BOOST THE RIVER

An American power yacht which visited Fredericton last week with nine people on board was apparently worth to the city a good many motor-ing parties from the standpoint of dol-lars and cents. The natty craft re-mained here for several days, expend-ed a considerable sum on supplies and before leaving port stocked up with five hundred gallons of gasoline. In the old days of steamboating we use to hear a lot about the "Rhine of America", but now that people flit about from place to place in high pow-ered cars it cuts rather a small fig-ure in tourist literature. The noble river will stand a lot of exploiting and the Federal authorities should see to it that it is properly buoyed and all snags removed. Tourist literature might very properly include a map or chart of the Saint John River, and its navigable tributaries, and this infor-mation should be made available to yachting clubs in the New England states.

GREECE BECKONS HER KING

Events are shaping toward a plebis-cite in Greece to determine whether that country shall once more be a monarchy. The preparations demand some stage-setting. The monarchists want the election to appear convinc-ing. So they are debating whether a 55 per cent vote or a 60 per cent vote or some other vote in excess of a majority ought to be required to con-vince Greeks and the world in general that Greece wants to be a monarchy, and bring back George from exile to head it.

There may have been an honest election in Greece since the World War, but if so, we have never heard of it. The losers have always accus-ed the winners of every form of chil-canery, from stuffing the ballot boxes to intimidating opposition voters. Eleutherios Venizelos has already de-cided that the plebiscite will not be fair, and will lead to civil war.

The army, however, is royalist; the navy has been pretty well purged of republicans since the recent rising failed. Unorganized, scantily armed re-publi-cans would have no show against a government pledged to monarchy and having unquestioned command of the army and navy.

It looks as if George would get back, after the stage has been set and he has made his bargain with the pres-ent rulers.

END OF SPECIALISM

The wheel of fate seems to have made a complete turn. A century ago the successful man was a Handy Andy a jack-of-all-trades, able to turn his en-ergies to any desired end.

Gradually he became specialized, and men were as definitely identified by their trades and professions as a bird is by its plumage. Now they must return to first principles. The skilled mechanic, displayed by the photo-electric cell, must choose be-tween idleness and becoming a master of the device which made his occupa-tion obsolete.

If men are to make these switches, as the march of invention dictates, they must be equipped with a new sort of education, and that education must reach a far greater part of the popula-tion than it does now.

Society, for its own protection, will have to abolish child labor, and it can-not allow anyone's education to end with grammar school. It will be es-sential that all the population attend college. It will be necessary for many of the people to study, part of the time, for the whole of their lives.

As we penetrate the mysteries of the physical world we construct an increasingly complicated social ma-chine. It can no more be managed by unskilled or narrowly specialized labor than a modern locomotive can be run by a school-boy. Already the demand for broadly skilled techni-cians exceeds the supply. It is prob-able that that demand will increase. There has been much talk of late years about the new industry which was to arise and put an end to unem-ployment. In my opinion that new industry will be education. The world is badly underhoused. It is short of all manner of needed things. But most of all it is short of education. With universal education, as broad as the life for which it prepares, the attainment of material well-being will be simple, and all the political argu-mentation of these confused times will seem the echo of a madman's dream.

We are pleased that His Worship Mayor Clark has decided to take a hand in moving the dump.

We are also pleased to learn that some people who were afraid to speak about the dump before are now show-ing an interest in it after The Daily Mail has paved the way. We welcome the eleventh hour aid.

City workmen have been doing and are doing some excellent gravelling and other work in the immediate vi-cinity of City Engineer McKay's house, University avenue.

If the same city workmen would only cut the burdocks in front some other people's property they would be doing more good work.

The Premier carried out his new so-cial duties yesterday in a first class manner. He put it over in a pleas-ant way as well as in a dignified one.

The girls were struck on young Lord Duncannon, but we have lots of young fellows here just as good-look-ing and many much better-looking. Al-though he was a good manly looking young chap.

Being a governor general must be a hard job in this hot weather. Of course there is is pretty good dough in it.

Every time Lieutenant-Governor MacLaren appears in this city at a social function he demonstrates that he is the right dignitary in the right place. We never had a governor who could fill the position any better.

REPORTED IMPROVING

George Walsh, Minto miner, who was injured in the same accident that took the life of Jack Riley, in a dis-astrous cave-in at the Black Diamond mines at Newcastle Bridge several days ago, was reported to be im-proving steadily at the Victoria Hos-pital today.

TAKEN TO SAINT JOHN

Friends will regret to learn that Mrs. Augustus Fowler, who has been in ill health recently, was taken to Saint John today to undergo treat-ment. Mrs. Fowler, who is in a very weak condition, was accompanied to Saint John by her son.

ACCEPTED A POSITION

Bessboroughs Bid Farewell to N. B.

Lord Bessborough's reply to Mayor Clark was as follows:

"Mr. Mayor:

"As the representative of the King in this Dominion, I shall be very glad indeed to convey to His Majesty the loyal message you have entrusted to me from the City of Fredericton.

"Let me take this opportunity of congratulating you, and all your fel-low citizens on Fredericton's one hun-dred and fiftieth anniversary which, earlier in the year, you celebrated in so appropriate a manner. When the city was founded, a century and a half ago, those who planned it thought of it, as the motto of Fredericton indi-cates, as an isolated outpost in the primeval forest. You, their descend-ants, can now point with pride to a city which while it has grown to be the capital of a great province, has still preserved the natural beauty of its original site. Few seats of govern-ment in the whole British Empire can boast such delightful surroundings as you have here, and those responsible for the development of the city have been notably successful in erecting buildings so thoroughly in keeping with its character.

