CITY COUNCIL IN BUSY SESSION AT NOVEMBER COMMITTEE MEET

Considered Relief, Beatty Property Transfer,
Proposed Banquet for Big League Ball Players,
Drainage at Rear of Town, and Other Matters.

The Fredericton city council at its November committee meeting last night considered a number of matters including the hearing of a delegation from the Board of Trade, asking for a further grant of $300, hearing of C. L. Dougherty who appeared on behalf of the civil servants here asking for uniformity in taxation, the matters of sponsoring a travelogue of New Brunswick, relief matters in the city, a suggested banquet of the visiting big league ball players by the city of Fredericton, and discussion on the Beatty property on Needham street, as well as other matters.

A delegation from the Board of Trade with President S. S. Miller as the chief speaker, appeared. The Board asked for a further grant of $300 from the city. The activities of the Tourist committee, and materials used in the new tourist bureau were told of and expense entailed by the President. There were overexpenditures during the year, which had been necessary ones. Several bills for accountments were included in the expense. Roughly the cost of the tourist building was $2,500. It will require a further sum of -300 to carry on the work for the rest of the year. The Board's October accounts showed a deficit. President Miller read a statement of receipts and expenditures for the year.

Ald. F. S. Mundle presented a report of the Municipal Home committee which showed a relatively small number on relief. Presenting his report he said that "we do not expect any serious time this winter." The report showed total expenditure for October, 1936, to be $408.32, while in October, 1935, the total expense was $198.03.

Mayor Kitchen reported that there had been complaint that the elm trees of the city were being infected by insects. At the present time this is a serious matter. The suggestion was made that the trees be strapped. Ald. Dr. B. R. Ross moved that the matter be referred to the Roads and Streets committee with power to act, which was seconded by Ald. Crewdson. The work will be done this month.

Regarding the matters of the suggested travelogue of New Brunswick, which is a plan to have New Brunswick's natural attractions shown in movie "shorts" through Canada and the United States, the matter was referred to the Industrial committee with power to act. Ald. Ray Forbes said he "questioned the value of it." The city makes some contribution to have pictures "shot" in this locality.

Applications for electric signs were received from the following places of business in the city: A. Erb, S. N. Keetch, Gordon Saunders, D. A. Ferries, C. H. Burt, J. E. Searles, A. T. Sweed, Kitchen Brothers and J. E. Cook.

Mayor Kitchen brought to the attention of the council a meeting of Auto Safety Council which meets in Ottawa on November 24, 25 and 26. On motion of Ald. Forbes the matter was left in the hands of the Mayor.

Ald. Forbes declared there were more reports of dogs running at large again and he asked that steps be taken to curb it before it got out of hand again.

City Engineer MacKay brought up the matter of a drain condition at the rear of the city in the C.P.R. right of way. "All parts of the back drain are in good condition save this drain in the C.P.R. right of way," he said, "which is not efficient." He said that the railroad refused to widen out a place which might aid in case of flood. The C.P.R. might buy a right of way and cut a drain he suggested, and it would be to their own advantage. Ald. Ross suggested that the city make the C.P.R. responsible in case of flood damage unless they took steps to look after the matter.

A motion was passed that the city solicitor, P. J. Hughes, K.C., be instructed to look into the matter and see if the railway can be held responsible for any negligence in the matter in case of a flood or damage.

Entertain Ball Players

Ald. David McCaughey believed it would be of advantage to the city to entertain the several big league ball players who are at present hunting moose in the province. It would prove good advertising for the city. The expense would be slight, thought Ald. McCaughey. On motion Ald. Raymond Crewdson, chairman of the Contingencies committee was named to look after the matter. Ald. Ivan McKnight dissented saying "it should be done by private subscription as the city has no money to spend."

Re Beatty Property

Ald. Dr. B. R. Ross broached the matter of the Beatty property on Needham street. "When it was sold for taxes, why didn't the city bid it in?" Ald. Ross wanted to know. The city wanted control of this property and when they had the money why didn't they bid it in, he asked. He wished to know if it was bid in for the heirs. The council couldn't find a suitable answer. Ald. Ross wondered that the city after having a clear title to bid in the property turned and paid two or three times as much to get it back again. Ald. Doohan concurred, saying that the council let the matter outside "grab a bargain." The Beatty property was sold for taxes for about $700, the council learned.

Ald. Ross said "if the city allowed it to go at that low figure after intending to expropriate it, he couldn't understand it."

Mayor Kitchen referred to the recent transfer of the Maritime Electric Company plants to the Royal Securities, in which the transfer figure was $900,000. The council suggested there must be watered stock somewhere and some investigation should be made of the whole procedure.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

The Patrol Leaders' Training Course which commenced Monday evening, November 2, promises big things in attendance and the enthusiasm with which it is being expected. About 40 patrol leaders of this neighborhood attended. Provincial Field Worker Pugh, accompanied by District Scout Commissioner Good and Troop Leader Teddy Fraser of the Nashwaak Bridge Community Troop, visited Loggieville where a very promising troop is being organized under Scoutmaster D. E. Watling and Assistant Scout Master Parker Manderson. It being Halloween, night of the witches' holiday broomstick ride, many scattered broomsticks were met along the highway between Renou and Newcastle, which were removed as a good turn.

