Local Teachers' Association was held last evening in the auditorium of the High School, with the president, Mr.
R. K. Nevers, in the chair. After transaction of routine business, Dr.
W. C. Kierstead gave a very interesting and instructive lecture on certain phases of "Practical Educational Psychology." A feature of the meeting was the organization of groups for the study of educational topics. These groups will meet and report progress at the regular meetings. A fifteen minute reel of motion pictures showing views of the "British Islands of the West Indies," was presented. The meeting then adjourned with the singing of the National Anthem.

St. Paul's Y.P.S.

The St. Paul's Young People's Society held their weekly meeting last evening with a very good attendance.
This year being Leap Year the girls of Group III put on the programme and entertainment. Miss Vera Sam-unders was in charge of the devotional period. The business meeting was in charge of the president Rhoda Young.
A very delightful reading entitled Encouragement was given by Miss Verne Crawford. Miss Madeline Carter then played a lovely piano solo.
Two very interesting readings were given by Miss Margaret Scott. A very enjoyable recreation period was held under the direction of Fraser Mac-Kay. The National Anthem brought an exceedingly enjoyable evening to a close.

J. D. Palmer returned today from Battle Creek, where he has been undergoing treatment. Mr. Palmer's many friends will be pleased to hear that he is much improved in health.

A. J. Beveridge at San Diego. She also intends to visit Mexico before returning home. The trip will take six weeks. At noon today Miss Allen was given a farewell luncheon by a number of her young lady friends.

Mrs. Barry Kitchen left yesterday for Boston where she will visit relatives over the week-end.

Wilmot Young People's

The Wilmot Young People's Society last evening enjoyed one of the finest programmes it has been privileged to hear. This was an address on the life and works of Bliss Carman by R. C.
Bailey, L.T.C.L. Mr. Bailey first outlined the life of this poet who was born in Fredericton in 1851. Bliss Carman attended high school and college here. He studied at Oxford and Edinburgh University and later took up post-graduate work at Harvard.
The belief that the things of the mind and soul are greater than material wants led Carman in 1894 to give up a profitable journalistic career to become an independent man of letters.
He died in 1928. Mr. Bailey gave four reasons for considering Bliss Carman one of the greatest figures in English literature: he was a poet in the fullest and most complete sense, an original and individual thinker, a nature poet par excellence and a man with a definite poetic ideal—nourishment of the soul and refreshment for the spirit of man. Mr. Bailey discussed the poetry of Bliss Carman briefly but thoroughly, illustrating with the reading of representative poems. All Car-man's works revolve around seven themes: the mystery of human existence, nature, the sea, love, memorial theme, religion and pure description.
In response to a request for a piano selection, Mr. Bailey played one of his own compositions "Melody in D Flat." A vote of thanks was moved by Bruce Bird, seconded by Miss Mildred Harvey and unanimously carried.

Home and School Association

Fredericton Home and School Association held its first meeting of 1936 last night in one of the class rooms of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church hall which was kindly loaned for the meeting. Rev. Dr. G. E. Ross, acting president, was in the chair, and the association started off with every prospects of 1936 being a banner year.
Previous to the regular meeting the executive met when matters to be presented at the regular meeting were taken up and discussed.

At the regular meeting the nominating committee, named a few weeks ago to secure a successor to Rev.
Dr. F. A. Wightman as president, reported, and Rev. Dr. G. E. Ross was unanimously chosen as president to act until the annual meeting of the association in June. He was declared elected and thanked the association for the honour conferred on him in asking him to become president. His one object in accepting the chair he said, is that he can be of some service to the association and try to be true to the trust imposed in him.

It was unanimously agreed that Rev. Dr. Wightman, who is now in charge of a church at Douglastown, and who was president for some time, be made honorary president of the association. The report of the treasurer was given and adopted. The library committee reported several new books for the association library these dealing with the movement. A report of the delegates to the Social Service Council was given by Mrs.
Meinies. Correspondence was read from federal office and from other places regarding work of the association. Dr. Ross reported on going before the school board and asking for the support or condemnation of the work of the association and of being told the matter would be considered after he left the meeting. Up to the present time he has received no word from the board. The extension committee reported on work not only in city but province and stressed the advisability of following the policy of the federal board.

For the benefit of those who had not been at a previous meeting the objects of the association were explained and it was urged that the association keep on until co-operation or condemnation of the work be given by the board of school trustees so that teacher and parent can work together in the most important thing in the world, the education of the child.
Reference was made to education week and it was decided to have a meeting at that time and if possible have Inspector Fox speak.

A resolution was passed expressing appreciation at the formation of a Teachers' Association in Fredericton and the following resolution passed and ordered sent to the president:
"At a meeting of the Home and School Association of Fredericton we wish to place ourselves on record as appreciating the formation of a
and pledge ourselves as co-workers in the training of children and to assist teachers associations, boards of school trustees and boards of education in promoting the best possible educational system for our province."

