

The Warden's Dinner Was A Huge Success

More Than 150 Attended Annual Warden's Dinner Last Evening in What Was Largest Ever Held in This City—Inspiring Addresses and a Fine Repast—C. F. Bailey Urges Province To Concentrate on Livestock Farming.

The annual warden's dinner which is held annually in connection with the York Municipal Council sessions, took place at the Waverly Hotel last evening with the proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dewar putting on one of their best repasts and the councillors and guests enjoying the entire program. So large was the assembly that tables had to be supplied upstairs for a number who were unable to find seats at the banquet table downstairs.

Councillor W. T. Griffin of Cross Creek acted as toastmaster and with him at the head of the table were W. J. Gaynor, the new warden; Mr. Justice Richards, His Worship Mayor W. G. Clark of Fredericton; Hon. Judge Slipp and others. The dinner commenced at 8:30 o'clock and the assembly did not break up until midnight. All voted it one of the most enjoyable ever held in the city.

There were many toasts and the speeches of proposal and response were instructive and interesting. Harry Morrison proposed the toast to the warden, W. J. Gaynor of McAdam. He congratulated the new warden, for his many years of service and his natural ability to head the council.

Responding to the toast Warden Gaynor welcomed the assembled guests to the dinner. He commented on the associations he had favored with others while attending the high school and the Normal School. He noted to the assembly that he was a Fredericton boy and pleased because of it. He pointed out the importance of a jail farm. He congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Dewar on their fine dinner.

The Dominion of Canada toast was proposed by Ald. Dobie of Devon and responded to by C. F. Bailey, of Fredericton.

Councillor Dobie mentioned the great asset that the fisheries were, also the magnitude of our resources. He summarized the natural and historical resources of our country. The wheat fields were a natural asset. Our inheritance is vast, he said. Canada is a country of peace. We shall leave a rich heritage to the young.

C. F. Bailey, in responding, expressed sympathy for the farmers of the country. This class of men have had a hard row during the past 4 or 5 years. He believed the York Council should be congratulated for being one of those rare councils that is paying its way. None of the councils in the Maritimes defaulted their bonded indebtedness. He referred to the fallacy that a farmer today can amass a fortune by his specialization on a few acres of potatoes. This is a vast error. The potato gone is done for. The sooner we realize that this country should be a live stock country, the better for our prosperity. He outlined the difficulties and the present plight of the potato farmer. He suggested using spuds to feed swine, but to grow the swine first.

Mr. Bailey believed that there should be more specialization on livestock. The dairying industry should be given more attention. Butter is a by-product for greater attention. The farmer doesn't get his due from this commodity. Butter can be kept over while potatoes cannot. It is a big problem but one which can be worked out. Annually we lose, he said, some thousands of dollars in export. Butter is too low. He stressed the importance of quality products in everything we do, whether it is butter or potatoes or everything. Regarding horses. Mr. Bailey, pointed out the usual poor quality of horses in this province. This situation existed for the past number of years. Today breeding of quality horses is important and is becoming widespread in New Brunswick. He suggested a good brood mare. Percheron, he favored, for breeding purposes. The speaker cited the example of a recent percheron purchased for use in this country. It was important, he said, to teach the young people in agriculture. Keep our own young men on the farm he stressed. The Agricultural school was rendering a great service to the province. It was regrettable that only 3 took the course this year from York County. Madawaska had 12 representatives.

Ex-Warden W. E. Nason proposed the toast to the province, and M. L. Jewett, M. P. P., an ex-warden responded along with Dr. B. H. Dougan, M. P. P., and E. C. Atkinson, M. P. P.

M. L. Jewett referred to the death of Dr. O. E. Morehouse, one who was honorable and capable. He referred also to Horace Draper, of Southampton, an assessor, who also had passed away. He regretted that these men were no longer with us. He pointed to the need of change in this new year. The whole matter of economics and business is calling for change. The doctrine of the trustworthiness of business men should be replaced by some newer vision. The oppression of the poor is an important topic of the new politics. "There needs to be government control," asserted Dr. Dougan. "We must adjust ourselves with the times," he said, "and if we don't we'll be away behind the times." The county of York should be proud of itself for its record.

E. C. Atkinson, M. P. P., the next speaker congratulated Warden Gaynor for his 14 years' service. He believed things were picking up, that things were coming back. Out of capitalism and the machine ages will come reforms and improvements and help for the poor people. He believed that a better time is in store for all.

Dr. B. H. Dougan spoke briefly, opening with congratulations to the new warden. He always admired members of the council who were non-political in their views.

Dr. Dougan also hoped for improved times.

Ex-Councillor Wetmore now led the gathering in a song "Home, Home On The Range".

The toast to the city of Fredericton was proposed by E. J. Malone and responded to by His Worship Mayor

Clark. The speaker referred to the beauty of the city and the hospitality shown by the citizens.

Mayor Clark announced in his response that the city would be willing to co-operate in any enterprise to have a provincial jail farm. Individual effort and ideas are needed as well as governments to stimulate thought and effort towards progress. He believed there was improvement in 1934 over the previous year. There had been pastime improvements in many cases. He told of his visit to Europe and the great amount of building going on. He proposed that the municipal council take the initiative in the jail farm idea. It would help the poor and men in securing employment. He realized on his return to Canada that our own government—a democratic one—was the best.

The toast to our educational institutions was proposed by Councillor C. L. Grant and responded to by Frank A. Good.

Councillor Grant turned out a poet of some ability and his lines on his fellow councillors were applauded with great gusto. His abilities as a poet were tinged with a keen insight on his fellow councillors' habits of debate.

