More Convicted Spies Facing Death On Block In Germany

Two Men May Get Gift of Lives From Hitler;
The Convicted Women
Spies Meet Their Doom Calmly.

BERLIN, Germany, Feb. 21—The ominous shadow of the executioner's axe fell yesterday upon two more convicted spies held in Ploetzense prison.

The two, who may follow the same path to the block taken by Baroness Benita von Falkenhayn and Renate von Natzmer, are men. One, it was learned, is a former naval technician but the identities of both were concealed by official secrecy.

The condemned pair occupied cells near those in which the two noblewomen spent their last hours.

They had no knowledge of their fate other than the grim tradition that no prisoner emerges from Ploetzense's walls alive and free.

Several days may pass before the official executioner is notified to sharpen his medieval battle-axe and don his formal garb again.

Hope Still Alive

Meanwhile, the prisoners may cling to the hope that Reichsfuehrer Hitler will intervene to modify their death sentences.

Unlike the two women spies, the men were tried several weeks ago in regular court, the sentences of which do not become effective until 99 days after they are pronounced.

The decapitation of the two women continued to create a national sensation yesterday as the section of the Reichswehr charged with anti-espionage activities redoubled its efforts to round betrayers of Germany's military secrets.

Details Leak Out

The exact connection of the two men with the alleged conspiracy has not been divulged, but despite continued official silence details of the events which preceded the execution of Baroness von Falkenhayn and Frau von Natzmer became known.

The mother of one of the two young women employed in the Reichswehr Ministry, who were sentenced to life imprisonment for their part in the plot, betrayed her daughter when she made inquiries at the office concerning the late hours she was keeping and the source of an expensive fur coat she had acquired.

The father of the other Reichswehr secretary gave investigators a clue by cheerfully remarking at a gathering of Reichswehr officers he was pleased they were paying his daughter so well.

Fraulein Irene von Jena, one of those sentenced to life imprisonment it was learned, sold information to the spy only once, refusing thereafter to be a party to the conspiracy.

Fraulein von Jena's grandfather, a general in the Prussian army at the time of the Franco-Prussian war, proudly presented seven sons to Germany who later became officers in the army of Kaiser Wilhelm I.

When the plot engineered by Baron Georges von Sosenowski first came under official surveillance a year ago, the Reichswehr officer in charge of the department from which the military secrets were sold, committed suicide in grief that his subordinates had betrayed him. The official himself was innocent.

A responsible Polish official in Berlin said his Government is in no hurry to accept an offer by Germany to relinquish their prisoner in return for Sosenowski's freedom. He expressed the belief Sosenowski had "made a bad job of being caught, so we shall let him ponder how to become a good spy by languishing in jail for a while."

The two women beheaded Tuesday died silently and without show of emotion.

The Premier's Suggestion

The suggestion of the Premier Hon. Mr. Tilley made in the Legislature yesterday afternoon that the members instead of bickering over petty politics should get together and work for the country's good, strikes the right note.

As the Premier rightly said, the problems which confront the country today, such as the public debt, the railway problem, the marketing of wheat and the matter of unemployment are enough to make men ask how, and where are we drifting? In these times of stress it is up to all true statesmen to work for the common cause, which is the betterment of the country.

No government today on the face of the earth whether it be Conservative or Liberal or what not is responsible for the depression. The condition is the result of the war and of the crazy false standard of living and plunging into debt which prevailed in the ten or more years following the world conflict.

Just as no government is responsible for the conditions which prevailed nor for the results which now prevail. Neither can any government alone remedy these conditions. It remains for the different people and for the different political parties to join together hand in hand to bring this about.

We believe there is in the New Brunswick Legislature today AS PATRIOTIC A BAND OF MEN AS CAN BE FOUND IN ANY LEGISLATIVE BODY IN THE WORLD. Although they may naturally differ as to how the results may be obtained, they all agree that there are serious problems to solve. All are willing to do their part towards making the grand old Province of New Brunswick and our fair Dominion a happier and a better place in which to live. They are all anxious to see the stress and unrest at an end. This cannot be done by bickering over trifles. Much can be done, however, by working hand in hand for the common good.

DROP DISCUSSION ON FISHING GEAR

House Warned Not To Discuss Tariff Position
In View of Negotiations.

OTTAWA, Feb. 21—Canada should not tip off its hand in advance while negotiating with Washington for reciprocity agreements, Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes warned in the House of Commons today. He advised against continuing debate on a resolution sponsored by William Duff (Liberal, Guysboro) to eliminate tariffs on fishing gear.

For the second time this session the House took the Minister's advice and dropped debate on tariff rates which, he said, might tie the Government's hands in negotiating with Washington.

The other motion related to farm implements. A third—all moved by Liberals—would lower tariffs relating to the mining industry. When it reached it probably will meet the same fate.

