CARL M'KNIGHT'S BODY RECOVERED YESTERDAY P.M.

Citizens and Mounted Police Worked Hard Christmas Day

F'ton Sympathizes

Was Bright Little Boy, a General Favorite With All Classes

The waters of the Saint John river gave up its dead at 3:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the body of little Carlo (Bobby) McKnight, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George McKnight, was taken from under the ice. The little boy went into the air hole on Thursday morning while skating on the river.

Following the accident on Thursday and continuing until yesterday afternoon, the searching party were busily engaged trying to recover the body. Yesterday morning William Laird secured a diving helmet and went down into the icy water, but was unable to see any sign of the body of the missing boy. Lighting and diving equipment was furnished to the rescuers by Ashley A. Colter and the lighting equipment was connected with the electric light plant on the shore.

After cutting the ice the lights were shined under the water. After working for some time Lee Miles noted the glittering skate by the aid of the light. Further cutting was made in the ice and the body was brought to the surface. On the ice when the body was recovered was George McKnight, the bereaved father of the drowning victim. Members of the R. C. M. P. in charge of Inspector C. K. Gray and a large number of men who had been doing their best to assist in recovering the body were also present. During the day as many as 50 men were in search of the body. Included in the number was Hon. J. B. McNair, K.C., attorney-general, who spent a good portion of the day on the ice trying to render assistance.

Render Assistance

The Mounted Police rendered assistance in dividing the men into squads, placing some at cutting the ice while the others dragged and used lights. The work was carried on in the face of a cold northerly wind which at times was piercing, but the men stuck patiently to their tasks. The terrific pressure of the water under the ice made the work of the divers extremely difficult.

During the day large numbers of sympathetic friends visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. McKnight on University Avenue and expressed their sympathy. It was a sad fireside at the McKnight home yesterday. The preparation for Christmas had progressed, the Christmas tree was in its place, and the family circle had been ready to celebrate and to await the coming of Santa Claus. But the home was turned into a scene of mourning and the scene was a pathetic one. A gloom was cast over the whole city by the sad occurrence and this was particularly so in the neighborhood surrounding the McKnight household. The heartfelt sympathy of the whole community goes out to Mr. and Mrs. McKnight and other members of the bereaved family.

Little Bobby McKnight was one of the brightest pupils in the Charlotte Street school and was a general favorite with his companions. He was in grade six in that school. He was a member of the boys' choir of Christchurch Cathedral and of Miss Peters' class in the Sunday school. Previous to the disorganization of the Cathedral Boy Scout Troop he was a member of that body and was also a member of one of the junior hockey teams of the city. He is survived by his parents, two brothers, George and Stewart McKnight and two sisters, Elizabeth and Jean.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon with prayers at the home, 414 University Avenue, at two o'clock, and service at Christchurch Cathedral at 2:30 o'clock to be conducted by Very Rev. Dean W. H. Moorhead. Interment will be made in the Forest Hill cemetery.

Dr. Charles MacKay, coroner, who viewed the body and investigated the circumstances of the boy's death, decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

RESTING COMFORTABLY

Dr. G. C. Vanwart, who received a painful injury when his automobile was in collision with the C.N.R. train at Devon last week, was reported from his home today to be resting fairly comfortably. His condition, it is understood, is not serious. Dr. Vanwart was being driven to a sick call at Marysville last Wednesday night, and the accident occurred at the blind crossing on the Marysville road. Frosted windows on the car hindered the occupants from being able to see clearly.

Friday, December 18, 10,633; Saturday, December 19, 15,125; Sunday, December 20, 3,857; Monday, December 21, 45,277; Tuesday, December 22, 36,563; Wednesday, December 23, 23,161; Thursday, December 24, 9,256.

COLORFUL OPEN AIR PROGRAMME CHRISTMAS EVE

Santa Claus and the Y's Men's Club combined in a most colorful open air Christmas community celebration in front of the Provincial Normal School building on Christmas Eve, which was featured by a beautifully decorated, and electrically lighted Christmas tree. The programme was an excellent one, lasting from seven o'clock until 8:15 o'clock and being witnessed by a huge throng of people.

