Royden F. Horncastle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rankine Horncastle of O'Dell Avenue, has arrived home from Iroquois Falls, Ontario to spend a few days with his relatives before leaving to resume his duties again. Mr. Horncastle is employed with the Abitibi Power and Paper Company of that city and has been with them since his graduation from the University of New Brunswick several years ago. The young man is well known here and popular with a large circle and he is receiving the well wishes of his friends in his position in the north.

THE TORONTO GLOBE SAYS THAT THE CHALLENGE OF HON. MR. VENIOT IS AN INSOLENT ONE

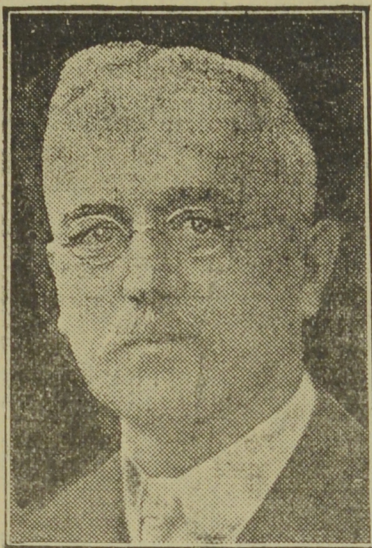

Under the heading, "Let Mr. Veniot Resign," the Toronto Globe, long recognized as the most influential Liberal organ in all Canada, gave first page double-column prominence to the following:

"This arrogant challenge on the part of the Postmaster-General evidently is aimed at the Prime Minister of Canada and his colleagues in the Dominion Government. No other man, or no other body of men, has authority to change the decision.

"It is an amazingly insolent chal-of the age warped or destroyed the British instinct for fair play. The communications from women—from mothers—in all parts of the Province are most impressive, and it is a good omen for the weal of our Dominion that party politics are pushed into their proper place. A very considerable share of the protest—the most emphatic protests—are from Liberals. One mother whose eldest son is sleeping in France says that she was 'brought up in a Liberal home, and have always worked for the Liberal cause, but gratitude and justice to the dear boys who sacrificed themselves for all of us come first. If Mr. Whitaker does not receive justice, then I am a Liberal no more, or at any rate not the kind of a Liberal who will support a party which does that sort of thing.'

"Somehow or other it seems that the politician who has shaken his fist in the face of his Prime Minister and in the face of deeply appreciative and patriotic sentiment among the people has overreached himself this time. If the issue, as the latter stated at Simcoe, is an issue as to which man shall be in the King's service in Canada—the man with the artificial feet or the man with the political heart—the Prime Minister should have no difficulty in deciding. If he has any doubt, he will find the people quite willing and ready to decide it for him."

lenge, not only to the head of the Administration and his Cabinet associates, but also to the people of Canada. It is a challenge which cannot be ignored.

"It puts the issue squarely up to the Prime Minister, the Cabinet and the public. Is a young man who served his King and Country in the stressful time when all was threatened, and paid the sacrifice of that service in the loss of both feet in battle, to be refused the opportunity to re-enter the King's service in a position which the Civil Service Commission of Canada, after examination, has held him to be the most competent to fill, and accordingly appointed him? Or is a politician who has rejected the soldier and cancelled the appointment to be permitted to take himself out of the King's service as a representative in the Government of the citizenship of Canada?

"Since the politician raises and defines the issue, let it be so. 'You must either reject him,' says the politician of the soldier, 'or lose me.'

"And who, after all, is the 'me'? Who is this politician who pits his position against doing justice to a crippled soldier who is pluckily facing the future on artificial feet? Who is this Mr. Veniot who figuratively shakes his fist in the face of the Prime Minister, his fellow Cabinet Ministers, the Amputations Association, and all citizens who gratefully remember the past and are determined that gallant service and sacrifice shall not be counted against the soldier? What are his claims to public consideration? What particular service has he rendered to Canada or the Empire, at home or abroad?

Pertinent Questions.

"These are questions the people of Canada must now face and consider—not because they desire to do so, but because Mr. Veniot himself has publicly challenged the comparison. They know that his own Province of New Brunswick rejected this politician—whether wisely or not may be debatable; at any rate it was done with considerable emphasis.

"But the direct, definite, immediate responsibility rests with the Prime Minister and the Government. Mr. Veniot's challenge is to his leader and to his colleagues. The public cannot act yet.

"During the past few days, in the consideration of this unusual and intensely human issue, the Globe has learned how largely the so-called little things of life loom in the public estimation—the tug on the heartstrings, the poignancy of sympathetic memories, the keen sense of decency and justice. There is nothing the matter with the sentiment and the spirit of Canadians. They have not forgotten, nor has the oft-deplored materialism

TAXI DRIVERS WERE FINED FOR SPEED OFFENCE

town marshal Harry Arnold and Horace Pettigrove were heard for the prosecution and Marvin Mitchell, who drives a taxi in his spare time and attends school, and George Kraff were the two defendants heard in court this morning.

