difference. None of them had ever tasted bear meat, but all sailed into it just as they would had it been roast beef or pork, and made a clean-up of the joint. In fact they liked it so well that the two hind quarters of the animal, nicely dressed, went with them to their homes in Larchmont, and I have since learned, cuts were distributed among their friends. I have followed the hunting game on the Miramichi for many years, and can recall few American sportsmen who were able to shoot untrapped bears, and never heard of any who had bear meat served for food in camp and took some of it home as a treat for their friends. I am inclined to think that these boys will long remember their first hunting trip to New Brunswick. It is only right when Americans come to the province in quest of sport that they should be given a good time.

A Good Move

"I think that Mr. Pirie is deserving of great credit for establishing a low priced license for deer and bear and I am sure that it has created good business for many of the guides that they otherwise would not have had. The new license also serves a good purpose in ridding the province of bears, which have become very plentiful and a nuisance. Not only are they killing the farmer's sheep, but I am certain they are proving very destructive to the young deer and moose. There is no reason why bear hunting by non-residents should not become a profitable and popular branch of sports. If it is properly exploited I am satisfied that many sportsmen could be prevailed upon to visit the province during the months of May and June in quest of bruin. At that time the guides have very little to do and would be glad to be employed by bear hunters."

THE SPANISH BULLS ARE PUZZLED

From early days the Spanish bulls have found life stern enough. Those who escaped the butcher's maul still found the going rough. Full of their elders preached the rule

As they their hides were sunning
"The Human Animal is cruel Beyond belief—and very, very cunning!"

The young steers sported loud in fear To hear how bulls were baited.
That bulls were tortured till the crowd's

Fierce lust for blood was sated.
With plaintive howls they chanted loud.

As they their hides were sunning,
"The Human Animal is cruel Beyond belief—and very, very cunning!"

But now a rumor makes them glad That spreads through every corral.
And bulls now gaily pass the news That men are most immoral.
"Unlike us bulls who live in peace As we our hides are sunning,
The Human Animal is cruel
Beyond belief—and very, very cunning!"

"It seems they do not fight like us To win a choice of mates, Two of their herds have fallen out Over different styles of states.
They're blowing up their dwellings While we our hides are sunning,
The Human Animal is cruel
Beyond belief—and very, very cunning!"

"They say both think their system best.
But why burn every town?
Unless to live a healthy life Like us and settle down In pastures green to chew the cud Wallowing in the mud or running.
The Human Animal is cruel

—H. M. PAINT.

AUTUMN

Autumn is a beautiful season,
For many more than just one reason.
The leaves are falling from many a tree,
It is so much like leaf-falling season to me.

But although it lasts just for a while,
You can keep note of it in many a file.
The leaves fall high from above your head, But the clouds are much higher, I dread.

The trees are dancing as they bend.
They wish that Autumn had no end.
—Vivian Hawkins, 10 years old November 4, 1936.

The writer of the above is the daughter of Mrs. C. R. Hawkins and the late Mr. Hawkins who did much to promote the movement for peace in the province.

Wilmot Young People's Society

Last evening's entertainment of the Wilmot Young People's Society was provided by the Dramatic Committee, under the capable charge of its leader, Miss Marion Coulthard. During the devotional period an interesting address was given by Miss Gertrude Parsons. The main attraction on the evening's programme, a humorous playlette, "Peggy Makes up Her Mind," was presented to the enthusiastic audience. Centering on the jumbled life of a very aristocratic family, this was a huge success. Marrying off his daughter, Peggy (Miss Hazel Dow) Henry Weston (Clinton Camp) found was a difficult problem, mainly for the chief reason that that headstrong young lady desired no chords of matrimony, but preferred more, as her father thought, to live at home and charge large bills.

In vain did her mother (Miss Dorothy Hickson) aunt Ann (Miss Muriel Ross) argue of the sillas, but 'twas of no use, and matters began to quickly happen when Peggy threatened to marry the frantic humorous family butler, Perkins (Herbert Dayton).
Secretly her father and uncle planned, and in the guise of the newly fired chauffeur secured Delbert Harvey (Lorne Groom), a young wealthy man in love with Peggy, but whom she had never met. After several merry mixups, in which is brought even Joyce, the aid (Miss Anna Dayton) the pair were finally united.

Supported by a capable cast, who entered heartily into the dramatizing of the playlette, 'twas successfully presented to the many and appreciative young people. Specialties of the evening included, "The Lady Boarder," an enjoyable monologue given by Miss Phyllis Gregory and songs rendered by Ronald Wade. Following, an entertaining recreational period was held.

Mrs. L. J. M. Simpson entertained charmingly last evening at a small bridge for Mr. and Mrs. George Dennison, who are leaving in the near future for Halifax, where they will reside. Mr. Dennison is leaving early in the week and will be followed later by Mrs. Dennison. Prizes were presented to the guests of honor.

by Rev. W. A. Burge and was witnessed by a number of relatives and friends of both the bride and groom.

The bride was attended by Miss Lillian Banks and the groom by his brother, Guy Cavanaugh. The bride looked lovely in a gown of blue crepe with hat and coat and other accessories to match. After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of the bride's parents where a reception was tendered them. The young couple will later reside in Burton.

