MOOSE SEASON OPENS

New Brunswick's moose season will commence on Monday and for a month thereafter "the monarch of the northlands" will be the legal target for the sportsmen's skill. Indications are that the season will be a most successful one and there have been more than the usual early season licenses sold. An influx of U. S. sportsmen is expected and it is quite likely that Upper Canada will be widely represented also. Guides are making ready for the season, and seem assured that it will be a successful one, judging from their elaborate preparations.
