

WHYS AND OTHERWISE

AS SEEN BY H. L. G.

An improved Sportsmen's show at the Fredericton Fair, September 12-19, will be featured again this year this column is informed. This feature has been very popular with visitors at the exhibition and it is expected that 1936 will be no exception to the rule. This branch of the show is under the capable management of the New Brunswick Fish and Game Protective Association.

The Pittsburgh Pirates have selected San Bernardino, Calif., next year for their spring training camp. The Red Sox go back to Pasadena, Calif., and the St. Louis Browns to San Antonio. With fall coming on and all this talk of spring training it makes us kinda sorry that its fall coming on instead of the spring.

Soon it will be football with F. H. S. and the University of New Brunswick squads out for workouts. Which reminds us of that annual debate on whether "Burdo" Burden will again coach the Red and Black. He always says no but "Burdo" is always out nevertheless.

Shades of the Olympics. On October 3, Jack Lovelock, Glenn Cunningham, Archie San Romani and Don Lash will be pitted against one another over the mile route at Princeton, N. J. Remember Lovelock's outstanding finish in the Olympic run?

One of the beauty spots in Virginia is the horse breeding farm left by Father Garth, and known as Ingleside farms. A son, Young Garth has carried on where his dad left off, and is making a go of it. Right now he has about 20 yearlings in training.

Remember "Tiger" Warrington of Nova Scotia? Picked at one time along with Roy Mitchell as the two brightest fighting prospects out of the Maritimes. Warrington is still on the path. On Friday night he will meet Billy Ketchel, the Leipserville, Pa., light heavyweight at Scranton, Pa., for a ten-round go. Warrington is in big demand which is due to his hard hitting—a sure fire gate attraction.

Wrestling, the game in which man coined the word "pachyderm," because of the size and ponderosity of the contestants, has all kinds of freakish exponents. There is the "strangler" "flying butt," .. hundreds of others. Now comes along "Dropkick" Murphy, junior heavyweight wrestling champion of the world. What he does, and how he does it we leave to your imagination.

A study in contrasts was afforded by the recent Fred Perry—Don Budge tennis match. Perry went through the tournament in a care-free manner, obviously enjoying himself. Budge, on the other hand, was grimly serious, showing no light moments. Perry always did that. He does not make tennis a grim thing. He enjoys himself but plays a high grade game of tennis. Budge, like many another big star, is stern-visaged, out on a power-and-glory quest.

WOMEN ENTER SPORT FIELD; HORSE OWNERS

460 Englishwomen Race Horses—Some Notable Stables Owned By Them.

LONDON, Sept. 9—In these days women certainly cannot be regarded as shy of the costly sports in Britain—such pastimes as the turf, steeple-chasing, fox hunting and yachting. While the biggest racing establishments are owned by men, there are a number of notable ones owned by women, and many of the finest performers over the fences and the hurdles are women-owned.

In the flat-racing, season last year the winners of stakes included 119 women owners of thoroughbreds, while all told there are 460 whose racing colors are registered with the Jockey Club. The Hon. Dorothy Paget, whose father is Lord Queensborough and whose mother was a New York Whitney, is as interested in National Hunt meets—steeple-chasing and hurdling—as in flat racing.

Her great steepler Golden Miller won the Grand National in 1934. Last year she was the leading woman winner on the turf, but her winnings, something exceeding $51,000, were less than what she recently paid for a yearling full-sister of Windsor Lad, winner of the Derby in 1934, which she obtained for just over $60,000. Several years ago she bought a horse Tupence, for $33,000, but he proved a failure. The racing world regarded her bad luck as one of the risks of the pastime, and that was evidently the view taken by Miss Paget, who continues to lavish money on her racing establishments.

The value of flat-racing stakes to winning owners in England and Scotland in 1935 totaled $3,500,000. But many men as well as women hardly won enough to pay for the feed and upkeep of their racing "hopes." Still, they appear to be willing to pay out to be identified with the sport of kings.

In the realm of fox hunting women have in the last year or two become masters or joint masters of a score of packs. In certain instances the jobs have been vacated by men because of the rising cost of the sport. One master who retired said it cost nearly $10,000 a day to take out one of the big packs. As 75 per cent of the members of the pony clubs in the principal hunts are girls it is freely prophesied that in another decade women will be largely in control in the hunting field.

Baseball Teams At F'ton Junction Hold Picnics

(Special to The Daily Mail)
FREDERICTON JCT., Sept. 9—The local baseball team, the Fredericton Junction Hawks, held a well-patronized picnic on their grounds here yesterday. Two ball games were played with Saint John, resulting in two victories for the invaders, 9-3 and 9-5. The batteries were, in the first game, Burgess and Trainor, for Saint John, and Tracy and G. Allen for the home team. L. Allen and A. Nason umpiring. In the evening the batteries were Armstrong and Tranor for the visitors and C. Alexander and G. Allen; Frank Hartt and L. Allen umpiring. G. Allen was, in the third inning, incapacitated by a cut in the head over the right eye by a curved ball. The same day the Tracy Women's Institute and the Geary Orange-men also held picnics.

