EDUCATION FOR THE FRONTIER WORKER DOMINION WIDE IN SCOPE

Horace M. Block Tells
The Daily Mail
of Program

Box Car as School

Aims and Objects Explained—Men Are Anxious to Learn

(Exclusive interview with labor teacher)

By Ernest B. VanDine
Horace M. Block, a senior at the University of New Brunswick and co-editor of the Brunswickian, has returned home after spending the summer as "Frontier College Instructor" on the northern division of the C. P. R. Mr. Block in an exclusive interview with The Daily Mail told some very interesting facts about this educational movement that is national in its scope and rapidly becoming an institution among the "pick-and-shovel-workers" of the Dominion.

The idea was started as far back as 1900 in the western provinces and at first depended on public subscription as a means of support. At the present time it is being backed by the large enterprises that are today developing the natural resources of Canada.

The instructors chosen for this work are picked from third year university men and the plan aims at having these students among the workmen during the day, working with them at their various tasks and teaching them at nights. These students enter hydro, lumber and mining camps; they become members of extra gangs on the railroads and in fact go anywhere and do the things that the rough and rugged workmen are today doing in the backwoods and frontiers of the country.

Objects of Plan
As Mr. Block stated, "the four objects that the university student has in mind when he becomes a member of one of these gangs, are: first, sharing in the day's work; second, instructing the English speaking workman; third, teaching our foreign-born laborers and fourth shaping the campmen for healthy Canadian citizenship."

This year, stated our local instructor, there were more labor teachers across Canada than ever before. A total of 153 were among the workmen engaged in this task of bringing enlightenment to the minds of those who are responsible for developing this great country of ours. The division by provinces is as follows: British Columbia, 28; Saskatchewan, 11; Ontario, 53; Manitoba, 12; Alberta, 24; Quebec, 13; Nova Scotia, 7, and from our own province—New Brunswick there were 10. Five of the ten were from Mt. Allison University, one was a New Brunswicker at present attending an Upper Canadian College and the other four were from the University of New Brunswick. SMALL DOCKET FOR SEPT. TERM APPEAL COURT

Judgment in Appeal of Bannister Case
On Tuesday

Three Cases Docketed
Fraser Companies, Ltd.
Defendant in One Action

The September session of the New Brunswick Supreme Court, Appellate Division, will be held on Tuesday of next week, the only three cases on the docket. It is one of the smallest dockets in the history of the court.

It is probable that judgment in the appeal of Daniel Robert Bannister from conviction for the murder of Philip Lake at Pacific Junction, for which he was sentenced to hang, will be handed down at that time. Bannister had been granted a new trial by the Appeal Court at his first appeal but had been re-sentenced to hang by the Westmorland county court. A second appeal was heard by the Supreme court late last month at a special session.

The first case of the new docket is that of Adelaide A. Lodge vs. The City of Moncton in which James Friel K.C. for the plaintiff will move for an order granting her special leave and liberty to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada from a judgment of the N. B. Supreme Court at the June session and the rule or decree whereby the appeal of defendant (appellant) was allowed and judgment entered for defendant with cost. This case is on the motion paper.

The other two cases are from the King's Bench division. In Eva Collin (Continued on Page Five)

Major F. A. Good, and Son Returned From Extended Trip

Major F. A. Good, and his son, Captain Alvah Good, district scout commissioner have returned from an extended trip to the Old Country, where they were present at the Vimy Pilgrimage ceremony. Following the unveiling ceremony, Major Good and Captain Good spent some time in travelling through the British Isles. Captain Good also took the Rover Scout Leaders course at Gilwell Park Chingford, Essex. Following this Captain Good enjoyed a Cook's tour which covered points in England and Scotland, and he also took in a sight-seeing inspection trip of many other points of interest. Seaking with The Daily Mail this morning, Captain Good stated that the trip had been very enjoyable. His impressions of conditions in England were that there was too much "sabre-rattling" so to speak. The impression to the traveller seemed to be that the masses were war conscious in the extreme. The thing uppermost in the minds of many people seemed to be as to the elaborate preparations that other people were making in case. The snowball of war news kept rolling and increasing until it was hardly recognizable.

Humorously Captain Good tells of his trip over and of the many fine meals which he enjoyed and of the (Continued on Page Five)
