THE OLD BARNYARD SUNFLOWER HAS A DAINTY RELATIVE

New Miniatures Have Lost the Parental Coarseness and Make a Lovely Background in Border; They Are Excellent For Cutting.

Miniature sunflowers in a multitude of new varieties have been introduced in recent years and this race, all derived from the cucumber leaved sunflower, offer magnificent material for a tall growing planting toward the back of the border and give fine cutting material. They are entirely lacking in the coarseness of the huge old-fashioned sunflowers that were familiar and cheerful subjects in every barnyard, being slender and graceful in growth with small flowers produced in great profusion, many of them with handsomely gullied and twisted petals after the style of the cactus dahlia. Sown now in a sunny spot they will start blooming in July and continue until frost.

They show a wide diversity of form and range from creamy white to rich gorgeous yellows, some with striking black centers.

These sunflowers should be sown where they are to remain and each plant should be given 2 feet of space. They like rich soil and will prove a most attractive surprise to those not familiar with them.

In the old-fashioned huge barnyard sunflower, there has been a surprising change by the introduction of red shades, the flowers somewhat resembling a huge gaillardia in coloring. While too coarse for small flower gardens they are picturesque as a background or against shrubbery.

Many handsome combinations in the flower garden are possible with the miniature sunflowers which grow from 3 to 4 feet tall, particularly in connection with the brilliant red zinnias and with the scarlet salvias. They germinate quickly and are excellent material for a late started garden. While, true to their name, they are at their best in full sun, they will give fine bloom in half-shaded positions and brighten up such positions beautifully. Half a day's sun will be sufficient to insure their success.

They have long stems which make them one of the valuable annuals for cutting, the blooms being gracefully poised. There are many excellent varieties, but mixtures are usually most fascinating, because of the wide variety of form that they give.

Good Things To Eat

POTATO PUFFS

Add 1-2 cup flour, 1-4 teaspoon baking powder, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon onion juice to 2 cups mashed potatoes. Beat all together and drop by spoonful into boiling fat. A pleasing way to use up the left-over mashed potatoes.

EGGS BENEDICTINE

A lovely way to serve eggs for breakfast when having a house guest. For each poached egg allow a round of buttered toast, on which place a thin slice of broiled ham. Then the poached egg and over all a well-seasoned cream or Hollandaise sauce.

KITCHEN DICTATES

Try serving hard sauce with the hot apple pie.

Never allow oranges to stand long after slicing or they will become bitter.

Rice pudding is delicious sweetened with honey instead of sugar.

Tomatoes are good hollowed out, stuffed with fresh country sausage and baked.

The person noted for her salads always has a small can of capers and one of pimentoes on tap.

Chocolate cornstarch proves interesting to the children when a layer of marshmallow lines the bottom of the pudding dish.

The Women's Corner

WILL KEEP ITS POSITION

To keep the picture hanging straight place it in the position on the wire and then turn the picture completely around so that the wire is twisted. The picture will always remain straight.

MUDDY WINDOWS

If the windows of the inclosed porch have been splashed with mud and are very dirty, it will be wise to rub them off first with a dampened newspaper and then clean as usual. It will mean clearer, more easily washed windows.

PAPER TOWELING

The absorbent paper towel that can be bought by the roll is fast taking the place of the old-fashioned roller towel Grandmother used to use in her kitchen. It is sanitary, easily changed and lends a neater appearance to the kitchen.

A CLEANER INSIDE

Keep the inside of the oven clean. Scrape out the shelves and bottom and wash with hot soda water solution at least once a week. It will give you better service and prevent that nasty burnt food smell that comes from an oven containing cooked-over food.

A BETTER AROMA

A few drops of a strong disinfectant placed in the garbage pail every few days during the summer weather will add greatly in keeping it smell sweet and will also keep away cats and dogs.

HANGING OUT THE CLOTHES

The way clothes are hung up to dry has a great deal to do with the ironing. Hang them in the same position in which they are worn and you will find a great deal of their wrinkles are blown out during the drying, instead of adding new ones that are hard to iron out.

A CONVENIENT HOLDER

A sew a piece of strong tape about 4 inches long to one end of your tape measure. Wrap this end around a large spool and fasten securely with a tack. Then when the tape measure is not in use it can be wrapped neatly around the spool and placed in the work basket. A loose tape measure can cause a terrible disturbance in a work box.
