Modifications are Likely In the Revised Prayer Book

Well Informed Church of England Newspaper Intimates That Such May Happen—Conference of Bishops Has Been Concluded—Steamship Companies in Working Agreement.

(Special to the Daily Mail by the British United Press)

London, Jan. 14—Three modifications are likely to be made in the revised prayer book as a result of the conference of bishops just concluded, according to the Guardian, a Church of England newspaper which is usually well informed.

These concern the use of prayer for the King, the declaration in connection with kneeling known as "Black Rubric", and the rules remaining the conservation of bread and wine.

The purpose of the changes is to remove the misapprehensions on which the bishops believe the commons rejection was based.

Shipping Firms Reach Agreement

London, Jan. 14—Two leading shipping firms the Furness Withy Company of London and the Cairn line steamships of Newcastle both with large interests in Canada and the United States, have reached a working agreement whereby their ships and resources will be cooperated toward a common end.

The shares of both companies will be exchanged, while representatives of each company will sit on either of the directorates. Seven million pounds sterling in capital are involved.

NO SEPARATE TRIAL FOR PAL OF HICKMAN

The Twain Must Prepare Joint Defence in the Thoms Murder Case.

(Special to the Daily Mail by the British United Press)

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 14—Although they are reported antagonistic toward each other Edward Hickman and Welby Hunt must prepare a joint defense for the trial for the murder of Ivy Thomas a durgist. Hunt asked for a severance granting him a separate trial, because the "odium" attached to Hickman's murder of 12 year old Marion Parker would exert an influence against him. The request was denied. The joint trial was set for February 1, to follow directly after Hickman's trial for the Parker murder.

HICCOUGH MAN IS IMPROVED

(Special cable to The Daily Mail by the British United Press)

Falls City, Neb. Jan. 14—A slight improvement today was noted in the condition of James Goldman 69 who has suffered for 28 days from hiccoughs. The hiccoughs have virtually subsided doctors say, but Goldman was still in a weakened condition.

A Fine Calendar

The finest calendar the Mail has received this year was sent in by Mr. J. Stanley Scott a local pulpwood dealer. The illustration is from a painting of a New Brunswick plover by Frederick M. Spiegle and depicts a battle between an angler and an Atlantic salmon. The battle is being waged from a bark canoe and seems to have been won by the fish. The picture is entitled "Once in a Lifetime."

MISSING SHIP TURNS UP AT PORTLAND, ME.

Her Captain Figured in Tragedy on the Bark Hethbert Fuller Many Years Ago.

Portland, Me., Jan. 13—The four-masted schooner Alvena, reported in distress off Cape Hateras a week ago, and believed to have been lost at sea, arrived in port today. Captain Thomas M. Bram was surprised to learn that fears had been entertained for the safety of himself and crew, which includes two Eastport men, and said no distress signals had been displayed.

The schooner which left Jacksonville, Fla., December 30, for Portland with a cargo of lumber, was reported at Uorfolk, Va., as having been sighted a week ago yesterday afternoon in distress 125 miles southeast of Cape Henry by the fruit steamer Sixoala.

The coast guard cutter Mascoutin was sent to locate and tow the disabled craft to Norfolk, but the search was without result.

The schooner was making her second voyage to Portland since being brought from the Pacific coast where with her sister craft, the Irene, she was raised from the mud of a west coast harbor and refitted after which they had their handicap race of more than three months to Miami.

The schooner's master, as well as owner, became nationally known when he was convicted in Boston of the murder on the high seas in 1896 of Captain Nash, Mrs. Nash and the second mate of the Barkentine Herbert Fuller, of which Bram was mate. Later he was paroled by President Taft and pardoned by the late President Wilson.

Two members of the crew are Amos Hayward and his son, Lyman, of Eastport, who shipped in that city for the voyage to Florida and return when the schooner delivered a cargo of salt there in October.

A resolution not to make any resolutions is easiest kept.

TARIFF CHANGES MAY BE MADE NEXT SESSION

Some Talk of Restoring Imperial Penny Postage — Sales Tax May be Further Reduced.

