AS SEEN BY H. L. G.

"Hap" Osborne in the Saint John Telegraph says that "despite other reports the Fredericton Capitals won't take advantage of the Saint John Seagulls' offer to work out at the Forum here until Nov. 10 or shortly after that date. It has been rumored that the Capitals, entered in this year's Southern N. B. Hockey League, would be here this week-end to practice but such is not the case. The Capital club will have the same lineup as last year with the addition of one or two new players."

Fredericton City will send a strong lineup to Saint John for the first of a home-and-home series with Saint John seniors in the New Brunswick semi-finals of the McCurdy Cup playoffs. The team will leave here by bus Saturday noon. They will be without the services of Ron Beatty, full-back, who suffered a broken knee cap in their game with Mount Allison two weeks ago. It is doubtful if Albert Rodgers, who suffered a head injury in the same game, will make the trip. Members of the club who will be taking the trip are: Kileen, Robin Kilburn, G. Jamer, Bubar, Kitchen, McKiel, and Goodine who will work in the forward division with Laskey, Pringle and Hanlon as halves. "Bun" McLenahan, "Bus" McLenahan, J. Kilburn, T. Clarke, Mills, Haining and "Moke" Morse will make the trip as three-quarters and one of them will drop back to fullback.

Football and hockey aren't the only sports that are occupying the attention of the fans around this province. At Campbellton they have already organized a winter ski club, electing officers, and preparing for the new season. At Campbellton also they have organized a bowling programme, and already have an ambitious schedule mapped out. According to a news dispatch they are planning a local league "on a larger scale than any attempted in recent years." The proposal of even more interest is that a cup be donated for competition, the chief idea being to arrange for a northern New Brunswick bowling tournament next spring, the winners in the event to enter the N. B. and Maine championship tournament at Saint John.

OUTFIELD JOBS ARE BIG PROBLEM FOR THE MAJORS

National Flycatchers Fail to Satisfy Bosses

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—Seven National League managers were dissatisfied with their outfielders last season. Picket lines were spotty, uncertain and poorly balanced. Reserves were not of big-league calibre. Nor did the punch an outfield is supposed to provide move up to a high degree. All this lends credence to the belief that a general shuffling of flycatchers will be one of the most interesting operations of the off-season.

Possible trades and changes involve every team in the circuit, including the Giants, who alone are more than adequately supplied with outfield talent. The problem at the Polo Grounds is what to do with Hank Leiber, the blond and burly slugger, who becomes a sulky citizen when he must warm the bench. Leiber may find a haven in Wrigley Field, Chicago, depending on whether Charley Grimm is willing to swap Smilin' Stan Hack, his young third sacker.

If Grimm does land a capable fly-chaser the chances are that Tuck Stainback will be placed on the block. The Cub pilot has grown impatient with this swift-footed outfielder, who has yet to blossom forth with all of his potentialities.

The Cardinals, still on the watch for dependable pitchers, may yield to rival demands for Pepper Martin, but such a move would sacrifice untold strength in their outfield. Last season they had only three outfielders—Martin, Joe Medwick and Terry Moore. When one was forced to the sidelines a desirable substitute could not be found and they had to experiment with one of their first basemen. This proved unsatisfactory. It is said in some quarters that the St. Louisans have their eye on the Cubs' Stainback.

Traynor Is After Berger

In Pittsburgh the belief prevails that Manager Pie Traynor has opened negotiations for a hard-hitting right-handed outfielder. Pie had a competent set of gardeners last season in the Waners and Jensen, but it was an unstabilized trio, each of them being a left-handed batter. Combined with Arky Vaughan and Gus Suhr, who also bats left-handed, the batting order lacked balance.

The player Pie is said to be seeking is Wally Berger. Wally should be ideal between Woody Jensen and Paul Waner. He is one of the most prolific run producers in the league and, more important, bats and throws right-handed. With this in mind Traynor is prepared to ship Lloyd Waner, Tommy Padden and about $15,000 in cash for Berger.

The outfield problem in Cincinnati is a serious one for a team that has aspirations of breaking into the first division next season. Ival Goodman, a .290 hitter, alone is expected to show any improvement. Kiki Cuyler was the most consistent batter on the team in the past campaign, but he began to waver towards the end and prompted some speculation on how long his spindly legs will stand the strain. He is the oldest outfielder in either league, being 37 years old.

There are only two other Red-leg outfielders on the present roster—Babe Herman and Hubby Walker—and both have their weak points. Sammy Byrd, the former Yankee, was released outright to Rochester two weeks ago. It is hardly conceivable that Charley Dresen will open camp with four outfielders on the team. More likely he will go out into the market and buy one.

Boston's outfield last year had Hal Lee in left, Berger in center and Rookie Gene Moore in right. Of them only Moore performed as well as had been expected. Bearger, slated for Pittsburgh, seems to have outlived his usefulness with the Hub team. The might of his bat still makes him a Boston favorite, but he has acted like a player who needs a change of scenery. Lee's batting slumped abysmally last season. He may give way to either of three newcomers—Frank McGowan of Buffalo, Jim Mosolf or Debs Garms of Dallas.

BERT CONNOLLY WITH RAMBLERS ONCE AGAIN

WINNIPEG, Oct. 30—Two professional hockey teams will face their first real test of the season here tomorrow when the rebuilt New York Rangers tangle with their "farm-hands," Philadelphia Ramblers, in the first of a two-game exhibition series. Lester Patrick, manager and coach of Rangers, said he would send his complete National Hockey League squad into the contest with Herb Gardiner's International-American League outfit.

