

GENTLE ART OF 'RIDING GOAT' HAS SLUMPED SINCE 90S

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The none-too-gentle art of hazing, of thinking up new ways to make life miserable for the lodge joiner or new fraternity brother, seems to have suffered a decline.

At least that's the opinion at the United States patent office, where officials said that the number of inventions designed for the discomfort of the neophyte has slumped terrifically in recent years.

Back in the '90's and during the early years of the 20th century some one was patenting a new device every month.

J. Anthony Gorman of Memphis, Tenn., really started things in 1893 with a portable apparatus which produced upon command a series of phantoms, including a grinning ghost and sneering devil.

The lights were turned down and the joiner was pushed into the machine. If he neither fainted nor screamed the brothers decided he could take it.

In 1894 Percy J. Hindmark of Maryville, Kas., came along with his mechanical goat. Mounted on three wheels it bucked and lurched as the candidate was wheeled about the initiation room.

Then the brothers E. and U. Demoulin came through with an apparatus to prove the candidate's strength. Told to lift two books from the floor, the victim grabbed them and pulled.

He thereby set in motion enough machinery to spank him, shock him and squirt ink into his face. This was the rage for years and was constantly improved upon.

Excepting a few new wrinkles in the collapsible chair and a couple of minor changes in the goat, nothing much has happened in the last 10 years.

W. INDIES PEOPLE ARE INTERESTED IN CANADA

(Special to The Daily Mail)
MONCTON, Nov. 3.—"One of the most delightful of holiday trips," was the comment of D. A. MacNeill, superintendent, Canadian National Telegraphs, Moncton, on his return to the city after covering approximately 7,500 miles on a vagabond cruise from Montreal to the British West Indies and British Guiana by the passenger-carrying freighter "Colborne," of the Canadian National Steamships, Captain John Hubley, Master. "We left Montreal on September 17th," Mr. MacNeill said, "and in the course of our cruise called at Halifax, Bermuda, Puerto Rico, Guadeloupe, Martinique, Barbados, St. Vincent, Trinidad and Georgetown, British Guiana. On our return we sailed direct from Barbados to Charlottetown, P.E.I., 2,068 miles, and from there continued on to Quebec and Montreal.

"To a visitor from the North what strikes one is the diversity of native life, the banana plantations, grape fruit and orange groves in Trinidad, also the pitch lake on that island, and the scenic beauty of all the islands. Another interesting phase of the cruise was the method of loading and unloading ships, in some cases lighters being used to transport cargo to and from the islands. At Barbados it was quite a sight to see natives rowing a lighter containing puncheons of molasses out to the ship." At Martinique, Mr. MacNeill visited Empress Josephine's monument, Napoleon's first wife, of which island he was a native.

"The islands gave every indication of rising prosperity," Mr. MacNeill continued, "and trade appeared to be good. There is a great interest in Canada. Where ever we visited the people expressed a desire to see Canada. There is a good demand for Canadian goods which is fostered by the efficient direct service provided by the 'Lady' liners and freighters of the Canadian National Steamships."

SOME DISCREPANCY

Ald. Ivan McKnight in the course of discussion last night on what civil servants should be taxed hazarded the remark that there was a lot of "real estate here assessed at twice its value." Mayor Kitchen asked Ald. McKnight to explain his remark and the alderman said again that property "is being assessed at twice its market value." Ald. Raymond Crawford declared that there was property also that was being assessed at much less than its value. The council seemed to be in general agreement that there was discrepancy both ways in the matter of property assessment.

Local R.N. Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Local Chapter of the New Brunswick Association of Registered Nurses was held last evening in the Nurses Home of Victoria Public Hospital. Routine business took place after which the Nurses listened to a splendid address by Dr. G. C. VanWart, the subject being "Educational Requirements of a Student Nurse." He dealt with nursing and hospital conditions as observed in the East and Far East, Australia, New Zealand, China, Japan, etc. Also suggested an ideal course of training for nurses which would give a University Degree of Bachelor of Science in Nursing as well as a diploma from a Standardized Hospital. The time to be spent in this course of study would be five years.

Since Dr. VanWart has lectured continuously for over forty years and gave the first lecture in the Training School of Victoria Public Hospital, the President, Miss E. C. Brown, on behalf of the graduates who are living in various parts of United States and Canada, presented Dr. VanWart, in appreciation of what he has done during these years, with a diamond stick pin and cuff links. Dr. VanWart being much surprised, made a suitable reply. Refreshments were served following an informal chat.

