Porter—Leith
Germain St. Baptist Church, St. John, was beautifully decorated with ferns, palms and hydrangea Saturday for the marriage of Miss Margaret (Billie) Leith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Leith of Childwell Park Liverpool, England, and Henry Alford Porter, St. John, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Porter of Fredericton.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. S. S. Poole, pastor of the church, at 12 o'clock, in the presence of a large congregation. Professor Hiram Ball presided at the organ and as the wedding party entered the church played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin. During the signing of the register Professor Ball rendered "Because" and for the recessional Mendelssohn's wedding march.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Harold G. Ellis of Rothesay, was gowned in white peu d'ange crepe made in Empire style. The bodice had an accordion pleated ruff of the material at the neckline, and full raglan sleeves finished at the wrists with tight fitting cuffs. Tiny covered buttons were also used in the trimming of the sleeves, from the elbows to the cuffs. The skirt was made on long graceful lines and extended into a short train. Her hat was a Tudor cap model of white net with a halo brim, and a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a sheaf of Madonna lilies.

Miss Tonton Mullin was the bride's only attendant, and wore a gown of azure blue corded silk made on long lines, the skirt slightly en traine. The bodice was finished with a cape of the same material and was fastened at square neckline with sapphire clips. Her girdle was of sapphire colored chiffon velvet and her hat was of velvet of matching shade. She carried an arm bouquet of golden chrysanthemums.

Douglas G. R. Fowler was the groomsmen and Alden R. Clark and Dr. J. R. Hutchison were ushers.

Mrs. Porter, mother of the bridegroom, was wearing black chiffon velvet, and a black French model hat. With her costume Mrs. Porter wore a necklace of crystals, and a corsage of white gardenias. Mrs. Harold Porter, Fredericton, sister-in-law of the groom wore green velvet with a hat of the same color.

Her hat was a brown felt with a smart nose veil and she wore brown suede shoes and accessories.

The Maritime Religious Education Council convention for St. Mary's district was held in the United Church of Canada at Taymouth on Oct. 4th with the President J. B. McInnis in the chair. The afternoon worship service was conducted by the pastor Rev. J. J. E. Shanklin who afterwards welcomed the delegates on behalf of his church. The president reported that he had visited the thirteen schools in the district and found good work being done. The treasurer reported that the allocation for the district had been met. Eight schools answered roll call with a short report, Devon United, Marysville United, Canada St. and Olivet Baptist, Nashwaak Village Baptist, Nashwaak Bridge, Zionville and Taymouth United Church. A new Baptist school was reported at Peniac.

Committees were appointed as follows: Nominating, Mrs. Peter MacLagan, B. E. Goodspeed and Miss Mabel Bruce; Resolutions, S. J. Hallett, J. B. McInnis, Rev. W. A. Burge and Rev. A. Gibson.

A very helpful discussion on "The Teacher and His Task" was led by Rev. A. Gibson, visiting secretary. Special emphasis was put on the worship service and workers' conferences.

The Young People had charge of the evening devotional period. Rev. Mr. Gibson gave a very inspiring address "Touching the Adult" and took as his text, "Thou shalt teach these things diligently unto thy children." Parents should be sympathetic and co-operative with the Sunday school teachers for four reasons: Because of example; Because of their own need; Because of the opportunity for leadership; and because of the opportunity for evangelism.

The nominating committee reported as follows: President, Chas. Love; Vice-president, J. B. McInnis; Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. H. A. Peters. The executive to have as additional members Rolfe Munroe, Harold Manzer, and Douglas Neill, together with the ministers of the district.

The Resolutions committee brought in the following resolutions:

Resolved that this convention view with alarm the increase in gambling as shown in the use of lotteries, sale of tickets, and other methods, and would urge that there be a stricter enforcement of the laws dealing with such illegal practices.

Resolved that this convention reaffirm our conviction and belief in the complete outlawing of the traffic in intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes and pledge ourselves through education and legislation to secure that end.

Whereas it has been brought to our notice that many trucks are being hired for conveying picnic parties on Sunday, many are boys and girls from our Sunday schools;

The Love of Nature

You ask why I write of Nature,
Of bird and blossom and bee;
You ask why the ways of the wild-wood
Bring joy to the heart of me—
And why I write not the city
Of its life and its busy throng,
And why the joys of the country
As luring and deep and strong.
I once was a child of the wildwood,
As free as the birds that fly,
As free as the white clouds that wander
Afar in the azure sky;
The flowers of early springtime,
The whisper of forest pine,
The call of the wind from the hill-top
Were pleasures that all were mine.
The robin securely nesting
On a beam in the old log-shed,
The swallows from homes on the barn eaves
Showing their shiny heads.
Where friends and dear companions
To the little country child,
Whose spirit was shy, like the bird-ling's
That flew through the forest wild.
And when the summer waning
Brouht Autumn's tender days,
When fields and woods alluring
Were bathed in yellow haze.
The painted leaves, slow drifting
To earth in the sunlight gleams,
The purple haze on the hilltops
Filled life with the joy of dreams.
So must I write of Nature,
So must I sing her praise,
With her I walked and wandered
In the freedom of childhood days.
And in th epicture before me,
Of tree and blossoming sod,
Of lake and stream and hilltop
I can see the hand of God.

—H. B. A.

Therefore resolved that this convention strongly oppose this practise, and would recommend that this matter be brought to the attention of our Attorney General to prevent this practise as far as illegal.

A very helpful convention was brought to a close with the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," and benediction by Rev. Mr. Shanklin.