After 10 days training here, six of last year's Rambler team have gained regular berths with Rangers and five new faces have been added to the farm roster.

The first game will feature a struggle of veterans against the predominant youth of the two clubs. Probable lineup will bring Rangers' line of Cecil Dillon, Frankie Boucher and Lynn Patrick against the new Rambler line, Bobby Kirk, Clint Smith and Bryan Hextall.

Alternating trios bring Rangers' "kid line" of Mac Colville, Neil Colville and Alec Shibicky against Ramblers' veterans, Bert Connolly, formerly of Moncton Hawks, Danny Cox and Charlie Mason.

Boston Club Now One Up in Pre-Season Series at Saint John --- "Flash" Hallett Stars.

MONCTON, Oct. 29—Boston Bruins are one game up on the Montreal Maroons in the pre-season, best of seven series being played in the Maritimes, by virtue of their 1 to 0 win over the Gorman-coached crew here this evening.

A capacity crowd was in attendance to see the "Big Leaguers" in action, but the display apart from a few minutes in the final canto, failed to measure up to anything like the brand of hockey played in the Calder circuit.

Both clubs seemed to be working out and it was only on rare occasions that the players showed any fast skating and fine points of the game.

The only goal of the engagement was scored in the dying moments of the final canto when "Red" Beattie slapped home his own rebound after a passing bout with big "Flash" Hallett, who carried the wafer into Maroon territory.

Bill Cowley, former Halifax Wolverine, was one of the standout performers tonight, while Ray Gettiffe, another former "Big Four" player, also showed to advantage for Boston, while Bob Gracie, Gus Marker and Herbie Cain formed the most impressive line the Montreals tossed over the boards.

Taking the place of Alex. Connell between the pipes for the Maroons, Billy Beveridge turned in a splendid game and time after time tossed stray pucks to the corners that seemed labelled for tallies as the Bruins rode in on the smooth-haired net-janitor.

FRED PERRY SETTLING IN CALIFORNIA

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—Fred Perry, British holder of the United States tennis championship and No. 1 player of the world, is going to become a Californian for a while.

Perry returned here from Hollywood yesterday and revealed he has bought a house there and will go west again in about a week. He also took time for another denial that he had signed a contract to play professional tennis.

"I haven't the remotest idea whether I shall play professional tennis or not," he said. "Any statements along that line could be only sheer speculation, for I don't know myself what I shall do."

After winning the United States championship at Forest Hills in September, Perry had planned to visit Australia, but he gave up that trip to remain in this country with his wife, Helen Vinson, motion picture actress. This decision revived reports that he intended either to turn professional or to enter business in the United States.

MONTREAL ROYALS PLAN A GREATLY IMPROVED CLUB

MONTREAL, Oct. 30—Paul Arcand, leading defenceman in the Senior Group, is back with Verdun Maple Leafs, and Manager Arthur Therrien is telling the followers of the team to chase their worries.

"Everybody seems to think that we won't be strong this year with Brown, Med Martel, Joe Desroches, Ethier, Philbin gone," said Therrien last night. "Well, don't worry about us. We'll have plenty of fight and a good club in front of Gerard Martel."

The Leafs have Charlie Munro from Quebec Aces; Barney Pennee, Fernand Majeau, MacLean and Don Bissell for a nucleus, and a host of promising candidates.

Moderic Martel, one of the best senior group players over a period of years, has definitely gone to Canadiens, according to reports. He was out with the Canucks last night under Coach Ildege Gervais. The Canadiens have signed only two players, but look highly promising with Cam Houde, Babe Tapin, Coco Blanchard back in the ranks. Gervais has also added Howie Neville, smooth centre from Vics; Armand Raymond, McCaig and Jimmy Wilson, defenceman. Wilson is a sturdy player, tried in bitter battles in the past and a very capable performer.

Chances Look Good

Canadiens' chances look very good. Royals, the champs, are building up a powerful squad.

"We want big players," says Dave Neville, "players who can hit 'em. We have to go into Quebec and Ottawa. Big teams win in those places."

The Royals have a giant defenceman in Herman Murray, Pete Jotkus, Buster Munday, Bruce Burkart and Bill Davies. Claude Bourque seems to be settled in the Royals' nets, and it wouldn't be surprising if the lad turns out to be one of the topnotch goalers of the league. He will have plenty of protection.

Dave Campbell has a good team lined up for Victorias, more players than he knows what to do with. He has Ed Archambault for goal, and that's something. Gordy Titcombe,

NEW RULE WOULD CHANGE OFFSIDE IN ICE GAME

OTTAWA, Oct. 30—Merits of a new rule sponsored by Cecil Duncan, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, were being discussed recently. It was tried out in an exhibition game between Springfield Indians of the International-American League and Ottawa Senators of the Montreal Senior Group.

Under the new rule, a great number of off-sides would be averted. It would permit play to go after attacking players had crossed the opposing defensive zone line before the puck. These players, however, would have to stand by and not take part in the play in any manner if the puck was brought into the opposing team's defensive zone by one of their mates.

The trial was apparently successful but whether the rule would be adopted by the C.A.H.A. was not known.

from Royals, adds power to the defence. Other guardsmen are Jack Griffin, Frank Shaughnessy, jr., Jimmy McCurry and Gordon MacNeil. Campbell predicts a big year for the latter. Vics have a number of good juniors trying out for places.