The Brunswick Street Baptist Young People's Union held a masquerade party last evening, at which about one hundred were present. Games and music were enjoyed and the young people were masked and enjoyed a splendid evening. The Young People of the George Street Baptist church were guests of the Brunswick Street church young people.

The chair was won by Miss Helen Morrison with ticket No. 202. A report was also presented by the committee in charge of the supper served by the Chapter at the dance held by the Officers Mess Oct. 30th, at the Armories. A very interesting letter was read from Miss Nan Estabrook, Home Branch Land Settlement Branch Dept. of Immigration and Colonization telling of her work among the returned men, their families and British settlers during the past year. The minutes of last provincial executive meeting were read and discussed. The Chapter decided to sew on layettes from now until Christmas when they will be given needy families. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Harmon, Mrs. Cooper and Miss Ethel Anderson.

Governor Carleton, I.O.D.E. Meeting

A most interesting meeting of Governor Carleton Chapter I.O.D.E. was held last evening at the home of Mrs. C. C. Camp, York street. The entire evening was taken up with the reading of the minutes of the semi-annual meeting, held in Sackville in October, and their discussion. The Endowment Fund received due attention, ten per cent of our net earnings were voted to this fund as well as $2 for the Christmas Stocking, an entertainment, the proceeds of which will go to this fund, was also considered. In the endeavour to finish the Susie Sarahje Memorial $15 was voted for the school in Poona, India. The work of the Seamen's Mission was discussed, and $5 voted toward it. Miss Estabrook's report of Land Settlement and Colonization was read and heartily endorsed. Twenty-five I.O. D.E. calendars are to be given to the schools, and a number are for sale. If possible to arrange, a special Empire Study class is to be held separate from the regular business meeting. There are to be 18 pictures of King Edward VIII Coronation filmed. The Chapter feels it very desirable that the Canadian people in general shall have an opportunity of seeing these. No charitable work is to be undertaken until the aims and objects of the order have been considered. $16 was voted toward the Catherine E. Black Memorial Fund. The Regent expressed our deep regret at the loss of a sincere friend of the Chapter in the passing of R. D. Hanson. The scrap book and press clippings were carefully explained.

GO NORTH IS CRERAR'S ADVICE TO YOUNG MEN

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—Young men who are puzzled about landing a job which will ensure them a living might do worse than look into the possibilities of the Canadian mining industry. When he returned the other day from an inspection trip in the course of which he visited a score of mining communities between Ottawa and Vancouver, Hon. Thomas A. Crerar said he was impressed with the potentialities of Canadian mining.

A newspaperman with two sons who must shortly decide about their life work queried him about openings in the mining business. The Minister of Mines replied that he was reluctant to offer advice or preach to young Canadians, but he thought there was a promising field for healthy young men who are not afraid to work in some of the rapidly developing communities of the Northern frontier.

In the course of his travels Mr. Crerar had run across a dozen or more mine managers who had come up from the ranks, some of whom had started as "muckers" in the bowels of the earth. He cited the case of one young man who had earned enough as a "mucker" to put himself through college, after which he returned to the same mine as the manager. There was the case also of a mining town of several thousand inhabitants in North-western Ontario which has not throughout the whole period of the depression had one solitary application for relief.

And the openings in the thriving young mining towns are not confined to the industry itself. One hears of a newspaperman who started a paper on a shoestring and had his entire plant paid for in two years. Young married couples have gone into the North and engaged successfully in business of various kinds. There are in Northern Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia mining towns which know nothing of the depression. So to the young man seeking adventure and opportunity worse advice might be tendered than "Go North, young man."

Canadian radio broadcasting is to be vastly extended under the new regime. One of the major changes that the new management contemplates will put Canada on the short-wave dial of the world.

IN CANADA

(Rondeau)
In Canada we saw anew
Great mountains glistening with dew;
Heard meadowlarks; saw wild geese fly;

A partridge flushed as we passed by
We hailed the guide in his canoe;
Saw bunting's gleaming azure blue;
We heard the catbird's plaintive mew;
And saw an eagle, heard him cry,
In Canada.

Where silver-misted valleys knew
The faintest tints of rainbow-hue,
Where maples towered to the sky,
We thrilled to rivers, stars on high,
And every sunset, moonlit view
In Canada.