Racing Across Bridge.

The evidence given by the prosecution was to the effect that the two young men, taxi drivers were racing across the bridge on the night of October 6th and were going at a much faster speed than twenty miles an hour. The informant stated that they were going thirty miles per hour across the bridge. Mr. Pettigrove, while on the stand said that he wasn't sure whether the two were racing but he was quite certain that the cars were travelling at a faster clip than twenty miles per hour. He also stated that from where he was standing which was across from the railroad station, the front wheels of the Mitchell car were about parallel with the back wheels of the Kraff car as they went onto the bridge from the station side.

The defence side of the story was that they were not travelling a bit over 15 or 20 miles an hour and that they had no knowledge of racing. Both Kraff and Mitchell said that they went onto the bridge together but about half way over Mitchell stopped and took on several passengers. In summing up the case the magistrate said that it did not matter at what speed the cars were going, the point was whether the cars were at that time transgressing the safety rules of the road. He concluded they were and said the fact that the two cars entered the bridge abreast showed that they disregarded this rule.

Missionary Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the St. Paul's United Church was held yesterday afternoon in the Fraser Memorial building with a good attendance of members present. Mrs. George Telford was in the chair and during the meeting gave a very interesting address on Africa. Mrs. Eldridge of Devon sang a very pleasing solo. At the meeting it was decided to hold the autumn thank offering on October 25th., when Miss Florence Bird, a returned missionary from Japan will be the principal speaker. Considerable routine business was done.

Mrs. Harry Walker and her sister Miss Nellie Parker, were joint hostesses at seven tables of bridge at Mrs. Walker's home in Smythe street on Wednesday evening and again on Thursday evening.

BASEBALL PARTY PLAY SOFT BALL IN FREDERICTON

be with the party, these being Mickey Cochrane, star catcher of the Philadelphia Athletics, and Walter Huntzinger, who was formerly with the New York Giants and has also pitched for the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs in the National League and is now a minor league club manager. Cochrane is a former Boston University athletic star while Huntzinger was football star in Pennsylvania before entering professional baseball.

One member of the world champion New York Yankees will be with the party in the person of Benny Bengough, who caught all the world's series games for the Hugmen, while the others will include Sam Jones, who was the Washington Senators leading pitcher this season, Joe Bush and Collins of the Philadelphia Athletics. Fred Hofmann of the Boston Red Sox will not be with the party as he intends to go to Japan on a barnstorming trip with Ty Cobb's team. He has been spending some time at Bill Carrigan's camps in Maine.

The baseball stars will be entertained by friends here on Monday evening and on Tuesday morning will motor to Doaktown starting from there at noon that day for the 12 miles trip into the woods to Hopewell Lodge, which has been placed at their disposal by the owners. Frank Russell, of Doaktown, will be the head guide in charge of the party.

SHORT, TALL, THIN, FAT CAN'T GO TO SCHOOL

Tiffin, O., Oct. 12—A little matter of weight and height may be a stumbling block in the path of many a youth aspiring to a place in the industrial world.

This theory was advanced by Prof. Franklin J. Miller, president of Tiffin Business University, where the weight and height of applicants are being used as basis for admission.

There will be no very thin nor very fat pupils in the school this year. Pupils unusually short or tall also were refused admission.

"The oversized or undersized student finds greater difficulty in being placed in position than those of normal size" according to Prof. Miller.

"Variations of standards used by insurance companies were employed in determining whether students may be admitted."

HOPES TO SELL FINGER- NAILS AT A PROFIT

Paris, Oct. 12—A firm dealing in antiques and curiosities received an offer from China of the longest fingernails they know about. The Chinese correspondent wrote that the two nails of the last two fingers of his left hand have attained the length of 52 1-3 inches and he desires to dispose of them now for profit. He hopes to sell them for $300 and suggests that perhaps some American museum would be interested in them.

DOCTOR TOOK OUT HIS OWN APPENDIX

Los Angeles, Oct. 11—A report was confirmed today by Dr. Robert Meals, Hollywood surgeon, that he successfully removed his own appendix Monday in an operation performed while he was propped up on the operating table of a Los Angeles hospital.

Using only a local anaesthetic, Dr. Meals opened his abdomen, removed the inflamed organ and sewed the wound.

Another surgeon, Dr. J. N. Nichols attended the self operating patient and assisted only in locating and loosening the appendix. Dr. Meals stated that such a feat had been performed previously only two or three times in medical history.

IF UNDER 16 YOU CANNOT PET IN THIS TOWN

Pitman, Pa., Oct. 12—Mayor David R. Stanton has issued the following ukase: "Petting by persons under 16 years of age will no longer be permitted by the authorities of Pitman. It's all right for those over 16—but they should know better."

The mayor's order followed, he said complaints of substantial citizens of the community who said they were very much annoyed when they came upon petting parties along the streets of Pitman at night.

Perhaps the petters were annoyed too, but, as yet they have made no complaints to police.