Returning about noon a further collection of highway menaces were removed, bringing the total to the number of 13. One of these was a very large culvert with 5 log supports braced up to barricade 3-4 of the roadway. This required the combined efforts of the party of three to clear from the road. It seems obvious that the Scout movement must be sadly needed here, since no scout would think of doing such a thing, whose consequences might have been a serious wreck with possible fatal outcome.

In Durham the Nashwaak Village-Durham Community Troop was found to have been conducting excellent activities under Scout Master W. A. Sansom. A very fine feature of their training is week-end hiking. One of the lads has written the following account of a recent enjoyable trip:

"Saturday, October 10th, 1936.

Today some of the Boy Scouts of Durham Bridge met at Mr. Sansom's as arranged at the meeting Tuesday night. There were eight scouts and around half-past one they started on their walk out to the Kentville fields.

"They went up hill, through a pasture and across a brook to the old Kentville road. After resting they went out the road and, after a while they came to an old orchard where a camp had been made.

"There was a car there and a few men were working around a fire and two men staying in the car.

"We saw a large deer on a tree, and, as we went by, two men followed us for a way out the road.

"When we came to a clearing we turned to the right and, after a short walk into the woods, we built camp. Our chief showed the scouts how to build a lean-to cabin and how to make a bed out of fir boughs. He also showed us how to make a fire with a reflector and how to spot trails through the woods.

"Then we ate our lunch and it started raining so we started home in the rain. We followed a muddy road slipping and falling on our way until we came out to the main highway. Then we separated and went home."

NEVER SAFE AT HOME

"Johnny is safe at home," is no longer a truism, because nearly one-third of all accidental deaths occur at home. Home accident fatalities are exceeded only by accidental deaths from motor vehicle operation.

In view of the fact that many household injuries occur just before winter when homes are being prepared for the more severe weather, the Health League of Canada today urged Canadians to exercise forethought and care.

Nearly half of all home injuries result from falls, the majority of which occur on steps or ladders. Stairs, safe stair-ladders and properly illuminated stairways, kept free of toys, brooms, soap and other household articles, will largely remove this cause of home accident.

Burns and scalds constitute about one-fourth of all injuries received in the home. Almost 50 per cent involve children under 15 years of age. Matches in the hands of young children present a hazard often neglected. The use of metal boxes, placed out of children's reach, largely remove this hazard.

Makeshift repairs of gas pipes, hose and fixtures often result seriously. Proper installation and maintenance by employees of distributing companies is essential for safety.

Care in handling and storage of poisonous materials cannot be emphasized too strongly. In some cases, children have mistaken lye for sugar and eaten it; while in others, children have drunk poisonous solutions which resembled soda water.

Numerous injuries occur in homes through carelessness in handling tools, cutlery and other articles having sharp or jagged edges. Many of these injuries affect children who disregard or do not know the dangerous nature of these objects. Small scissors, with blunt ends are considered far safer for the use of children than those with long pointed blades. Bottles, sharp knives and pointed tools should be kept away from children.

In the majority of cases, periodical inspections and prompt repair or replacement of worn electrical cords, broken fixtures or defective labor-saving devices, eliminate the more common electrical hazards in the home.

MEASLES NOT
"NOTHING" SAYS AUTHORITY

Wrong Attitude on This Point is Taken By Many Parents

"Oh, it's nothing—it's just measles," many a parent says when their child contracts measles.

That is a wrong attitude. Measles is a dangerous and very contagious disease. Particularly when a patient is recovering from measles is a danger time, because of the child's weakened condition. The after-effects are often very serious.

Unless you give the child with measles good care, he may develop pneumonia and other diseases. The kidneys may develop chronic disease in later life. The ears often become inflamed, which sometimes results in loss of hearing.

The first sign of measles are sneezing, running at the nose and a slight cough. The eyes look red and watery and the light hurts them.

It is during this early period that others are most liable to catch the disease. The child may appear to have only a cold. But the mother who sends her child to school or allows it to play in the street at this time, is helping to spread the disease to other children.

In the beginning there is little fever. In a day or two the skin becomes very hot, the tongue becomes covered by a furry coating and the throat grows very red. About the fourth day red spots begin to appear on the forehead and face and soon spread down over the entire body. The spots collect in large red blotches and itch.

What to do? Keep the child away from other children and put it to bed. Call a doctor without delay. Keep the light out of the child's eyes. Keep the child's eyes, ears, mouth and nostrils perfectly clean.

As soon as the rash fades, the skin will begin to peel. This peeling may last from several days to a few weeks. When the skin begins to peel, oil the body or bathe the patient in warm water.

As many children die from measles as from scarlet fever, so do not think the disease is a harmless, children's ailment.

It is not necessary for your children to have measles, if you keep them away from children who have the disease.

ren have drunk poisonous solutions which resembled soda water.