"I yield to no man," said the Finance Minister, "in an earnest desire to effect a lasting and favorable trade agreement, one that will be mutually advantageous to the people of Canada and the United States. But to effect that, we should not muddy the waters in advance."

Wife of St. George Postmaster Dies

ST. GEORGE, Feb. 21—Mrs. Hattie O'Brien, wife of the late Postmaster Edward O'Brien, St. George, died here Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. C. Toy. She was a daughter of late Mr. and Mrs. Newton Seelye, both branches of the family being of Loyalist descent, settling in St. George in the 19th century. Mrs. O'Brien was a woman of remarkable mentality, was a devout member of the Baptist Church and was beloved by a wide circle of friends. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Frank W. Jordan, California; and Mrs. A. C. Toy, and Miss Kate, both of St. George. The funeral was held here today.

ONCE MILLIONAIRE NOW IS MISSING

Moses H. Gulesian, 71, Disappears After Dinner at Newton, Mass.

NEWTON, Mass., Feb. 21—Moses H. Gulesian, 71-year-old former millionaire, was missing last night under mysterious circumstances.

The United States department of justice joined in a search for the erstwhile Armenian immigrant boy who frequently had been threatened, but failed to produce a single clue.

Gulesian dropped out or sign Tuesday night after attending a dinner at the University Club of Boston given by the Sons of the American Revolution, of which he was honorary member. His parked automobile was found nearby.

At his palatial Chestnut Hill home, where he recently was reported to be living on less than $10 a week, his wife the former Grace Warner, concert pianist and composer, suggested two possible theories. She thought it possible that recent worries, caused by financial reverses, which followed the collapse of his fortune gained as a real estate dealer, had brought on amnesia. As an alternative theory she thought he might have gone to New York to view a motion picture to see whether the plot of a play they once wrote, "Made in America," had been plagiarized.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 21—Ruling that marriage did not constitute "inefficiency, incapacity, or conduct unbecoming a teacher," Dr. Charles H. Elliott, State Commissioner of Education, today ordered Wildwood authorities to reinstate four women teachers dismissed last fall because their husbands were able to support them. Dr. Elliott observed counsel for the school board had argued the procedure was a "matter of sound public policy," but failed to cite any previous rulings to support the view.

MSGR. CARNEY IS ADMINISTRATOR OF THE DIOCESE

Is Appointed in Honorary Capacity to Act
Under Consultors Until a New Bishop is Selected.

Names Submitted To Rome

It Is Probable That a Priest From Another
Place Will Be Selected
To the Position.

(Special to the Daily Mail)

SAINT JOHN, Feb. 21—Rt. Rev. F. L. Carney, V.G., D.P., pastor of St. Dunstan's Church, Fredericton, has been appointed administrator of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Saint John, pending the appointment of a new bishop. He was administrator of the diocese during the illness of the late Bishop LeBlanc, but his office ceased with the death of the Bishop. The appointment was made yesterday by the consultors of the late bishop, namely, Rt. Rev. H. D. Cormier, D.P., pastor of L'Assumption Church, Moncton. Very Rev. Dean J. J. McDermott, pastor of St. John the Baptist Church, Saint John; and Rev. F. M. Lockary, pastor of the Church of the Assumption, West Saint John.

It is understood in circles close to the Cathedral that it will be two months at least before a new Roman Catholic bishop is appointed to succeed the late bishop LeBlanc. In the meantime three names will be submitted to the Papal authorities at Rome for recommendation. The usual form is to recommend one man as first choice, another as second choice, and a third one for third choice. From these three the name of the bishop to be appointed, will be selected.

The most authoritative sources amongst the Saint John clergy state that the new bishop will be appointed from among the priests outside the province altogether. The names of a well known Ontario priest and also two Nova Scotia clergymen are mentioned in this connection. The choice seems to favor the upper province man. At any rate it is not probable that a New Brunswick priest will be the next bishop of the diocese, although the names of Rev. F. M. Lockary, M.C., of West Saint John, and Very Rev. Dean McDermott, also of Saint John, have been prominently mentioned. Had the late Bishop LeBlanc continued to live and remain in poor health, Rev. Father Lockary would likely have been appointed Auxiliary Bishop to Bishop LeBlanc. Owing to the advancing years and failing health of Rt. Rev. Msgr. Carney it is said here that he would very properly decline to have his name sent to Rome. In the meantime while Father Carney is active administrator, it will be more of an honorary post and the actual work will be carried on by the diocesan consultors. This body is composed of a number of Saint John clergymen, with Rev. Father Lockary as the head. These gentlemen will consult with Monsignor Carney upon how matters are to be carried on within the Saint John Diocese until another bishop is appointed.

RESTING EASIER

The condition of Mrs. Abner B. Bel-yea, who is quite ill at her home in Grey street this week, was reported to be improved today, friends will be glad to learn.

