His Worship Mayor Clark Rules Opposition To Plan Is Out of Order, Council Having Already Passed Resolution—Women's Institute Delegation re Uncovered Goods in Stores—City to Continue with Myshrrall Land Expropriation.

The city council conducted its June business last evening, holding both its committee and regular meeting on the one night, commencing at 7:30 o'clock. One of the most important items dealt with was that respecting Daylight Saving Time, in which His Worship Mayor Clark upheld the former decision of the council to have the city of Fredericton on Daylight Saving time during the summer months, commencing on June 22.

Although a resolution signed by almost a thousand people had been presented to the council and a number of citizens appeared before the council to support the petition last evening, His Worship ruled that such protest was out of order since the council had already passed the resolution, and the protestations had been filed too late.

Women's Institute

A delegation from the Women's Institute, appeared before the council. Mrs. Havelock Coy, its spokesman, asked the council to pass a by-law requiring everyone who has food for sale to keep it covered.

It had been brought to the attention of the Women's Institute that fruit, fish, etc., had been left open in the stores and in this way there was great liability of the propagation of disease germs. Mrs. Coy believed this should be made compulsory. She cited instances of cats being allowed to "nap" in biscuit boxes in the stores.

Ald. Moses Mitchell suggested that this already is covered in the dictates of the Board of Health. Mrs. Coy hoped that the council or the Board of Health would take some action in the matter as there had been many complaints made to the Institute.

The minutes of last month's meetings were read by E. Royden Colter, assistant city treasurer in the absence of F. I. Haviland, through illness. The auditor's report was read by His Worship Mayor W. G. Clark. The usual bills were ordered paid, as well as several special ones.

Tax Collection

The report of tax collections for May was presented by Ald. Warren Maxwell. Tax collections for May, Municipal Home, 1935, were $6,179.29, while in May, 1934, collections were $6,811.39.

Ald. Moses Mitchell made a motion that the two local bands be given $150.00 each for the usual four summer concerts to be given this summer. The York Regiment band and the Knights of Pythias band had been engaged under the same conditions last year. The motion was carried.

July 25 was settled upon as the last day on which to secure the regular 5 per cent discount on tax payments this year, motion made by Ald. Warren Maxwell.

Another motion was passed that the city guarantee the overdraft of the Fredericton Exhibition, not to exceed $10,000.00 and interest.

Daylight Saving Time

The matter of Daylight Saving Time was brought up and His Worship Mayor Clark brought to the attention of the Council that a signed petition had been placed before the council, asking that the council revert its decision to have Daylight Saving Time. His Worship, regretted that because of the council's already acting in this matter, it was not in order to change its decision now.

Expropriation Likely

Regarding intentions to expropriate the lots and land owned by Joseph Myshrrall, which the city plans to use in its building of a new street—Jubilee Street—it was brought up that Mr. Myshrrall, through his solicitor, had agreed to sell his property for $900.00 to the city. Originally the city had offered $800 and when Mr. Myshrrall held out for $1,000, decision was made to take expropriation proceedings. By the solicitor's word the owner has asked to be allowed to harvest a crop this year. The council decided to go ahead with expropriation unless some other intervention occurs.

Imports of fertilizers in April were of the value of $101,659, or less than half those of a year ago. Most came from the United States. The largest items were: 39,433 cwt. of phosphate of lime at $19,994 from the United States, 32,000 cwt. of blast furnace slag at $16,594 from Belgium, 29,987 cwt. of crude muriate of potash at $17,388 from the United States, 11,844 cwt. of nitrate of soda at $14,667 from the United States. Imports of articles which enter into the cost of the manufacture of fertilizers amounted to $63,907 compared with $77,667 last year. These came from the United States, British India, United Kingdom, Italy and Netherlands. Exports of Canadian fertilizers were valued at $328,326 compared with $341,305 a year ago. The chief items were: cyanamid at $184,926 going mainly to the United States, and ammonium sulphate at $64,078 going mainly to China.

Ellis Island Tide Turns; Thousands Are Returning

NEW YORK—Ellis Island is a tiny crowded dot in New York harbor, between the Statue of Liberty and the New Jersey shore. Once it was world-famous as "the gateway to America," symbolic of hope and a new life to thousands. Since the depression, it is often the symbol of discouragement, crushed hopes. It is becoming—not a gateway—but an exit.

As many as 5,000 persons daily passed through the island—before the bars were put up against immigration—to the United States. Now the tide is turning the other way.

Thousands of aliens, unable to make a livelihood during the last few years, are returning to their native lands at the expense of Government and private social agencies.

Most of these are voluntarily at the suggestion of social workers seeking to lift the relief burden. Others, too proud to demand relief, ask to be sent back.

But there are hundreds who literally are being "booted out." They are the criminal aliens. In recent years, because of the increase in crime, the Government has found that deportation is probably the easiest and best way to rid the country of this element.

"It is true," Immigration Commissioner Rudolph Reimer, who is in charge on the island, was asked "that because of increasing unrest in the country, due to the depression, many of those being ejected are political deportees?"

"No," he replied. "Now, here, for example, on April 25, we deported 125 aliens. Of this number, 20 were criminals, the rest ship jumpers and persons without proper papers. There wasn't a single political case in the group. Of course, we have some from time to time, but they represent an exceedingly small percentage. Most of those deported have been convicted of such offences as prostitution, burglary, larceny, counterfeiting and violation of the Narcotics Act."

Last year, the commissioner said, approximately 9,000 persons were deported, almost one-third of the number admitted to the United States. This year the number deported will be larger.

The administration building houses the immigration machinery, and many there are awaiting return to their native lands.

One, a dark-haired swarthy young Italian woman, who was returning with her husband and baby, said she had "no regrets at leaving."

"It has been very discouraging," she said. "Even if things are no better in Italy, at least we will be among those we know—relatives, friends, our own people."

The criminal aliens were segregated in a room on the floor below. The windows of the room were barred and armed officers stood outside.

One of the deportees was busy on an electric sewing machine, mending a ripped shirt. Others were reading, and some looked out the windows.

"Hi-ya," one of them said, and asked for a cigarette.

"See you in Greece," was the parting of another, who sat, grinning, on his bulky luggage.