WORLD CHAMPS AS FIGURED BY EUROPE UNION

Lou Ambers Queered Things a Bit When He Beat Canzoneri

BOSTON, Sept. 8—The International Boxing Union of Europe undoubtedly will call a meeting at an early date. Lou Ambers threw a monkey wrench into the works of that organization by wresting the lightweight crown from the classic dome of Tony Canzoneri.

It seems that about two weeks ago the dominant boxing body of Europe held what they called a Congress at Berlin, and one of the young men given recognition at that time as a world champion was Tony Canzoneri, but Tony evidently didn't think of that when he met Ambers, for the Herkimer glove man lifted his crown and as a result the Internationale will be put to the trouble of calling another Congress to repair the works.

The other world champions of the Internationale are:
Flyweight—Val Angelmann, France.
Bantam—Bal Sangchili, Spain.
Welter—Barney Ross, U. S. A.
Middle—Marcel Thil, France.
Heavy—Winner of the Braddock-Schmeling bout.

According to their way of figuring George Godfrey, the big colored boy was champion up to the time of the Congress. Then they gave George the hook. He won the Internationale world title by defeating Pierre Charles in Belgium some time ago.

Short For His Dues
Then Godfrey failed to pay his dues or a fine that was imposed on him, and forthwith they pulled the chair from under him, tossed his headgear into the discard, and there it is, rusting or resting.

And all this was done without interrogating Godfrey as to whether or not he had the currency called for to pay his dues or fine.

George isn't a young man who stores his "dough" for any length of time.

Folks who know him well say he likes to exercise with the spotted cubes when he has the necessary to back up his rolls.

And from what the writer has observed on the few brief occasions that I have contacted George I don't believe the loss of George's crown will worry him much.

It doesn't look now as if there will be much professional boxing in this city before December. The dearth of talent is one reason and another is the numerous attractions that are in the offing.

There is plenty of wrestling, however, football, hockey, horse racing, a rodeo, and an ice carnival or two that will hold the attention of the multitude.

"Walter, these are very small oysters."
"Yes, sir."
"And they don't appear to be very fresh."
"Then it's lucky they're small, ain't it, sir."

St. Croix Meets Saint John Maroons Today in N. B. Finals—Gateways and Fence-Busters Clash in Nova Scotia

SAINT JOHN, Sept. 9—Rained out yesterday the opening game of the New Brunswick senior baseball finals between St. Croix Club of St. Stephen and Saint John Maroons is scheduled this afternoon for Shamrock Park, weather permitting. The game will get under way at the same time as slated for yesterday—5.30 p.m.

It was announced last night by the management of the Maroons, that there was a strong possibility that the veteran Ira Hannah, who has already beaten St. Croix this season, would take the mound, against the border nine in the first game.

This change would give the Maroons strength in their hitting department, as Damery would retain his outfield post in right.

It was also pointed out that Maurice (Binks) O'Leary, peppery shortstop, who has been out of the game for several weeks, due to an injury received, may possibly be back at his former post.

If the weather man is kind the St. Croix and Maroons will line up this afternoon with the border nine, due to topping New Brunswick clubs in the baseball wars last season, only slight favorites.

May Pitch "Lefty"

It was hinted last night that in an endeavor to take the opener the St. Croix team might send their ace hurler, Cecil (Lefty) Brownell, bespectacled southpaw, to the mound. Another report from the border said that the club would stick to its original choice with the youthful Ken Kalenberg the selection to stop the Maroons, if possible.

N. S. Champs

YARMOUTH, N. S., Sept. 9—Behind the good right arm of big Nat Bain the Yarmouth Gateways, Maritime senior baseball champions, blasted the Liverpool Larrupers out of the Nova Scotia playdowns today by

TENNIS DOUBLES CHAMP

S. Page and R. Peterson of Marysville defeated Sid Bartlett and J. Kilburn for the men's doubles championship of York county in week-end play on the Lansdowne courts. The scores were 8-6, 7-6, 7-9 and 6-4. In the ladies' doubles Miss Y. Cormier and Miss M. Crockett defaulted to Miss Helen Spike and Miss D. Rowan, because of Miss Crockett having been called out of the city and not able to complete the finals. The junior singles finals remain to be played in this year's York county tennis championships.

handing them a 9-0 defeat in the deciding game of the semi-finals here. The Gateways will now meet Springhill Fence-Busters in the best of a five-game series for the N. S. title.

Today's game lacked the tension and uncertainty that featured the other game played in the semi-final series. Keyed up and probably a little unnerved by the prospect of eliminating the champions the Liverpool machine went to pieces in the opening inning and only occasionally showed traces of the fine form they displayed in the other fixtures.

BUDGE TIRED, BUT THREAT TO FRED PERRY

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept. 8—Don Budge, the youngster Americans are counting on to beat England's Fred Perry and keep the United States tennis title in its native heath, showed signs of staleness today from months of uninterrupted campaigning, as he won the hard way from a second-rate opponent.

As the lanky California red-head took the measure of Gene Smith of Berkeley, Cal., it seemed Budge will have to snap out of it to reach the final and ultimately what is expected to be a championship matchless with the peerless Briton. The scores of Budge's victory were 6-3, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

The last Canadian challenge was squelched during the stifling hot day. Jean Burritt, Toronto court queen, was beaten in a third round match by Helen Pederson of Stamford, Conn. The American girl's shots were too peppery for the Canadian veteran and she won 6-1, 6-2.
