On the Sidelines.

A vague rumor has been afloat that the Cubs are not to play any more games at home this winter. The leaders of the York County Intermediate League were away all last week, and were highly successful with clubs at the N. B.-Maine border.

Hubert Scott-Paine of England, was awarded the International Motor Yacht Union's Gold Medal in 1934 for the year's outstanding performance on water, having made 110 miles per hour with his single engine hydroplane, Miss Britain III.

The New York Yankees, says the Herald-Tribune, are going in for local boys. There are either on the Yankees or on Yankee farms, 23 players and three managers from the Metropolitan area around New York and 10 players from New Jersey. Here is another trend to the development of the younger players.

The first intimation that there is an intercollegiate hockey loop in the province, comes with the announcement this week of the opening game between University of New Brunswick and St. Joseph's University, which takes place at the rink here on Thursday, Feb. 7. This will be the first game of a series to decide the New Brunswick intercollegiate championship.

Jimmy Ward, the brilliant young right winger of the Montreal Maroons, has been discharged from the Audubon hospital at Boston. An X-ray showed that there was no fracture of the skull though a huge lump at the base of Ward's skull remained in evidence of Ward's narrow escape. It was feared at first that the Maroon player's injury was similar in seriousness to the one sustained by "Ace" Bailey last season.

Lionel Conacher, who was suspended for socking a spectator at Boston last week, has been under consideration for reinstatement by President Calder of the N.H.L. Evidence in the case was reviewed over the week-end.

Madison Square Garden, monster sport organization in New York city is now returning a direct profit. While this may not have any direct connection with provincial or local sport, it nevertheless may indicate a general pickup in sporting interest and therefore in economic fields. In December the rate of increased attendance at the Garden, as compared with the same month the year before, was 20.5 per cent. and for the first fifteen days of January that rate had jumped to 23 per cent. The fiscal year beginning with June 1, 1934, will go over the million mark in attendance today with the amateur and professional hockey. Even the millions will be achieved for up to January 15 the total had reached 982,055 for 99 events. Compared with the same period a year before this showed an increase of 175,444 fans, or 21.7 per cent.

CANADIENS NOSE OUT BRUINS, DETROIT AND LEAFS PLAY TIE

New York Rangers and Chicago Win Games As Boston and Wings Tie on Sunday.

MONTREAL, Jan. 27—Montreal Canadiens were back in a playoff berth in the National Hockey League's Canadian section after a narrow 3-2 victory over Boston Bruins here last night, ready for a New York American drive to oust them from the coveted third position.

Canadiens outsped and outchecked the sturdy Bruins before a crowd of about 8,000 cheering fans to hop out of a tie with Americans into sole possession of third place. The loss left Bruins still in second position in the United States section, a single game behind the leading Chicago Black Hawks.

A third period goal by the veteran Aurel Joliat in his 13th year with the team, gave the Canucks the victory. Joliat pounced on a rebound to lift the rubber into an open net and send the Canadiens into the lead after six minutes of the final session.

In Scoreless Draw

TORONTO, Jan. 27—The once wide open, brilliant Red Wings of Detroit, ready to match their offensive power against any of them, has become a close-knit defensive unit with designs on keeping New York Rangers out of a playoff berth in the National Hockey League's American Section. The style paid the usual dividends here last night.

A scoreless tie with Toronto Maple Leafs was pretty obviously what the Red Wings started out to get and 12,000 fans sat through 70 minutes of drab exchanges while Jack Adams' team proved it could do it. There wasn't a goal in any period.

Rangers Double Score

NEW YORK, Jan. 27—New York Rangers clinched the season's city title and tied Detroit for third place in the National Hockey League's American Division by walloping the Americans 4-2 tonight.

The victory was the third for the Rangers against one defeat and a tie in five games of the intra-city clash. A crowd of 4,708 cash customers saw the fast game, which had few dull moments.