"Its charm makes all the more ap-peal, perhaps, to Lady Bessborough and myself today, because we are re-gretfully conscious of the fact that we are seeing it for the last time during my term of office. The regret, however, is tempered by the very cordial re-ception which you and your fellow cit-izens have given us both today, and on our previous visits. We shall always look back on them with pleasure, and think of them as among the happiest incidents of our life in Canada.

"In return for the good wishes you have expressed for ourselves and our family, let me assure you that each and all of us wish increasing prosper-ity and success to Fredericton and to you whose home it is."

Patricia Wright, daughter of Alder-man Dr. H. S. Wright, presented Lady Bessborough with a bouquet on behalf of the city.

A pleasing presentation took place after the civic reception. Hon. R. B. Hanson, Minister of Trade and Com-merce, introduced to His Excellency two young boys, Frederick Grant and Raymond Gilks, who were then pre-sented by the Governor General with Royal Humane Society life saving certificates. The Hon. Dr. Hanson's account of the accident was as follows:—On May 9th, on the St. John river just below the railway bridge, at a time when the river was in full flood, three University students, crossing from Fredericton to Barker's Point, upset from a canoe. One young man swam ashore; one clung to the canoe and was later taken off by men with a boat; the third student, Robert Arm-strong of Lower St. Marys, attempted to swim ashore and became exhausted. Two young Canadian boys, Frederick Grant and Raymond Gilks, aged re-spectively fourteen and thirteen years on their way from school saw the ac-cident and rushed to the river and realizing that Armstrong was in dan-ger, took a boat from the shore and without oars but using boards for paddles, went to the rescue, reaching Armstrong as he was about to suc-cumb. The boys with a great deal of difficulty, managed to get him into the boat and paddled back to shore where he was taken into a house and given medical aid. By their quick ac-tion and presence of mind they had succeeded in saving Armstrong's life.

On hearing of the matter, the Hon. Mr. Hanson took steps to bring it to the attention of the Royal Humane Society, the result of his efforts be-ing the presentation, publicly, of the life saving certificates yesterday.

After the automobile tour of the city and environs the vice-regal party di-vided and were entertained at dinner at the Mayor's home and at the home of Hon. Mr. Hanson. Those who had dinner at Mayor Clark's home were Lord and Lady Bessborough, Lieuten-ant Governor and Mrs. MacLaren and Premier and Mrs. Dysart, Chief Jus-tice and Mrs. J. H. Barry, Dr. C. C. Jones, president of the University of New Brunswick, and Mrs. Jones, The Countess of Ashburnham and Col. E. D. MacKenzie. The guests at Hon. Dr. Hanson and Mrs. Hanson's home were Lord Duncannon, Captain D. Fisher-Rowe, Captain M. E. Adeene, A.D.C.s Dr. Jack Babbitt, Mrs. Bernard Sisam of Ottawa, Miss Mary Neill, Miss Hope Hanson and Miss Katherine Jones.

Premier Dysart's address to Their Excellencies at the parliament build-ings was as follows:

PREMIER DYSART'S ADDRESS

The address of welcome delivered last night by Hon. A. Allison Dysart, Premier of New Brunswick, to His Excellency the Governor-General of Canada to mark the latter's farewell visit to the capital city of this Province was as follows:

"His Excellency, Vere Brabazon, Earl of Bessborough, a Member of the Most Honourable Privy Council Knight Grand Cross of the Most Dis-tinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, formerly Captain in the Territorial Army, Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of the Do-minion of Canada.

"MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCEL-LENCY,

"In extending to your Excellency a hearty welcome to the Province of New Brunswick, we do so with mingled feelings of pleasure and regret—pleasure at seeing you again in our midst, regret that this will probably be your last official visit.

"The esteem and affection which the people of the Province, in common with the citizens of all other parts of the Dominion, entertained for you from the very beginning of your in-cumbency, of your high office, has steadily increased with the passage of the years, until today they look upon you not only as the personal repre-sentative in Canada of His Majesty the King, but as a great Canadian exem-plifying the spirit of Canadians in devoted loyalty to the Crown and the Empire.

"Your keen interest in all that per-tains to the welfare and happiness of our people, the leading part you have played in philanthropic movements, the encouragement you have given to art and drama, have brought your personal influence into the very lives of Canadians, and have established you as their leader and guide.

"And now that your term of office draws to a close, and you prepare to depart, we desire to assure you in all sincerity of our deep appreciation of all that you have done for us, and to all that you have meant to us. We know that you will long be held in loving remembrance and hope that you on your part will not soon forget the years you have spent in Canada.

"We cannot allow this opportunity to pass without extending through you to Her Excellency the Countess, the warm sentiments of affectionate re-gards which her unflinching courtesy and charm have elicited from all who have had the privilege of coming into contact with her.

To you both, and to your Family—especially to your Son, our Fellow Canadian by birth—we extend all good wishes for future happiness.

"On behalf of the Government and People of the Province of New Brun-swick.

A. ALLISON DYSART,
Premier.

Lord Bessborough in replying to Premier Dysart spoke on behalf of Lady Bessborough and of his family, and thanked the premier for his per-sonal allusions. "We shall always treasure, I can assure you, such fare-well messages as that which you have given us, and though the Atlantic may separate us from Canada, nothing can ever destroy the affectionate recollec-tions of Canada's good will toward ourselves and of the warm-hearted hospitality shown us everywhere throughout the Dominion," he said.