The Fredericton Home and School Association has a membership of almost 100 and interest in the work is growing greater each day as the aims and objects are made known to the parents and others interested in the education problem.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING GIBSON MEMORIAL CHURCH

The annual congregational meeting of the Gibson Memorial United church of Canada, South Devon, met on the 31st to take a retrospective and prospective view of the activities of the church. The minister in charge, Rev.
W. A. Burge, conducted the usual devotional period after which the meeting was declared open for business.
The report from the Session marked the progress which had been made during the year spiritually, there being twelve persons received on confession of faith, five of whom were from the Sunday school; four adult baptisms and three infants. It called attention to the loss sustained during the year by death of two at Nashwaaksis, Mrs. C. Marsh and Mr. Brewer, and Mrs. T. Wister and J. R.
Burpee, Devon, and by standing passed a vote of sympathy to the bereaved families while the pastor led the congregation in prayer to God.

The financial report of the Official Board was very good showing that four hundred and sixteen dollars had been contributed to the Missionary and Maintenance, a little in advance of last year, the W.M.S. Auxiliaries and Mission Bands to $260 and $175 spent upon repairing the Manse.

The various organizations of the church presented very gratifying reports and were duly received. The vacancies of the trustee board were filled and a number of new stewards appointed.

A hearty vote of appreciation was extended to the minister for the vigorous prosecution of his work during the year, and the helpful inspiring messages he brings to the congregation from week to week. The pastor responded by saying that what he has tried to do was by the grace of God and the co-operation of the various workers of the church. He thanked the organizations which had worked in such a cordial manner during the year. A vote of appreciation was also extended to the officers and teachers of the Sunday school. A special note was made to the most efficient treasurer which the church had in the person of Mrs. Henry Peters, this expression came from the pastor of the church and was heartily endorsed by the congregation.

The members and staff of the firm of Hanson, Dougherty and West wish to extend to the Chief, Assistant Chief and Members of the Fire Department, their appreciation for the most efficient manner in which the fire in our office building was handled, thereby averting a serious fire loss.

We also wish to publicly thank all those who so kindly assisted the Fire Department and us during the said fire.

Old Times Recalled

Many old timers of forty and fifty years ago, especially those who lived "across the river" will be interested in reading of the conditions which existed in the present town of Devon in those old days. Mrs. Susan Squires has written a very interesting paper dealing with these conditions. This paper The Daily Mail will publish from day to day, at the request of several members of the York and Sunbury Historical Society.

REMINISCENCES OF EARLY ST. MARYS

(Conclusion)

The York County Volunteers
I think they were called the Seventy-First regiment as well but I am not up on military names. They had two rooms in a building next to ours in which to store their uniforms and equipment. Each summer they went to Camp Sussex for drill. Early in the morning we would hear the farm waggon rattling in from the country; Stanley, Nashwaak, Keswick Ridge and other places. The green looking boys would go up to the room and get their uniforms and go to a hotel and change. They were an entirely different looking bunch when they got their soldier clothes on, scarlet coat, dark blue pants with a red stripe down the side seam and a white belt. Their officers were Major Staples of St.
Marys, Captain (afterwards Major) Howe of Stanley, Captain Barker from Barker's Point, Captain Christie from Keswick Ridge, Lieut. Johnston from Nashwaaksis, Sergeant Clayton from Marysville, now over ninety years old I am told. Mr. Samuel McFarlane and Jerrod Boone were also officers.
Everybody turned out to see the men put through their drill and marched down to the ferry boat. Two of my brothers went along as buglers at different times.

The Soap Company

The St. Marys Soap Company was launched with quite a blowing of trumpets. According to the man who talked the company up, it was going to be of great benefit to the village.
Stock sold at one hundred dollars a share, but people were quite cautious.
Only those who expected some returns from it in work or salary, put much money into it. But quite a number of people ventured a hundred dollars in the scheme. A piece of land was bought from Whitman Haines between the new street to the bridge and the river. A big two storey building was put up, machinery installed and work begun but it was more or less of a soap bubble. The real trouble was that the man who worked the scheme up did not know his business.

The glycerine soap he made was good soap but there was no profit on it.
Sometimes his laundry soap was a success and sometimes it seemed all washing soda. The whole thing ended in a fizzle. The big factory stood empty for a time and then burned down.

One generation passeth away and another generation cometh. Such is life. When I go over the river now, the old familiar faces are gone. The new generation have a great many things to make life easier for them than it was for their parents. Their houses are easier warmed and better lighted. They have a better water and fire protection system. Their streets are paved and lighted at night where they used to be as black as ink. There has also been a revolution in their method of communication and transportation. Perhaps some of them have an easier time making a living than their parents had, but their demands are far greater. Whether they are better people I shall have to leave it to themselves to answer.

(Mrs.) SUSAN K. SQUIRES