DIED AT DOAKTOWN

The remains of the late Charlotte Dykeman, who died at her home in Doaktown after a short illness, were brought here this afternoon and funeral was held on arrival from the funeral home of J. A. McAdam, undertaker. The funeral service was short and impressive and interment was made in the Old Rural Cemetery.

Labor Federation Adopts Resolutions

HERE TODAY

HON. R. B. HANSON, K. C., Minister of Trade and Commerce, who will be in Fredericton this evening for Governor's dinner.

Hon. R. B. Hanson, K. C., Minister of Trade and Commerce, and Mrs. Hanson, will arrive here this evening from Saint John where they are spending the day today. This evening Mr. and Mrs. Hanson will be dinner guests of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. MacLaren at "Acacia Grove". Hon. Mr. Hanson has been working hard in his department during the past month and this trip is in the nature of a rest as well as a business one.

JUDGMENTS IN APPEAL COURT ON FRIDAY

Court Takes Two Cases
Under Consideration—Local Liquor Case Before Court.

The New Brunswick Appeal Court which has been meeting here this week, adjourned yesterday afternoon until Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock when it will meet again to give judgments and hear common motions. Judgment has been reserved in a Westmorland county trespass case that of Andrew S. Cormier, New Galloway vs. Onisime Y. LeBlanc and others in which Mr. Justice Richards, in the Westmorland Circuit Court, with a jury, had found for the plaintiff, to the extent of $15 and costs. James Friel, K.C., of Moncton, for the defendants, moved to set aside the verdict for the plaintiff and to enter a verdict for the defendants or for a new trial. E. T. Richard of Moncton, argued contra.

C. R. Hawkins of this city, for the accused, supported an appeal under the New Brunswick Intoxicating Liquor Act from a judgment of York County court Judge A. R. Slipp, by which Arthur Lorette, this city, had been sentenced to a fine of $200 and costs and a jail term of two months, with an additional two months in default of payment of the fine and costs. Hon. W. H. Harrison, K.C., attorney-general, argued contra.

The term of Lorette's sentence had expired, and he was convicted on a second charge under the Intoxicating Liquor Act, which sentence he also served. The extent of the second sentence, depended on the outcome of the present appeal, for it was to be determined by whether the sentence was for a second offence under the act, which would require a more severe penalty, or for a first offence.

Amendments To Workmen's Compensation
Act re-Emphasized—
Special Committee To Appear Before Government Tomorrow—Election of Officers This Afternoon.

The New Brunswick Federation of Labor began its final day of a three-day convention this morning and considered a number of important resolutions, most of them dealing with the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Tomorrow the executive of the Federation and the special representative of the labor body to the legislature, will appear before the government and ask the consideration of nearly fifty resolutions, all having to do with labor's rights and social legislation.

The following resolutions were adopted this morning:

To provide compensation for employees of farmers.

To place less burden of proof of accident upon injured workmen.

To define "accident" so as to include "all sprains and effects therefrom, received by a workman, arising out of or in the course of his employment."

To extend compensation protection to workmen injured on way to and from work, if on employer's property.

To amend Act so as to make possible re-hearing of cases at any reasonable time after accident, as in Nova Scotia.

That each compensation commissioner shall hold office during good behaviour, but may be removed at any time for cause.

Urging restoration to exclusive jurisdiction of the Board of "the question whether an injury has arisen out of or in the course of an employment."

To add to Section 33 of the Act: "Where any claim for compensation involving the physical condition of the injured workman has been contested, such claim shall be referred for review to a committee composed of three medical practitioners appointed by the Board, one of whom shall be selected by the injured workman or someone on his behalf, one by the employer and third (chairman) by the Board, such committee of review to have access to all files of the Board pertaining to this claim."

To increase compensation from 55 to 66 2/3 per cent.

To increase minimum compensation from $6 to $12.50 per week or to full wages if less than $12.50.

To increase term of permanent partial disability, in certain cases, to life of the workman or duration of such disability.

To delete Sec. 39 (13, 14) from the Act.

That this year's resolutions be codified and submitted to extended session of the Government.

To refer to executive a proposal to have government make obligatory a Building Trades Code, when agreed upon by a majority of employers and employees (along Quebec lines).

To have Section 41 of Act amended in line up with the Ontario.

A. E. Skilling reported that in this city last evening a N. B. Council of Masons and Plasterers was formed, with the following officers: A. E. Skilling, St. John, president; Geo. C. Crawford, Fredericton, V. P. Harry Ryan, Fredericton, secretary; John Sugrue, St. John, treasurer.

Resolutions 13 and 24 re minimum wages for all classes were referred to executive.

Yesterday the Labor Federation considered and adopted about forty-two resolutions.
