaker of the evening was Mr. Franklin D. Moon, of Syracuse, N. Y., who discoursed eloquently on the theme "Nation Building Through Forestry." Other speakers included His Worship Mayor Clark, Mr. E. M. Taylor, assistant superintendent of the station, Col. John H. Price, of Quebec, Attorney General Hall, of Nova Scotia and President W. E. Golding. All the speeches were broadcast from stations, CFNB, CNRA and CFBO.

Hon. Mr. Richards
After a toast to the King had been drunk with musical honors, Hon. Mr. Richards made a few remarks in which he expressed his gratification over the large attendance. He was particularly pleased to see delegates present from the United States ready to share with them the common problems of the two countries. The fact that they were meeting in an agricultural school showed that they were working in harmony with the other great industry of the country. He regretted the absence of Mr. Bailey, the superintendent of the station, but they had with them Mr. E. M. Taylor, his assistant, and he felt sure that all would be pleased to hear from him.

Mr. E. M. Taylor

Mr. Taylor, the assistant superintendent was then called to the front and in a neat speech told of the splendid work being accomplished on behalf of agriculture by the Experimental Farm system of Canada. He dwelt particularly on the great boon which had come to the farmers of Western Canada through the discovery by Prof. Saunders of the Central Experimental Farm of Marquis wheat. The discovery was made in 1910, and now ninety per cent of the wheat produced in the west is of the Marquis variety. He held that on an annual expenditure of a million and a quarter dollars, the experimental farms were accomplishing much for the farmers of Canada. The Fredericton Experimental Station established in 1912, had been largely cleared from the forest and was doing good work. They had 5,000 varieties of apples under way and hoped before long to produce a variety which would compete favorably with the British Columbia product. In poultry and egg production the station stood second only to British Columbia.

Mayor Clark

His Worship, the Mayor, in a vigorous address, welcomed the delegates on behalf of the city. He went on to say that Fredericton as a "noble daughter of the forest," was proud of its beautiful elm trees, and all citizens were glad that it had been chosen for such an important convention. Fredericton seem to him so much like sister of Lands and Mines, who had done so much to make the convention a success, and it also had as a citizen Mr. Archibald Fraser, one of the princes of the lumbering and paper industry. He hoped that all the delegates would have occasion to pay future visits to Fredericton.

Prof. Moon

Prof. Franklin Moon, dean of the forestry school at Syracuse, N. Y., was next called upon and delivered the address of the evening. He prefaced his remarks with a pleasing reference to a daylight ride by train from Vancouver to Fredericton. He said he did not know what it was that made Fredericton seem to him so much like Syracuse until he heard the Mayor say that it was a "noble daughter of the forest." In the course of his remarks he said that he had been pleased to learn that the present Minister of Lands and Mines had disposed of the Restigouche angling leases for $75,000, against a previous price of $16,000 and it was to him a splendid instance of good business management. He warmly praised the Canadian Forestry Association, being particularly complimentary to its manager, Mr. Robson Black. A complete report of his address will be found on another page of this issue.

Hon. Mr. Richards on behalf of the gathering thanked Prof. Moon for his very able and instructive address.

Quebec Delegates

Mr. Arville Bedard, assistant chief forester of the Province of Quebec was next called upon and responded with a brief but witty address. He expressed regret at the absence of Hon. Honore Mercier, the Minister of Forests and Mines, and was sure that the audience, in view of the substitute who had been chosen, must also regret it. He appreciated the hearty welcome which had been extended to him, and considered it a great privilege to be identified with so worthy a body as the Canadian Forestry Association. He was sure that good work was being accomplished for forest protection in New Brunswick under the direction of Hon. Mr. Richards. He had traveled by car from Newcastle to Fredericton in company with Col. Price, and his observations convinced him that the province possessed good land for growing timber. He would suggest that a windbreak be established along the Miramichi road for the benefit of those who have occasion to travel by open car.

Col. Price

Col. John Price, of Quebec, head of Price Bros. Limited, and a past-president of the organization, was the next speaker. Like Mr. Bedard he regretted the absence of Hon. Honore Mercier, whom, were he present would have something to say worth while. Thanks to the energy of the provincial government, with the co-operation of the Association there had been great development in Quebec during the past four or five years, and a high state of efficiency had been reached with respect to a most valuable asset. During the last few years a totally different attitude on the part of farmers and settlers towards the fighting of forest fires was noticeable, so more had been accomplished than had ever been thought possible. After praising the work of the Association the colonel said that he had been brought into contact with graduates of the U. N. B. Forestry School, and could agree with all that had been said concerning them. He wished to congratulate the government on its decision to enlarge the work. He also wished to thank the people of the city for allowing the Association to meet with them. Never in his life had he seen more beautiful trees, and it was his wish that he be spared many years so he could return often to Fredericton and get acquainted with its people.

Hon. W. L. Hall

Hon. W. L. Hall, who was introduced as the Minister of Lands and Forests of Nova Scotia and incidentally as Attorney General, was the next speaker and was warmly greeted. He said that it was the first forestry convention he had ever attended, and what he had heard so far had more than repaid him for coming. He did not pose as an expert on forestry and the fact that he was holding a dual portfolio went to show that they had an economical government in Nova Scotia. He went on to say that while Nova Scotia was an old province its forestry department was almost new, having been created in 1926. The province had extensive crown lands out, but the majority of them were held by private individuals in fee simple. He went on to tell of the changes which had already been brought about under the new act and of the progress being made along the lines of fire protection, conservation and reforestation. He said that only 20 per cent of the forest lands of Nova Scotia were held by the Crown, but after all it made little difference so long as proper methods of conservation were observed.

Hon. Mr. Hall in conclusion said that he regretted that large quantities of pulp wood were shipped from his province each year to be manufactured abroad. He hoped to see the day when it would be used to assist in the building of a nation and that nation would be Canada. He did not believe that Canada could be made a nation unless its natural products were protected.

President Golding

The closing address was by President Golding who made a stirring appeal to the men and women, and boys and girls of the province in the interests of forest protection. He said in part: "This Association of yours is one which my great modesty compels me to tell you is the biggest and best in the world today. We started in 1900 with a membership of about 2000.