The programme included a grand entry in a gaily decorated barouche by Santa Claus, the presentation of 1,000 bags of candy, a general singing of carols, led by 150 selected voices in the city, and projected upon a screen so that all could sing, and proved a most attractive Christmas Eve event. The programme was in charge of Roland G. Loughlan and Harry Grant of Devon did the announcing. Robin Bailey was in charge of the musical programme.

One of the features was the arrival of Santa Claus, preceded by two red-coated riders. During the programme telegrams were received by Santa Claus who took time out to announce what was in them. While the night was cold and there was difficulty in hearing because of the noise of the street, the programme was quite successful. The Y's Men's Club had charge of arrangements.

NO CHANGE IN CONDITION

There was no noticeable change today in the condition of Mrs. S. S. Miller, who is seriously ill with pneumonia at her home on York St. Today is the ninth or tenth day of Mrs. Miller's illness, nearing the critical period of the disease. Today the physician and the family were hopeful for Mrs. Miller's condition.

CHRISTMAS HAS COME AND GONE, PASSED QUIETLY

No Unusual Celebration For This City Yesterday

Snowless Christmas

Round of Christmas Parties, Carol Singing

Christmas, with all its associations, festive and reverent, has come and gone for another year. Santa Claus has made his annual pilgrimage through the skies and down the chimneys and has returned to his northern haunts where he and his helpers will stock up toys for another year. The season of Christmas, however, will linger for another week, and residents here will proudly display their gaily decorated Christmas trees for at least that time, many of them even longer.

Christmas passed quietly in this city. The usual gay round of celebrations were held, the Christmas turkey, goose or whatever it may have been, was eaten and all the usual festivity enjoyed. But generally it was a quiet Yuletide in this city. One thing conspicuously missing was the snow. It was a real "green" Christmas, and was the first to occur in the province for a number of years. This fact did, of course, take something away from the traditional dignity and festivity of the occasion. But on the whole Christmas was enjoyed by all.

Three of the churches of the city, Christchurch Cathedral, St. Dunstan's and the Christchurch Parish Church put on special musical services on Christmas morning, although the majority of the churches held these services last Sunday.

At the Gibson Memorial Church in Devon, divine service was held on Christmas morning in keeping with the habit of this church to hold Christmas service on that day. Rev. Mr. Burge, the pastor, has been in the habit of having Christmas service since 1922 and it has become increasingly one of interest and inspiration on the occasion of Christmas. A large congregation attended, and the musical service was of particular inspiration. The theme of Rev. Mr. Burge's address on Christmas morning was "So This Is Christmas." The usual Christmas night get-to-

Boxing Day, Many Stores Take Holiday

Today, Boxing Day, the Dominion and Provincial departmental buildings are closed. An order went out from Ottawa during the week giving a holiday to all the Dominion Government officials. As the provincial offices, usually close on Saturday afternoon the holiday today means only a half-holiday but at the same time it gave to many employees a chance to spend Christmas Day and the week-end at their homes in different parts of the province. Several of the larger business houses throughout the city were closed today and their employees enjoyed a well earned rest after the Christmas activities. It was at first thought that all the business houses might close today but they were evidently not able to get together on it.

Boxing Day in England means that the postman, the grocery delivery man, the newsboy, the telegraph messenger and others who have been faithful to their different patrons during the year present themselves at the various houses to get their presents. The lady of the house, or the man, as the case may be, has for years been aware of this custom and is always prepared to make a donation of a Christmas box on Boxing Day. Some of our local ladies who were temporarily keeping house in England during the war years were surprised on the day after Christmas when an array of delivery men, messengers and others presented themselves at the house for Christmas boxes.

BODY ARRIVED HERE

The body of James W. Day, who died at Portland, Me., on Tuesday, arrived here yesterday and was taken to his birthplace, Lakeville Corner, Sunbury county, for interment. Mrs. Day accompanied the body of her husband home.

gethers and singing old carols was a prominent feature of the celebrations.

The service which was conducted yesterday morning by Rev. W. A. Burge, at Gibson Memorial Church, was delightful, inspiring and very appropriate for the day. Donald Tait sang a solo, "Star of the East," accompanied by Walter Fraser at the organ.