Frank A. Good of this city, in responding to this toast, congratulated Warden Gaynor on his election to this post of warden. He also added his congratulations to Dr. A. S. McFarlane, chief superintendent of education of the province. The students of the P. N. S. were the cream of the province and as good as anywhere, he said, and he was proud of it.

Councillor Manzer proposed the toast to "The Profession" which was answered by J. B. McNair and Mr. Justice Richards.

J. B. McNair, answering the toast, expressed appreciation to the warden's and his dinner. He commented on the instructive and entertaining speeches. To the professions, he gave his utmost admiration. The medical profession was a noble one, and the "family doctor" was not the least of these men. There was no money motive. What we need more today was more religion, and less politics, he said, in referring to the profession of the minister.

The legal profession, said the speaker, was also one of the important ones and doing a good service.

Mr. Justice Richards said that it was two years since he attended a banquet of the county council. These banquets furnished instruction, and entertainment to all. He took the opportunity to express his congratulations to the warden of the county, W. J. Gaynor. He had made many personal and close friendships throughout the county, for which he was well pleased.

The speaker pointed to the fact that much of the work, which he was doing at present had to do with municipal affairs. The appointment and establishment of the clerks of the peace was part of his recent duties when he had to go way back in historical records. He noted that it was an interesting process. In 1851, he pointed out, the 1st act was passed that the various councils could change the system to one in which the councillors could vote for an elective council. It was not till 1877 that the present system was in full process.

The preservation of the moose of the province was another thing the speaker touched upon—the development of the game system. He found also in the records items in connection with the liquor traffic, which were very instructive and entertaining. Such development should help the growth of the mind and social progress. "We may take a lesson from these things," he said, and have hope in the future for the British Empire, and Canada.

F. W. Perry, M. P. P., Upper Kent, Carleton County, also spoke. He noted that he had 14 years of service at the municipal council board. He was congratulated the new warden and made some interesting remarks on various topics.

The banquet was concluded with the singing of the National Anthem.

ROUGH EDGES

Paste a narrow strip of adhesive tape across the inside top edge of cut steel slipper buckle and save your silk stockings from being torn and pulled on the rough edges of the buckles.

SOILED TEA TOWELS

Soiled towels are not attractive when found hanging in the pantry. Wash them out after each meal, adding a little ammonia to the soapsuds in which you wash them. Your towels will stay sweet and clean.

FREEZING WEATHER

One housewife saves herself much discomfort by pinning all the smaller articles of her wash to a short rope and then pinning the entire rope at one time to the clothesline outdoors. It takes so long to pin up the small things and in freezing weather every article counts.

Good Things to Eat

BAKED APPLE DUMPLINGS

A fine dessert for one of these cold nights. Make a pie crust divide it into six parts and roll each part thin. Have ready six good-sized tart apples, pared and cored. Fill up the cavities with sugar and butter. Close the dough neatly around the apples and turn that side down in a deep dish. Sprinkle some sugar, ground cinnamon and butter over them and set them in the oven to bake. Pour a little water in the bottom of the dish and bake for 45 minutes in a moderate hot oven. Serve with hard sauce.

WHAT THEY ARE

SORREL—A sour evergreen leaf used in cooking.

SHIVES—A green-leaved plant having a delicate onion flavor.

ORKA—Pod of plant belonging to the cotton family, used as a vegetable.

SHALLOT—Is an onion grown from other onions, resulting in a more delicate flavor. Used frequently in salads.

LENTIL—Belongs to the bean family, the pod or legume is the fruit used as a vegetable. Makes a savory soup.

CAVIAR—Prepared and pickled roe of sturgeon and other large fish. Used as a relish or as a spread for savory canopies.

VANISHING CREAM

A cosmetic expert says that no one with a dry skin, should ever use vanishing cream, as it has an alkaline base and has a tendency to make the skin even dryer. Notwithstanding the advertisements, no cold cream will "nourish" the skin. It will clean and lubricate and keep it soft and pliable but the skin cannot be fed from without. Skins differ in their requirements and it is wise to try different products until you find one that suits you—then stick to that particular brand.

SPANISH CREAM

Soak 1 tablespoon gelatine in 1-4 cup cold water. Scald 3 cups milk in the double boiler and pour even three beaten egg yolks. Add soaked gelatine and stir until dissolved. Stir in 1-4 cup sugar. Stir well and set to chill. When jelly is slightly set, beat until frothy and fold in evenly a meringue made of the stiffly beaten egg whites and 1-4 cup sugar. Pour into a cold wet mould and chill until set.

Magician Gives Up Rope Trick Test

ST. PAUL, Jan. 5—Robert Heger, amateur magician, announced today he never again will attempt the Indian rope trick. The Magic Circle Society of London can keep its £5,000.

Heger tried the trick in a crowded auditorium. In response to his incantations, the rope jerked from a coiled position into a straight, vertical line, but the electricians has turned on the wrong lights and the audience plainly saw the thin wire from which it was suspended.

A boy, pursued by an assassin, climbed the rope without trouble, but instead of vanishing into the air, the stage hands bungled the curtain drop and the audience saw him drop behind a curtain.

The assassin, too, had no trouble climbing the rope, and the way he slashed the air with his knife and the boyish screams were convincing enough. But when he began producing arms, legs and a head from air, the light was good enough for the audience to see they were of wax.

Down on the stage, Heger was assembling the pieces in his "magic" robe. Inadvertently, he left one arm lying on the stage when the boy stepped out whole and unharmed, which was no surprise to the audience.