Ottawa, Jan. 13—Unusual activity in the offices of the advisory board on tariff and taxation and many conferences recently between Hon. James A. Robb, Minister of Finance, and William H. Moore, chairman of the board, indicates that steps are being taken by the King government to submit some tariff changes to Parliament at the coming session.

While the closest secrecy prevails as to the fiscal intentions of the government it is believed that the changes to be proposed will be important, though probably not as spectacular as some tariff moves previously made by the Liberal administration notably the reduction in the duty on automobiles and agricultural implements. Considerable attention, it is believed, is being paid to various phases of the tariff as it affects the whole textile industry of Canada, and there is reasonable ground for expecting some alterations in the scheduled dealing with both woolen and cotton manufacturers.

There is warrant, too, for anticipating some concession to the fruit and vegetable growers of Canada who are asking for a seasonal tariff, for an adjustable tariff that will keep United States products out during the season for the corresponding products in Canada, and that will be suspended when the foreign products do not compete with the Canadian.

Cotton Goods

It would not be surprising if the minister of finance proposed a slight reduction in the duties on cotton goods, made certain adjustments in the schedules on woollens which in some cases would meet the legitimate requests of the manufacturers and in other cases make concessions to the consumers.

A downward revision in the duties on iron or steelware and nickel and aluminum hollowware is also possible.

In addition, it is expected there will be proposed adjustments in some of the many individual cases before the board, some of them upward and some downward.

The big question on the duties on soft coal has yet to be dealt with by the board. There is before the board the original application of the British Empire Steel Corporation, made by Roy M. Wolvin, its president. Since then has developed a demand from British Columbia for the removal of all duties on soft coal. A date for further hearing of this case will be set some time this month.

Penny Postage

Other proposals likely to be included in the budget speech are re-establishment of penny postage within the Empire; continuance of the progressive reduction in the sales tax with another cut of 1 per cent., and a considerable reduction in the excise tax on cigarettes.

Last session estimates of revenue prepared by the post office department indicated that with the two cent domestic postage the money to be received by the department would be considerably reduced, but official statements issued periodically this year show a healthy increase in the revenues from postage, and it is believed that resumption of penny postage to Great Britain and other parts of the Empire can be effected without jeopardizing the federal revenues.

AFTERMATH OF A DOUBLE EXECUTION

Three People Today are Suffering From a Nervous Strain.

EXECUTIONER ONE OF THEM

Warden Lewis of Sing Sing Prison has Start-for Florida.

(Special to the Daily Mail by the British United Press)

LONDON COPS WEAR STYLISH GUISE IN RAIDS

London, Jan. 14—London policemen have resorted to wearing dress clothes when raiding night clubs.

So frequently are certain officers assigned to this particular duty that they have become expert exponents of the Blackbottom, Charleston and Yale Blues, despite being credited with possessing flat, ungainly feet.

Before their identities become known, they are eagerly sought after as partners by the demi-mondaines who frequent the mushroom clubs that engage the attention of the police.

Also so skilful is their dancing that the girls do not extract from them the customary fee of 50 cents or $1, usually demanded from a visitor who dances with an habituee.

The civilized accents employed by these "raiders" complete the deception.

Only when the actual raid is in progress and notebooks are forthcoming do the girls realize they have been vamping a police officer instead of possibly a scion of a noble house or an undergraduate.

An expert is a man who is just beginning to understand how little he knows about it.

THIS BAD MAN GOES FROM BAD TO WORSE

Chicago, Jan. 14—Three customers were enjoying a quiet breakfast at Bonino's restaurant. The cook and the waiter went about their work leisurely. Then Frank Lauder entered.

"I'm a rip-snortin' straight shootin' man killin' bad guy from the West" he announced emphasizing his presence with a gun.

Lauder lined them up in the kitchen and relieved them of everything pawnable.

"Now" he said "I'll show you what you missed by not making any fuss."

He started firing. A dish pan was pierced in the middle. A pile of dishes was shattered. A bullet drilled a frying pan hanging on the wall.

The "rip-snorter" aimed again but the hammer fell on a dead cartridge. Lauder will be sufficiently recovered from the beating he received to appear in court today.
