SWAT THE FLY CAMPAIGN

TORONTO, Sept. 16—"Swat the fly —and save our babies!"

With that slogan the Health League of Canada today fired its first gun in the annual autumn war against one of Canada's most dangerous household pests—the fly.

Declaring that the disease germs collected in the wanderings of the house fly and transported to the food and person of its victims constituted one of the greatest sources of danger to the health of Canadian babies, Dr.
Gordon Bates, general director, urged Canadians everywhere to start swatting the autumn flies early.

Contamination of food by flies can and must be prevented the health director declared, pointing out that flies will carry on their feet, legs and body, and in the alimentary canal, the specific germs causing typhoid fever, cholera, infantile diarrhoea, tuberculosis and other diseases.

Sharp rise in the incidence of intestinal trouble among babies in September and October may be attributed, in part at least, to the increased number of flies that gain access to homes at this season, Dr. Bates said.
He commended the efforts being made by health officers throughout Canada in abolishing manure heaps and garbage dumps, natural breeding places for the flies.

Floors and table tops should be kept entirely free from moisture and crumbs of food, officials of the health organization asserted. They pointed out that modern office buildings are comparatively free of flies because there is neither dirt nor food to attract them.

Housewives who empty their dirty dish water into the backyard were chastized by the Health League of Canada officials who said that such practice was "unsanitary and filthy." Household refuse should be placed in a covered metal container, it was further urged. Babies carriages should be covered with netting. The screen doors should not be removed until the first frost has killed off the autumn flies.

It has been established that a paid of flies, if not interfered with, will cause 1,555,200,000 adult flies to be brought into the world from May 1 to August 1. Half of these will be female flies, capable of laying 120 eggs each.

"That's the reason why householders should start their autumn fly-killing campaign early," Dr. Bates said today. He said that flies were a menace to public health, owing to their habit of passing directly from filth to human food, carrying bacteria and other organisms and particles of decomposing matter on their hairy legs, body, sticky feet and mouthparts.

Public health departments all over Canada were commended for their careful supervision of restaurants, and the continued efforts being made to keep these eating-places clean.

Fifty percent of the flies could be wiped out, and infant sickness could be reduced fifty percent if housewives would take a determined stand to "Swat the fly—and save our babies," statement of the Health League of Canada concludes.

SOMETHING NEW
IN THE VELVET

A new kind of velvet dress is in the cards for formal daytime wear.
The velvet is rayon backed and more like the Lyons velvets that are the favorite in Paris, this season, than the transparent velvet you wore last year.

The dresses are luxuriant, but very discreetly trimmed, and more wearable than ever. Shiny braid on the slanting mock pockets and the short sleeves and an ascot brighten a two-piece frock with a peplum, and watch those peplums parade from now on.
It has a swing skirt, too, for good style measure.

There's a Lyons-type black velvet that doesn't need another thing but itself and buttons from standup collar to hem to make it a smooth frock.
Just for a change, it has long sleeves, puffing up at the shoulder. A black velvet tunic dress surprises you by placing its trick rhinestone buttons down the back, and that's all there is to it except tempting little trills round the high neck and above the elbow.

Old-fashioned touches that look very new on another black velvet are crisp, little lace collar with a prim bow, pointed lace cuffs on short, puff sleeves and a pair of lace pockets on the skirt. Shiny jet buttons, old and new in favor, fasten the bodice.

MORE CANADIAN PRODUCTS BEING
SOLD IN HOLLAND

Holland is buying more from Canada and Canada is also buying more goods from Holland. Figures for the first half of this year show 89.09 per cent increase in exports of goods from Canada over the same period last year, due almost entirely to greater purchases of Canadian wheat although a number of other products are included, according to the Industrial Department of the Canadian National Railways. Value increased 82.09 per cent, total value approximately $4,755,669. Imports from Holland into Canada show an increase of 58.69 per cent in volume and 15.02 per cent in value.

RAILWAYS OF SOUTH AFRICA HAVE SURPLUS OF $18,125,775

Railways in South Africa continue to reflect the wave of prosperity which has spread over that part of the Empire. The South African railways show a gross surplus of approximately $18,125,775 for the year ending March 31, 1936. Earnings for the four weeks ending June 20, this year, aggregated approximately $11,426,900 an increase of $839,920 over the same period last year, or 7.93 per cent.

BUILT-UP HEELS

Built-up heels continue to invade the province of semi-dressy shoes for afternoon wear. Long associated with the sports and spectator sports type of footwear, many of the newest models are made in black to complement black suede pumps and trotteurs as well as the classic brown sports shoe.

Even Joseph's famous coat would have been put to shame by the multicolored heels on the new fall evening pumps. Many of the heels are covered with exquisite brocaded fabrics and shimmering bits of silver and gold.

FALL FABRICS

Fall fabrics are rich without being heavy or overpowering. Metal cloths, velvets and satins are not the least heavy; they're soft, drapery, almost transparent. "Supple" is the word for these new materials that cling to the figure. Lames are chiffon weight, jersey is becoming lighter and softer. Velvets are in deep rich tones, but the simplest of styles to enhance the beauty of the fabric itself.

HOW THE ROCKIES WERE NAMED

That great pile of snow-clad mountain peaks known as the Rockies were so known to the Indians long before the coming of the white man.
Among the Crees they were called "Assin-wati," literally "stony or rocky mountains." Legardeur St.
Pierre in his journal of 1752 translated the name into French as "Montagnes des Roches," the English equivalent of which is Rocky Mountains, and the name has stuck ever since. One of the lowest passes through this great mountain chain is the Yellowhead, engineers when building what is now the Canadian National Railways taking advantage of its easier gradients to push their steel through the mountain barrier that separates the Canadian prairies from the Pacific. The name is derived from a French-Canadian trapper and fur trader who went by the name of "Tete Jaune," or yellowhead, in view of his blond head of hair, and who occupied a post in the pass.
Nearby is Jasper National Park, one of Canada's outstanding mountain playgrounds and the largest of her national parks. Here the Canadian National Railways have built a great mountain resort, Jasper Park Lodge, to which come guests from all over the world to enjoy a mountain hot-day, with climbing, trail riding, canoeing, fishing, hunting and other holiday activities. A magnificent course provides the golfer with abundant opportunity to try his skill. One of the major golfing events in Canada is played each season over this course, the Totem Pole Tournament.
