

Indian Place-Names Traced to Cussing Out of Whites

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Indian cuss words hurled at early white settlers were said today to be responsible for some of America's strange place-names.

"I hate to think," said George C. Martin, secretary of the government's board on geographical names, "of the historical errors that have resulted because white men did not understand what the Indian was saying."

The early settlers, he pointed out, would ask an Indian the name of a brook or lake.

"Half the time," said the geographer, "the Indian wouldn't know, or he wouldn't know what the white man was talking about."

"Finally, the Indian would say in his own tongue—I don't know, white man big fool for asking—and that of human brotherhood and justice if we are to work out the redemption of mankind. Dr. Kierstead said, and declared that he had real faith that in the end love, and not hate, reason and not force, would have last say in the final settlement of human problems.

A vote of thanks moved by Vernon Box and seconded by Colonel Randolph Corcker was unanimously carried. The gathering dispersed following the pronouncement of the Benediction by the Rev. J. S. Gregg.

would go down as the name for the brook or lake."

Topping the board's list of Indian tongue-twisters is Lake Chagoggagoggmanchaugagoggchaubunagunamaug near Webster, Mass.

FOREST BEAUTY

So beautiful a sight

GUEST IS OFTEN RIGHT THE HOTEL MEN SAY

It is a saying rather than an axiom in the hotel industry that "the guest is always right." Privately, almost any hotel man will venture that the guest is occasionally wrong.

In a case reported by an overnight guest in a New York hotel, however, it might require at least a Supreme Court Justice and a scholar in English to determine who was right.

At midnight the guest went to his telephone and said to the operator, "Please call me at eight o'clock in the morning."

"Eight o'clock. Yes, sir. Thank you."

"Then," the guest continued, "I'd like some cracked ice."

"Yes, sir. Thank you."

At 12.30 a.m., disgusted with the hotel's service, the guest went to bed. Precisely at 8 in the morning his telephone was ringing and there was knocking at the door. The telephone was the rising call. The caller at the door was a boy with cracked ice.—New York Sun.

Here's Simple Way to Curb a Cold

Two Quick-Acting, Quick-Dissolving
"ASPIRIN" Tablets with a Glass of Water

The modern way to curb a cold is this: Two "Aspirin" tablets the moment you feel a cold coming on. Then repeat, if necessary, according to instructions in the box.

At the same time, if you have a sore throat, crush and dissolve three "Aspirin" tablets in one-third glass of water. And gargle with this mixture twice.

The "Aspirin" you take internally will act to combat fever, cold pains and the cold itself. The gargle will act as a medicinal gargle to provide almost instant relief from rawness and pain. It is really marvelous; for it acts like a local anesthetic on the irritated membrane of your throat.

Try this way. Your doctor, we know, will endorse it. For it is quick, effective and ends the taking of strong medicines for a cold.

• "Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Helping Millions to Enjoy Greater FREEDOM from COLDS

Catch Cold Easily? . .
Vicks Va-tro-nol helps Prevent many Colds

At the first warning nasal irritation, snifle or sneeze, use Vicks Va-tro-nol—just a few drops up each nostril. Va-tro-nol is especially designed for the nose and upper throat—where most colds start. It stimulates Nature's own functions—in the nose—to help prevent colds, and to throw off head colds in their early stages. Used in time, Va-tro-nol helps avoid many colds.

Colds Hang on? . .
Vicks VapoRub helps
End a Cold Sooner

If a cold has developed, rub Vicks VapoRub on throat and chest at bedtime. VapoRub acts direct—two ways at once: (1) By stimulation through the skin like a poultice or plaster; (2) By inhalation of its medicated vapors direct to inflamed air-passages. Through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action loosens phlegm, soothes irritation, helps break congestion.

Follow Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds

A helpful guide to fewer colds and shorter colds. Developed by Vicks Chemists and Medical Staff; tested in extensive clinics by practicing physicians—further proved in everyday home use by millions. The Plan is fully explained in each Vicks package.