Play 2-2 Tie

DETROIT, Jan. 27—After losing three games in as many starts against Boston this season, Detroit Red Wings played the Bruins to a 2-2 overtime tie here tonight in a N. H. L. match.

Hawks Win From Eagles

CHICAGO, Jan. 27—After piling up a four-goal lead over St. Louis Eagles, Chicago Black Hawks just managed to stave off a hair-raising rally and escape with a 5-3 N. H. L. victory tonight before 9,000 spectators.

Taking advantage of loose defence play, the Hawks had a 5-1 lead going into the last half of the final period. Then the Eagles turned loose a series of five-men rushes that produced two goals in one minute, and were still rushing at the finish.

YOUTHS OF LAKE PLACID SHOWING GREAT PROMISE

Youthful Speed Skaters and Ski Jumpers Make Good Marks in Winter Sports in Little Village.

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Jan. 28—The influence of the 1932 Olympics pervades this little village in the Adirondacks and the youth of the community has become so winter sports-minded that there is skiing and speed skating going on from early morning until late evening.

This morning the youthful skiers were jumping on the stadium ski hill and 18-year-old Irving Lawrence won the jump for the senior boys with a fine leap of 106 feet. Among the juniors, 13-year-old Bud Hare made a commendable jump of 55 feet.

These Lake Placid boys are full of enthusiasm and are the most representative of this country's future ski jumpers. Their form is good and they have the nerve and the confidence and there are surprisingly few tumblers.

Speed Skaters Also Active

While the native lads were jumping, the youthful speed skaters were turning in fine performances on the smooth course of Mirror Lake. Jack Durkin, 18, won the 220-yard sprint for seniors in 20 1-5 seconds. Junior Crosset showed his heels to the field in the 220-yard race for 18-year-olds and turned in the same fast time, 20 1-5 secs. Bud Ware, 10, won the 220-yard race for boys of that age.

Not only are the boys carrying on the best traditions of Jack Shea and Charley Jewraw in the speed-skating game, but the girls of the village are also developing into fine speed skaters.

Little Mary Ames, 13, who showed the way in the half-mile race, finished ahead of Alice Mazuzan in 1 minute, 3 1-5 seconds. Miss Mazuzan won the 220 in 20 4-5 seconds, with Miss Ames second.

"Duke" McDonald Not To Turn Pro

MONCTON, N. B., Jan. 28—It was learned here this morning that "Duke" McDonald, utility forward of Moncton Hawks, Allan Cup champions of the past two years, turned down an offer to turn professional with the Windsor Bulldogs of the International League last night.

It was understood that the offer to forsake the amateur ranks was very attractive.

The enthusiasm of the younger generation is also seen in figure skating, with more than a score of young girls inspired by the performances here of Miss Sonia Heine and Miss Maribel Vinson, who have already reached a high proficiency in the artistic sport.

Advance is Rapid

Among the talented young ladies who can do the difficult jumps and spins in the figure skating art are the Misses Lorraine Bryant, Claire Wilkins, Helen Weaver, Rita Peck, Alice O'Haire and Shirley Lancto.

Under the tutelage of Werner Rittberger, figure skating instructor of the Lake Placid Club, the young women are making rapid advances in figure skating.

Having an important part in the development of the young winter athletes is Bunny Sheffield and H. L. Garren, athletic director of the Olympic arena. These men give up much time in encouraging the youth of this mountain country in the technique of winter sports.

"Dizzy" Dean To Be Given Award

NEW YORK, Jan. 28—Dizzy Dean, great right-hander of the St. Louis Cardinals, will be awarded the annual most valuable player award by the Baseball Writers' Association at the annual dinner of the New York chapter here on Sunday, Feb. 3, it was revealed today. Awards for meritorious service to baseball over a long period of years will go to Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, and Rabbit Maranville, shortstop of the Boston Braves. All three will attend the dinner.