Sea-Going Motor Vessel Loading Lumber Here For New York Port

The motor vessel Shanaham, docked here at the end of Regent street, is expected to leave Fredericton tomorrow morning for Gagetown, it was stated to The Daily Mail today by Captain Percy D. Rafuse. The vessel is being loaded here with lath and lumber by Reid Bros., of Gagetown. The loading will be completed at Gagetown by Tuesday and the vessel will take a full cargo to New York.

The motor vessel carries a crew of eight men and has made two trips to Gagetown this summer. This is Captain Rafuse's first trip to Fredericton. He said that the Shanaham is a seagoing and quite capable of going elsewhere. It has a gross tonnage of 229 tons and is owned by the Seal Island Fisheries Co., Ltd., of Yarmouth, N. S.

A number of local lumber dealers have been at the wharf inspecting the boat and it is expected that several vessels of this type will ply the Saint John River next year. Captain Raf-use said that any seagoing vessel having a twelve foot draft could travel up the river, with little difficulty except at a shallow place near the Oromocto River.

A steam oil tanker owned by the Irving Oil Co., comes to Fredericton quite often.

Couple Celebrate 60th Anniversary

MONCTON, Nov. 14.—Mr. and Mrs.
Julien J. Leger, Memramcook, will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary tomorrow. The entire family of 11 children, all living, will commemorate the day together with their parents at a special service to be held in St. Thomas' church, St. Joseph, followed by a banquet in the evening for the honored couple. Among the children are Senator A. J. Leger, Moncton, and Mrs. Aline LeBlanc, Ottawa. Mr. Leger, a former C.N.R. employee, and retired with a long service medal, was born in 1855, and is four years older than his wife. They have spent all their married life in Memramcook.

NOBEL PRIZE AWARDED TO EUGENE O'NEILL

Second American to Win Award for Literature

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 12.— Eugene O'Neill, American playwright has been awarded the 1936 Nobel prize for literature, it was announced today. The 1935 prize will not be awarded.

O'Neill has been recognized for years as America's outstanding dramatist. His playwriting career began when he wrote the "Moon of the Car-ibbees" and "Beyond the Horizon." Then followed "Emperor Jones," "Anna Christie," "Desire Under the Elms," and others, all successes.

O'Neill successfully defied convention when he wrote "Strange Interlude," requiring 5 1/2 hours to perform.
"Mourning Becomes Electra," which was produced in 1931, was another unusual production.

The outstanding recognition of the Nobel prize went to O'Neill in his 48th year. He was the second American to be honored with the Nobel prize for literature, Sinclair Lewis, novelist, having been given it in 1931.

O'Neill's personality is his writing.
He remains aloof from social contact.
His career in the world started when he was ousted from Princeton University during his freshman year for tossing a beer bottle through the window of Woodrow Wilson, then president of the institution. He went to work thereafter in a mail order house.

O'Neill married first when he was 21, was divorced, and went off to Central America looking for gold and adventure. Later he became a sailor.
After wandering about the world he obtained a job as reporter on the New London, Conn., Telegraph.

In 1914 he began writing plays and went to Harvard for a year to study dramatic writing. He made a contact with the Princeton Players which brought him fame in the 1920-21 seasons when "Emperor Jones" immediately won the widest recognition.

O'Neill married a second time in 1918, and following a divorce, again in 1929. His third wife was Carlotta Monterey, actress.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT...

During the course of the coroner's inquest into the death of Clarence E.
Mills, Fredericton electrician, last night at the police station, threads of evidence brought out should provide food for thought to those people who handle light bulbs and electrical appliances carelessly. S. C. Young, manager of the Maritime Electric Company, Ltd., when questioned as to how much electricity it takes to kill a man. He admitted that the amount varies with conditions and individuals. "An ordinary 100-watt light might just as easily take a person's life as 3,200 volts, he said. Sometimes it isn't the quantity or the force of the electricity. A situation where a person stands in a bathtub and pulls out an electric light is an extremely dangerous procedure." The moral seems to be: Be very careful handling something of which you have very little knowledge.

WORK IS DELAYED

It is understood today that there may be some delay in the starting of the work on the proposed new armoury of which a contract was issued to the New Brunswick Construction Co., a couple of days ago.

Here's Simple Way to Curb a Cold

Two Quick-Acting, Quick-Dissolving "ASPIRIN" Tablets with a Glass of Water

The modern way to curb a cold is this: Two "Aspirin" tablets the moment you feel a cold coming on. Then repeat, if necessary, according to instructions in the box.

At the same time, if you have a sore throat, crush and dissolve three "Aspirin" tablets in one-third glass of water. And gargle with this mixture twice.

The "Aspirin" you take internally will act to combat fever, cold pains and the cold itself. The gargle will act as a medicinal gargle to provide almost instant relief from rawness and pain. It is really marvelous; for it acts like a local anesthetic on the irritated membrane of your throat.

Try this way. Your doctor, we know, will endorse it. For it is quick, effective and ends the taking of strong medicines for a cold.

• "Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.
