strong, and staging a well arranged child's party. The affair caused all the merriment and fun that it was intended to do. Prizes were given for the best costumes, the best dressed boy being voted George Brown as Little Lord Fauntleroy with his velvet suit, lace collar and golden curls. Mrs. J. D. MacKay was chosen for the best dressed girl with her little dress of pale blue silk, ribbon bow in her hair and satin slippers. The evening's programme consisted of the playing of children's games, and songs and the reciting of nursery rhymes. The prize in a contest was won by Mrs. Bernard Hagerman. The "children" present at the party were: Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Blackmer, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. MacKay, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Hagerman, Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. WINTER MORNING

The snow is coppery-pink
From the sunrise,
And on the knoll,
Outside my window,
Are three tame rabbits,
Sitting still
As china figures.
Only their footprints,
In the snow,
Prove to me that they
Are living creatures,
Coaxing for a breakfast.

B. HARRY SMITH PASSES AT HOME IN WOODSTOCK

WOODSTOCK, Feb. 21—Woodstock lost a well known citizen this morning, when B. Harry Smith died at his home on Connell street following a heart attack the previous afternoon. His death came as a shock to a large circle of friends and relatives, as he had been in good health up to the time of his sudden seizure.

He was the second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Smith and was a lifelong resident of this town. Descended from United Empire Loyalist stock, he was an authority on local history and possessed an unending fund of anecdotes of early times in Carleton County. He was 72 years of age.

Mr. Smith was twice married. His first wife was Miss Grayley, Montreal. In 1896 he married Miss Helen Connell, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Charles P. Connell, who survives. Also surviving are one son, Connell, Toronto; two daughters, Mrs. J. Douglas Winslow, Woodstock; and Mrs. B. Fraser Armstrong, Kingston, Ont.; one sister, Mrs. R. E. Guy Smith, of Montreal; and one brother, Allan, of Woodstock. Another brother, W. D. Smith, long a prominent figure in local business circles, died several months ago. HON. L. J. TWEEDIE

Former Lieutenant-Governor and Also Former Premier of New Brunswick.

Hon. L. J. Tweedie, former premier and also former lieutenant-governor of New Brunswick, was a member of the Legislature in the days of Blair, Pugsley, Emmerson, Hanington, Stockton, Alward, and Powell. Hon. Mr. Tweedie was almost as well known in Fredericton as he was at Chatham. He was a fluent speaker with plenty of humor probably due to his Irish descent.

He was born in Chatham in 1849 of Irish parents. He was educated at the Presbyterian College. In 1871 he was admitted to the bar. Three years later he was elected to the Legislature. He was defeated in 1878, but went back in 1882. Until after the general election of 1890 he was opposed to the Blair Government. In the latter year Mr. Blair made the then famous "Northumberland Deal" as a result of which Mr. Tweedie and his colleagues agreed to support the government on condition that they reduce the rate of stampage. As a result of this deal Mr. Tweedie entered the Government as Surveyor-General and his colleague, Hon. J. P. Burchill became Speaker. The late Sheriff John O'Brien was another colleague and the fourth was either Edward Hutchinson or James Robinson. He later was Provincial Secretary in the Mitchell and the Emmerson administrations. On the resignation of Hon. H. R. Emmerson in 1900 Hon. Mr. Twedie became Premier. In 1907 Mr. Tweedie was appointed Lieutenant Governor or which office he held until 1912. He died at Chatham in 1917. He married Miss Loudoun, daughter of the late Alex. Loudoun of Chatham.

Fred M. Tweedie, M. P. P., for Northumberland County in the present Legislature is a son of the Lieutenant Governor Tweedie.

In the first days of the Blair Government the provincial legislature was not conducted on Federal lines as at present and although Mr. Blair was a Liberal many of his strong supporters in the House and out of it were Conservatives. Among those were Colonel J. D. Chipman, George W. Fowler, Hon. M. Tweedie, and others. Mr. Tweedie later supported the Liberal party in the Federal House.

Hon. Mr. Tweedie had many warm personal friends in Fredericton, where he was a frequent visitor. He dearly loved a nice horse and his well matched teams were the source of admiration about the city.

Included in the genial fine body of men who came from Northumberland in Tweedie's day were John P. Burchill; John O'Brien, Dick Lawlor, Jim Robinson, W. C. Winslow, and others, not forgetting the genial Commodore Stewart. The Commodore used to say that there was no politics in Northumberland. Only "Spruce deals and religion". The spruce deals are getting exhausted. The writer does not know whether they still have religion or not. Perhaps Messrs. Anderson, Gill, or Savoie have a spark or two left. We know that Leonard O'Brien the good looking and popular former Speaker did not pray hard enough to get elected in last election. Neither did our friend Herbert.

POST OFFICE SEEKS OWNER OF $650,144

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 21—The Argentine post office department was confronted today with the mystery of who owns $650,144 scattered around in the central post office.

That is, part of it was scattered around when one of the four ordinary mail sacks from Bolivia broke open.

Postal employees, with their eyes bulging out, inspected the pouches and found they contained $500,000 in paper currency, and 126 kilos of gold bullion.

The sacks bore only tags reading: "To Buenos Aires Bank of Boston." There was no indication as to who had sent them from Bolivia. Officials of the First National Bank of Boston here denied knowledge of any gold being consigned to them and the post office ordered the shipment sealed until the case should be cleared up.