OLD MASTER PREDICTS CARDS AND TIGERS OUT

Connie Mack Makes His Predictions For Next Season—New Pennant Winners in 1935.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28—Those who back their baseball opinions with a little cash to make it exciting will be interested in a statement by Connie Mack that there will be a new championship team in the American League this year and the winner of the flag will not play the Cardinals. This is another way of saying that St. Louis will not repeat, nor will the Tigers.

Some will recall that about a year ago this time Mack announced the Tigers were strong enough to win the flag. His opinion was regarded so lightly that none gave it any attention until the Tigers began throwing aside their strongest foes to come through to win the bunting.

CARL HUBBELL HAS SIGNED FOR YEAR OF 1935

Star Southpaw of Giants Eases Minds of Front Office Bosses--Boost in Salary.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28—With the signing of Carl Hubbell the Giants are off to another flying start in getting their athletes into the fold for the 1935 campaign. For the past couple of seasons they have been the quickest of all major league clubs in signing players. Not since Bill Terry became manager have they had any difficulties with holdouts. Bill, who was one of the most accomplished as well as one of the most persistent holdouts, was their last.

Hubbell's signed contract, which is for one year and is understood to have contained a tidy salary boost, was received at the Giants' office by Secretary James J. Tierney. It was mailed from Hub's home in Meeker, Okla. and arrived with no other embellishments than the peerless portside's left-hand autograph. No letter or not was appended, but its prompt arrival—the contracts were mailed out only last Saturday—puts an end to those recurring tales that Terry and Hubbell were

LES PATRICK HAS THINGS TO SAY OF HOCKEY

Veteran Mentor of New York Rangers Patient With Rookies—Shows Them the Right Way.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28—One of the reasons Lester Patrick has been so successful as a hockey manager is that he has a sound grip on the tactics of the game. Another is that he insists upon treating players as human beings.

"There is more to managing a hockey club than sitting on the bench," he said. "That's almost the least important phase of the job—sitting there watching your men when a game is in progress. You've got to teach them and build up their morale and then maintain it, and before you can do that you have to know the men you are talking to so that you may know how to talk."

"When it comes to teaching hockey to my young players I say as little as possible and avoid blackboards and diagrams. I know that when I was a player and a coach tried to show me something on a blackboard I went nuts. And I've seen a lot of players in this league who had been blackboarded half to death, so that when they went out on the ice they were completely befuddled and the simplest plays held terrors for them."

"I tell a boy how I want a play made and then put him out on the ice in practice when there is no pressure on him and have him go through that play. If he does it right I keep him doing it and keep pounding into him that the oftener he does it the easier it will be for him, until after a while it becomes almost instinctive with him. If he does it wrong I don't wait until the practice is over to tell him about it. I go right out on the ice with him and take him by the arm and say:

"Look. Here is the way I want this play made, because this is the right way. Now let me show you what you are doing. I don't want you to do that because that's the wrong way. Simple, isn't it? All right. Now do it my way."

"Sometimes he does it right the next time. More often he does it wrong again. I keep pegging away at him, but I don't lose my temper and bawl him out, because if he does it wrong often enough I realize that he is a slow thinker or has a bad memory and simply can't get it right, no matter how hard he tries. I'm patient with him and then, some day in practice or some night in a game, he makes it right. Once I had a fellow on this club who made a simply play wrong for three years. One night in a tight game he made it right, and it won the game for us. Afterward, in the dressing room, he said to me:

"Now, I've got it. I wouldn't have believed that anybody could be as stupid as I've been."

"Never mind about that," I said. "Now that you know how to make the play keep making it that way."

at odds when the 1934 season closed, and that Carlos's feelings had been wounded by Terry's willingness to trade him.

Skater Has Only An Even Chance

MICHIGAN CITY, Jan. 28—Physicians gave Balentine Bialis, former Olympic skater, better than an even chance of recovery today in his valiant fight following amputation of a leg.

Unless an unexpected back occurs, the Utica athlete will live, it was said at St. Anthony's hospital where Bialis was taken in critical condition from a blood. His leg was crushed when a train struck his automobile at an icy grade crossing. The skater's condition remained precarious until last night.
